HOOVER FINDS BORAH COOL TO NAVAL TREATY

Also Division Among Other Leaders.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 5.—[Special.]—With the Old Guard and Young Guard leaders in the senate at odds on the program for action on the navy limitation treaty, President Hoover today took a hand in the tangled situation without, however, making any definite progress.

The outstanding result of the move made by the President was his discovery that Senator William E. Borah [Rep., Idaho], chairman of the senate committee on foreign relations, is exceedingly lukewarm toward the treaty and cannot be relied upon to lead the fight for its ratification with any enthusiasm.

The President learned this in a talk with Senator Borah at the White House this afternoon. Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson participated in the conference.

Where Differences Begin.

Mr. Hoover invited Senator Borah to the conference in pursuance of representations made to him yesterday by Senators Arthur H. Vandenberg [Rep., Mich.] and Henry J. Allen [Rep., Kas.], ardent champions of Hoover's policies, who, by virtue of challenging Republican Old Guard leadership, have been dubbed the Young Turk leaders.

Two days ago Senators James E. Watson [Rep., Ind.], majority leader, and George H. Moses [Rep., N. H.], president pro tem. of the senate, who is identified with the old guard leadership, called at the White House and advised the President to permit postponement of action on the treaty till after the November elections. Whereupon Vandenberg and Allen dashed to the White House and told Mr. Hoover that if he wanted the treaty ratified before the elections it should be brought up in the present regular session, without awaiting a subsequent special session of the senate. They said the votes were available to carry out this program.

Learns Borah's Views.

The President called Senator Borah to participate in a conference which was to decide whether the Young Turks' plan to attempt ratification of the treaty in the present session should be adopted. It was the first time that the President had consulted Mr. Borah on the treaty since it was brought back from London. The senator told the President it is immaterial to him whether the treaty is acted on in the present regular session of congress or a special session of the senate. He said he felt it his duty to urge the disposition of the treaty "with all convenient dispatch" so long as the senate remains in session.

As to the course to be adopted, however, Mr. Borah said this is not his business, but that of the duly constituted senate leaders, to whom he respectfully referred the President. The senator frankly disclosed to the President his attitude toward the treaty. He will vote for it and he will make a speech in favor of it when he brings it before the senate. It will be a brief speech, however, and the senator will leave the defense of the agreement to Senators David A. Reed [Rep., Pa.] and Joseph T. Robinson [Dem., Ark.], two of the negotiators of the treaty.

Willing to Vote for It.

Mr. Borah's lack of enthusiasm for the treaty is chiefly due to his view that it provides not for naval reduction but for limitation upward to the level of the British navy. He also agrees with the 27 out of 31 admirals and other naval officers that our acceptance of fewer eight inch gun cruisers and more six inch gun ships than we need is inimical to the interests of the United States.

The Idaho senator, however, will vote for the treaty because he feels that its rejection would be more harmful than its acceptance. Particularly is he of the opinion that rejection would produce unfriendly relations with Japan, which under the agreement is to have a ten per cent increase in ratio to the American navy. Refusal to approve this might be attributed in Japan, he fears, to warlike intentions on the part of America.

Original Plan Unchanged.

Senator Watson, the majority leader, asserted today that the original plan for considering the naval treaty in special session had not been changed. The Republican caucus, it was recalled, voted to take up the treaty in special session. It was also recalled that within the week Senator Watson

JURY FIXES 20 YEAR PENALTY IN KOPELMAN CASE

Two Collapse as Verdict Is Read.

Three youthful kidnapers of Theodore Kopelman, insurance broker, were found guilty last night by a jury in Judge Harry B. Miller's Criminal court. Their punishment was fixed at twenty years each in the penitentiary. The jury decided that the defendants were guilty on the first ballot, but a compromise was necessary to decide on the punishment.

The defendants are Seymour Peller, 23 years old; Samuel Gold, 24 years old, and Norman Resnick, 23 years old.

Kopelman was kidnaped on Feb. 28 as he was on his way from his home on Surf street to his insurance office. He was held a prisoner until $4,500 in ransom was paid three days later.

No Demand for Death.

The jury was pledged to inflict the death penalty in a proper case, but Assistant State's Attorneys C. Wayland Brooks and John Holman did not make a demand for the extreme penalty in their closing addresses to the jury. The prosecutors said that they considered that a death penalty without a murder having been committed would be practically impossible to get and for that reason they did not make the demand.

Peller, who was charged by the state with being the leader in the kidnaping plot, fell on his face on the table directly in front of the judge's bench when the verdict was announced. The clerk read his verdict first.

Gold Weakens Over Verdict.

Gold, who was the next to hear his fate, pulled Peller back to a standing position, but he, too, caved in when the clerk announced that the jury had fixed the same punishment for him. He held to the table for support.

Resnick, who is the suitor of Mrs. Myrtle Thoren Kopelman, divorced wife of Kopelman, was the only one of the defendants not to show visible signs of emotion. His verdict was read last.

Judge Miller indicated that he would make short work of the motion for a new trial. He expressed himself as in accord with the verdict. Attorney George Guenther made the motion for a new trial and asked that it be continued for several weeks.

"I will set the motion for June 14," said the judge. "The jury did absolutely right and I will not upset this verdict on a question of the facts in the case. I do not believe any legal error was committed and it would be idle to put off for any length of time the disposition of this motion."

Bonds Fixed at $50,000.

The bond of each defendent was increased from $35,000 to $50,000. They are all in jail.

Mrs. Kopelman, divorced wife of the kidnap victim, who is herself under indictment for conspiracy, was not in court when the verdict was reached. She had been in court, but had left the building for dinner with some of the defense attorneys. She was a witness for the defense in an effort to discredit her husband. She charged that the prosecution was a plot against her and the defendants because she would not be reconciled to Kopelman.

"Mrs. Kopelman and Ike Sandler, the other two defendants in this case, will be tried later," announced Prosecutor Brooks.

"I am satisfied with the verdict. It vindicates me," said Kopelman. His sister, Gertrude Kopelman, owner of a Michigan avenue dress shop, whose name was linked with Nickey Arnstein during the trial, also expressed herself as satisfied. Miss Kopelman paid most of the ransom for the release of her brother, who was first held prisoner in a summer cottage at Camp Lake, Wis., and later at a west side flat.

Hoover to Get His First Presidential Salute Shell

Washington, D. C., June 5.—(AP)—The first shell fired in a presidential salute to Herbert Hoover is to be presented to him by Assistant Secretary Jahncke of the navy. When President Hoover reviewed the fleet off the Virginia capes on May 20, the Salt Lake City, the reviewing ship, led the fleet in a 21 gun salute to the chief executive—the first since he became President. Mr. Jahncke said today he had saved the shell and that the highly polished and engraved cylinder would be given to the President.

South Side Hit by Storm; Two Boys Injured

A southwest wind of hurricane force raked the village of Midlothian yesterday afternoon, slicing off the second story of a substantial brick garage, reducing two frame buildings to kindling, and strewing the main street with trees and light poles. Two small boys were injured.

The windstorm followed thunder showers which drenched the metropolitan area and, on Chicago's north side, attained the proportions of a cloudburst. Although the weather station at the University of Chicago gauged the total fall at .55 inch, the precipitation in the Lincoln park district was far greater. Within ten minutes of the first raindrops the streets were flooded from curb to curb and rain poured from house roofs in cascades.

Two Caddies Injured.

The injured at Midlothian were Joseph La Fond, 13 years old, and Peter Rudder, both living in the village and caddies at Midlothian Country club. At the first sign of rain the two sought shelter in the two story garage at 147th street and Cicero avenue, completed and opened only two weeks ago.

They had been under shelter for half an hour when a screaming wind arose in the southwest. The roof and upper story of the filling station were ripped away, the roof hurtling 150 feet through telephone wires to collapse in a field, while the brick walls disintegrated and fell in heaps around the service station.

Boys Buried in Débris.

La Fond was buried to his hips in débris, suffering a fractured leg. His companion escaped without broken limbs, but was severely bruised and incurred possible internal injuries. Within a few minutes the storm had subsided and the boys were taken to the Oak Forest infirmary.

Total damage was estimated by Midlothian police at $25,000. A tool shed on the property of Frank Penn, 14631 South Trumbull avenue, was lifted from its foundation, carried 50 feet and dropped in splinters. An uprooted tree crashed through the roof of a two story frame dwelling, the home of William Katzen at 151st street and Cicero avenue.

Power Lines Torn Down.

Telephone and power lines were flattened for three blocks along Cicero avenue from 147th to 150th street. Every tree in those blocks was uprooted.

A sedan, which John F. Gilchrist, vice president of the Commonwealth Edison company, had parked adjacent to the filling station, was showered with bricks.

The showers brought Chicago relief from a heat wave, the temperature falling from 85 degrees at 2:30 p. m. to 70 degrees at 4 o'clock. Forecaster C. A. Donnel predicted showers for early this morning, followed by fair and continued cool weather today and tomorrow.

A. L. MOHLER, EX-RAIL CHIEF, SERIOUSLY ILL

A. L. Mohler, formerly president of the Union Pacific railroad, who spent part of his early career in and around Chicago, is in St. Anthony's hospital in a critical condition, it was learned early this morning, as a result of a heart attack followed by a paralytic stroke. At his bedside is Benjamin B. Bryan Jr., whose father is senior member of the stock brokerage firm of Logan & Bryan.

Mr. Mohler, en route to northern Wisconsin on a fishing trip, arrived in Chicago a week ago, intending to board another train for his camp. It was then that he suffered the heart attack and was taken to St. Anthony's. The stroke occurred yesterday.

Mr. Mohler is one of the country's best known railroaders of the old self-made school. He retired from the Union Pacific in 1916.

Dawes 'Cuffs' U. S. Society Butterflies

BY JOHN STEELE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, June 5.—A back handed slap at American social climbers who appeal to American ambassadors for presentation at court and introductions to British society was taken by Ambassador Dawes today in a speech at Cambridge, where he received an honorary degree of law. He referred to the American gold star mothers visiting London as "representatives of the heart and soul of the American people."

"My proudest hour was when I presented these best representatives of my people to those who represented the British people and the British legion," he said.

Baldwin Gets Post.

The ceremony at Cambridge was featured by the induction of Stanley Baldwin as chancellor of the university to succeed the late Lord Balfour. Mr. Baldwin announced that Cambridge had completed the raising of $1,500,000, thus qualifying for the offered gift of $3,500,000 from the Rockefeller foundation.

"Reference has been made to the friendly relations of the two English speaking peoples," Mr. Dawes said. "It exists not because of what ambassadors may say or do. It is not because of what self-appointed spokesmen of the peoples of either country may say or do. If it were, with the generous sprinkling of nationalistic demagogues in the public life of both countries there could be no such thing as permanent good relations.

"The friendly attitude of the two English speaking peoples exists because of a blood tie and thus rests upon a foundation as immovable as the Rock of Gibraltar.

"History of British People."

"I have the honor to represent in this country the government of a people of over 120,000,000 population, of whom half are of British descent. In my country, therefore, there are at least 10,000,000 more people of British descent than live in the island of Britain itself.

"The history of this portion of my people up to 300 years ago is the history of the British people; their traditions are the traditions of the British people, and through the last 300 years as well they have preserved the British traditions of free government, of minority and individual rights, of law and order, and of liberty under the law.

"As American ambassador frequently I come into contact with certain traveled Britons and Americans, who are continual purveyors of the trivial and the irritating in international relationship. They do not seem to have sensed the inevitable consequence of an existing tie of blood upon the permanent and fundamental attitude of the two peoples.

Honors U. S. War Mothers.

"But we have recently had in London a body of American travelers representing a cross section of the American people, representing the heart and soul of the American people, representing the bone and sinew of the American people, and the proud attitude of the American people—a body of travelers not self invited, with their minds occupied by thoughts of society reporters or fashionable dressmakers, but mothers, invited by the government of the United States to make their first and last visit to the graves of their sons in France, who fell in the 27th and 30th divisions of the American army, fighting under British command by the side of their comrades of the British army.

"They brought no social introduction. The credentials which each carried were but the photograph of a son and a few withered flowers from a garden at home to lay on a grave in France. They needed no more."

Dawes' Speech Stirs Comment.

LONDON, June 6 [Friday]—(AP)—Under the caption, "Americans Who Are Not Representative," the Daily Mail today gave front page prominence to the speech of Ambassador Dawes at Cambridge, which the paper interpreted as rebuking Americans who seek social preference.

Declaring that in the United States more than in Great Britain mothers and daughters vie with mothers and daughters to be presented at the British court, the paper says.

"In view of this fact, much significance attaches to the rebuke administered by the ambassador."

BISHOP CANNON BOLTS HEARING OF LOBBY BODY

Defies Senators to Get Subpoena.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 5.—[Special.]—Bishop James Cannon Jr., southern Methodist dry leader, already in grave danger of punishment for contempt of the senate lobby committee, today aggravated his alleged offense by bolting the hearing after challenging the investigators to try to force him under subpoena to tell of his anti-Smith activities in the 1928 presidential campaign.

Said to be without precedent in senatorial inquiries, the scene was intensely dramatic as, ignoring the warning of Senator T. J. Walsh [Dem., Mont.] that he had not been excused, Cannon deliberately gathered up his hat and brief case and, forgetting to use the crutch he has carried recently, stalked out of the room.

"At My Office," He Says.

"I am at my office whenever a subpoena is issued," Cannon flung back over his shoulder at Walsh as he made for the door, apparently oblivious of the wave of laughs, cheers, hisses, and applause.

Two minutes afterward the room was still in an uproar as Senator W. E. Borah [Rep., Idaho] entered to make, with Walsh and Senator J. J. Blaine [Rep., Wis.], a quorum of the five member committee to meet the issue raised yesterday when Cannon flatly refused to testify either as to his personal political activities or disclose how he used the $65,300 fund intrusted to him for the anti-Smith fight in southern states by E. C. Jameson, New York insurance man.

Glancing at the empty witness chair, Borah smiled broadly at the still astounded Walsh and Blaine without completely understanding the situation until Walsh announced that in the absence of its chairman, Senator T. H. Caraway [Dem., Ark], the committee will not decide what if any action will be taken against Cannon until next Wednesday.

Reported on Way Back.

Caraway was not expected to return to Washington until Tuesday, but dispatches from Little Rock, Ark., disclose that, perturbed by reports of indignation over his attempt by a public statement Tuesday night to absolve Cannon of the obligation to testify, the Arkansas senator has canceled speaking engagements in the southwest and is now en route to Washington.

"If the bishop's defiance yesterday was not contempt, and I think it was, his action today is certainly a clear case of contempt," declared Walsh, whose opinion was echoed by a number of senators who, while they declined to be quoted, asserted their convictions that Walsh was justified in pursuing the inquiry opened by Caraway to today's climax.

May Ask Prosecution.

When he arrives in Washington, Caraway will find Walsh, Blaine and Borah, it was indicated today, ready to vote for a report to the senate recommending that the record of Cannon's contumacy be certified to the district attorney as the basis of contempt proceedings. Senator Arthur Robinson [Rep., Ind.], bone dry, who has refused to participate in the investigation of dry lobbies and lobbyists, will oppose any action against the bishop, it is expected.

Before a question could be put to him this morning, Cannon announced that he refused to submit to further questioning as a volunteer witness. The examination yesterday, centering around his activities in the Asheville, N. C., conference of anti-Smith Democrats in July, 1928, and the Jameson contribution convinced him, he asserted, that he is the victim of "wet and Roman Catholic elements."

"Because I consider this an effort," he said, "to single out and hold up to the country the anti-Smith Democrats, and myself in particular, as the only persons whose activities in the campaign of 1928 required investigation, and because I believe the proposed investigation to be part of the effort for many months of wet and Roman Catholic elements, and of those who worship party regularity, preventing a recurrence of the Asheville conference in 1932, I resent to the limit the implication and the purpose of this action.

Says He'll Withdraw.

"In view of these things," he continued, "I must respectfully state that, having answered all questions addressed by the committee on which I volunteered to appear as a witness, I shall now withdraw as a voluntary witness. If the committee desires to subpoena me, that is its right."

Cannon pointed out that none of the other organizations or committees engaged in the 1928 campaign, including the Smith-for-President Colored league or the Smith independent organization committee, have been investigated. Both of the organizations he mentioned have filed complete statements, which never have been questioned.

"In view of the statement," said Senator Walsh, "which you are permitted to make by the courtesy or graciousness of the committee, I feel called upon to say that the committee does not take that view of the matter at all."

"Yes," said Cannon, sarcastically.

Ready to Investigate.

"If you are aware," Walsh continued, "of any individuals or organizations who have been carrying on lobbying, and as a part of their effort toward influencing legislation before congress or the action of any administrative officers of the government, we would be very glad to have any information of that character that you can give us, and you may be assured that this committee will prosecute the inquiry to the limit.

"Of course, the remark you now make, and this that you inject into our record, we understand perfectly well is made for the purpose of defying this committee."

"It is made for the purpose of showing I am not on the stand any longer as a voluntary witness," said Cannon. "If the committee wishes to issue a subpoena——"

"You are here, bishop, and we will not discuss that, but if you care to refuse to answer——" began Walsh, who yesterday warned Cannon, having submitted to the committee's jurisdiction as a volunteer witness, he was on the stand under oath to answer questions until excused.

Cannon Prepares to Leave.

"I shall retire from the committee unless a subpoena is issued," declared Cannon, rising from his chair and stuffing a pile of papers back into his brief case.

"You may take your own course," warned Walsh quietly, "but we have not excused you, and Senator Blaine is prepared to interrogate you."

"Very well, I shall retire until I am subpoenaed," said Cannon, and, with his hat and crutch in one hand and brief case in the other, he turned and started toward the door.

"Bishop," shouted Blaine after him, "I desire to put into the records the telegrams and communications between you and Senator Caraway so that it may indicate exactly how and why you came before the committee. I want you to know——"

"O," snapped Cannon, "they are in the record now."

"I subscribe to every word my colleague, Senator Walsh, has said," Blaine continued.

Awaiting Subpoena.

"I am at my office whenever a subpoena is issued," was Cannon's last gesture of defiance.

Left without a witness, Walsh and Blaine proceeded to read into the record Cannon's correspondence showing that reprints of one of his own speeches, for which the Methodist board of temperance, prohibition, and public morals of the northern church paid $5,000, were circulated by the bishop virtually throughout the entire country as anti-Smith propaganda.

Similarly, the reports of Cannon's so-called headquarters committee, anti-Smith Democrats filed with the house clerk, failing to record the $5,000 contribution from the northern board and accounting for only $17,000 of the $65,000 contributed to Cannon's cause by Jameson, were read into the record.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

Nine civic and business organizations of the west and northwest sections of the city have indorsed the indeterminate transit franchise, according to an announcement yesterday by Ald. J. B. McDonough, chairman of the nonpartisan committee favoring the ordinance. Some of the groups pledged members to get other voters to the polls at the referendum on the ordinance, which will be held July 1. The nine organizations are:

North Town Kiwanis club.

Peterson Woods Improvement association.

Birchwood District Improvement association.

North Town Business Men's association.

Lincoln Square Commercial association.

West Rogers Park Business Men's association.

West Ridge Improvement association.

Petersen Woods and Arcadia Terrace association.

Arcadia Terrace Protective and Improvement association.

Trade Group Approves Plan.

In addition the directors of the West Town Chamber of Commerce voted the chamber's indorsement of the ordinance yesterday and decided to "conduct an intensive campaign to bring to the attention of the west siders the many advantages that will accrue to them."

The Chicago Association of Commerce also swung into action. Col. Robert Isham Randolph, president, issued an appeal for support of the ordinance. This was sent to the 8,000 members of the association and to 4,000 officers of neighborhood organizations. In his letter Col. Randolph said: "We commend it (the ordinance) to all voters as a fair and equitable solution of our transit problem."

Regarding the attacks on the ordinance, Col. Randolph said: "Wholly unwarranted criticisms are being circulated against the ordinance in the form of questions." Then his letter proceeds to answer some of the questions asked.

Says Public Is for Ordinance.

"All of these indorsements show the trend of public sentiment," commented Ald. McDonough. "The ordinance was passed by the city council 17 days ago. When the critics got going full blast this week, then the indorsements started coming in. The public wants the extensions pledged, the transfers between the elevated and surface lines and buses, and the time saving in getting from here to there."

The McDonough committee issued a pamphlet of questions and answers. One question reads: "Does the company guarantee to make the extensions?"

The answer of the nonpartisan committee is as follows:

"The company guarantees to construct all the extensions and improvements named in the ordinance within 10 years, such extensions and their appurtenances and equipment to cost $200,000,000. The company also guarantees to expend $65,000,000 of the above amount in the first three years under the direction and approval of the local transit commission.

"The guarantee is made effective by the provisions in the ordinance that in case of default in the construction program at any time the company will pay into a special fund, in the control of the city, a certain specified portion of its earnings which shall be used for the construction of the extensions and improvements required by the ordinance.

Further Guarantee Cited.

"As a further guarantee it is expressly provided that during the first three years the company agrees that all its corporate income in each year in excess of the corporate income of the elevated and the surface systems combined for the year 1929 shall be paid into a special fund, which will be used to pay for additions to plant and property, but such additions shall not be added to the capital account of the company.

"The city has the right to appeal to the courts to compel the company to observe all the ordinance provisions."

In reply to the question, "What will be the extent of the extensions?" the pamphlet gives this answer:

"There will be 300 single track miles of surface line extensions, including street car lines and bus lines, which is an increase of about 30 per cent, and approximately 110 single track miles of elevated line extensions and express tracks, including subway tracks, an increase of 56 per cent."

403 MIDSHIPMEN GET DIPLOMAS; OVER SCORE MARRY IN FEW HOURS

Annapolis, Md., June 5.—(AP)—From the hands of Secretary of the Navy Charles Francis Adams, 403 graduates of the Naval academy today received their diplomas and of these 334 were commissioned ensigns and 28 second lieutenants in the Marine corps.

More than a score within a few hours had married, going to the academy chapel and local churches for the ceremonies as soon as naval regulations permitted them to take wives. As midshipmen they were not permitted to wed.

Tomorrow on three battleships of the Atlantic fleet the midshipmen of the new second and third year classes will sail for their annual tour, this year to European waters.

"To those in whom high character is inherent will go the high offices," secretary Adams told the graduates in a short address. Rear Admiral S. S. Robison, superintendent of the academy, also spoke.

GUERNSEY TELLS WHY HE OPPOSES CAR FRANCHISE

Doubts Guarantees Will Mean Performance.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

Ald. Guy Guernsey, who opposed the adoption of the transit ordinance in the city council, issued a statement yesterday explaining his reasons. Summarized, the statement expresses doubt whether the guarantees made for the proposed consolidated company will insure that it will make good all its promises.

As a preliminary, Ald. Guernsey presents the importance of the transit subject. He says:

"No proposition has ever been put up to the voters which involved so much money, and in view of the fact that the ordinance gives the operating company the absolute right to use certain streets for bus lines, street cars, elevated railways, and subways, until such time as the city is able to buy the property at a sum ranging between $261,000,000 and $461,000,000, it is certain that the franchise is an indeterminate one."

Voters and Issues Involved.

He adds that there are large areas which are not now served satisfactorily, that property owners believe there is hope of getting needed transportation under any settlement, and that these voters are not seriously concerned with the important questions involved. Then the statement continues:

"Much stress is being laid upon several features of the ordinance which meet with general approval:

"1. The possibility of having extensions everywhere within ten years.

"2. Having a subway in the loop.

"3. Substitution of good securities for those now held by thousands of investors who up to this time have not realized a fair return.

"4. Consolidation of all of the transportation lines and the giving of universal transfers.

"5. The removing forever of the transportation question as a political issue.

"6. The provision of work for the unemployed.

"If these things were positively assured," continued Ald. Guernsey's statement, "or the ordinance contained any clause working a forfeiture of the right to use the streets forever in case of a failure to carry out the provisions which give the benefits enumerated, every voter ought to be actively in favor of the adoption of the plan."

Then Mr. Guernsey gives his view of the guarantees. He says:

"The present market for securities of this kind, in view of the disastrous experience of the past, has given rise to the argument that no settlement will be effective unless first of all it can be made to appear certain that those buying bonds issued to raise money for the extensions will be attracted by the gilt edge nature of the security; and the effort to meet this argument has gone so far as to remove from the measure practically every word that would bind the company to perform its part of the contract, as will appear to any casual reader of the ordinance."

The alderman says there are a "number of outstanding departures" from the 1907 ordinance and comments upon them adversely. Among them he cites the following:

The new ordinance in eliminating car license fees and relieving the company of the cost of street cleaning "will deplete the city corporate fund $700,000 or $800,000 a year."

Under the present surface lines ordinance the city gets 55 per cent of the net receipts, while under the proposed franchise it will receive 3 per cent of the gross income. Ald. Guernsey points out that this 3 per cent is junior to a return on 75 per cent of the capitalization, and with the increased capitalization he observes that "the earnings will not be sufficient to net the city anything with certainty."

Harlan Addresses Lions' Club.

Attorney John Maynard Harlan addressed the Logan Square Lions' club in opposition to the proposed franchise. He declared there is no fixed obligation on the part of the new company to provide any extensions. This, he said, applies not only to the $200,000,00 worth of improvements promised in the first ten years but also to the $65,000,000 expenditure pledged in the first three years. He said that the company is first obligated to raise the money for the extensions.

"If it fails to raise the money, then there is no default on the part of the company," said Mr. Harlan. "If there is no default, then there can be no denial of return on all of the common stock. The guarantee will therefore fail in such an event."

PILOT SAVES 12 AS PLANE FALLS INTO BOSTON BAY

Boston, Mass., June 5.—[Special.]—Failure of one of three motors on the plane Nacomis NC 9675 of the Colonial Air Transport taking off this afternoon from the airport at East Boston for New York with 13 passengers caused it to crash in the shallow water at low tide off the breakwater at East Boston. Although several passengers were injured, only one, Pearl S. Thorsen, South Boston and New York business man, died.

The crash of the plane was witnessed by several hundred field workers and persons awaiting passage on a following plane, and before the water closed in around the partly submerged plane rescuers were on their way to aid the imprisoned passengers.

Police and fire department rescue apparatus, ambulances from the East Boston Relief hospital, the army quarters at the airport, coast guard, and speed boats sped to the scene.

O'Ryan Praises Pilot.

Tonight those who narrowly escaped death, company officers, and witnesses declared it was Pilot Owen O'Connor's skillful manipulation of the crippled plane that averted a more serious tragedy.

Lee Thorsen, nephew of Pearl Thorsen, who was pronounced dead more than two hours after firemen and physicians sought to save him with pulmotor and prone method treatment, was one of the rescuers who pulled the elder Thorsen ashore.

Gen. John F. O'Ryan, president of the Colonial company, issued a statement from New York, after the details of the accident had been reported to him, declaring that "the right motor, for some reasons unknown, cut out and the ship commenced to settle."

The plane was a tri-motored Ford in the regular Boston-New York passenger service.

Two Killed in Michigan.

Allegan, Mich., May 5.—[Special.]—Two young men were killed and a third was perhaps fatally injured when a Curtiss Robin plane with an OX-5 motor in which they were taking off from a pasture crashed in a ditch five miles south of here along highway M-50 late this afternoon.

The dead are Gilbert McDiarmid, 22 years old, pilot and instructor for the Leonard Motorless Aircraft company, a Grand Rapids concern manufacturing gliders, and Gilbert Reinink, 25 years old, salesman for the glider company. Both resided at Grand Rapids.

Charles Giberson, 17 years old, attendant at the glider company's flying field, and residing at Kalamazoo, suffered a fractured skull, a fractured jaw, and several broken ribs. Surgeons at the Hatton Memorial hospital, Muskegon, expressed doubt that he would survive.

Two Die in Maine Crash.

Augusta, Me., June 5.—(AP)—Two persons were killed at the airport here tonight as their plane went into a flat spin while they prepared to land, probably caused by the engine killing due to lack of fuel.

The victims were Francis A. Cote, 30, Franklin, Mass., and Clyde G. Maxfield, 23, of West Barnstable, Mass. Cote, who was believed to have been at the controls, held a limited pilot's license. Maxfield held a private pilot's license.

Leaves Parachute Below; Killed.

New York, June 5.—[Special.]—Henry "Buddy" Bushmeyer, most famous parachute jumper in the east, died today of injuries he received in an airplane accident the first time he ever went aloft without his trusty "chute" strapped to his back.

The pilot of the American Eagle biplane, Clifford Muchmore, is expected to recover, according to physicians attending him at Nassau hospital. His legs were broken, his back strained and face lacerated.

The biplane was cruising from 300 to 1,500 feet high near Hicksville, L. I., when it went into a flat spin. Neither Muchmore nor Bushmeyer could jump because they had left their parachutes off.

The parachute jumper had more than 500 leaps to his credit.

Three Hurt at Quincy.

Quincy, Ill., June 5.—[Special.]—Byron Distelhorst and Russell Brinkman of Hull, Ill., and William Taylor of Spooner, Wis., were all seriously injured today when a plane owned by Distlehorst fell near the Adams county line from an altitude of about 200 feet.

Use 22 Pints of Blood to Save Injured Fireman

New York June 5.—[Special.]—It took twenty-two pints of healthy blood—a record in transfusion records—to snatch Fireman Bob Grant from death's door. Today, after a four month siege, Grant left Bellevue hospital minus his left leg and on crutches, but under his own steam. He was taken to Bellevue with his leg crushed in a fire truck collision. Twenty-two firemen cheerfully opened their veins within the first month. After that it was largely a matter of husbanding Grant's returning power of resistance.

President Frederick C. Grant of the Western Theological seminary, Evanston, addressed more than 400 acolytes from Episcopal churches throughout the city last night at St. Paul's church, 50th and Dorchester avenue. The occasion was the twentieth annual acolytes' festival of the city. The procession of boys and young men, vested and bearing torches and crosses, presented a colorful feature of the program. Other clergymen taking part were the Rev. W. B. Stoskopf, Church of the Ascension; the Rev. Howard R. Brinker, St. Bartholomew's church, and the Rev. Walter S. Pond, St. Barnabas' church, and Dr. George H. Thomas, rector of St. Paul's.

Earl Sande Cut About Face in Auto Accident at Jamaica

New York, June 5.—(AP)—Earl Sande, widely known jockey, was cut about the face in an automobile accident in Jamaica, Queens, tonight. While his injuries were not considered serious, he was taken to Jamaica hospital. Sande was in an automobile with Edward Barnes of Forest Hills, N. Y., another jockey, when the machine collided with one driven by Harry Gross of Brooklyn. Sande's nose, cheek, and eye were cut.

Sneezing Bakery Clerk Saves Cash from Bandit

While a six foot, 200 pound Negro was holding up a bakery in Highwood at 1 o'clock this morning Robert Froelich, a clerk, sneezed. This so distracted the robber that Gideon Foderstron, another clerk, was able to hide the till's contents of $337 in a waste basket. The total yielded in the holdup was $1.08, the two clerks' pocket money.

DISCOVER BODIES OF MAN AND GIRL HE HAD KIDNAPED

Rochester, Mich., June 5.—Huddled under blankets at the edge of a wooded plot, the bodies of Henry Clouse, 46, and Marjorie Clemons, 18 year old daughter of his landlady, were found late this afternoon, a rifle which had ended their lives lying between them. The bodies were found on a farm seven miles north of Rochester.

About a hundred feet from the bodies was Clouse's car, almost destroyed by fire. From the condition of the bodies, it was assumed that death had occurred at least two days ago. The pair disappeared from Rochester Saturday. It is believed that Clouse first shot the girl, the back of whose head was shattered by bullets, covered her with a blanket, went back to his car and poured gasoline over it and set it afire.

A robber with a pistol in one hand and a flashlight in the other clambered through an open bedroom window into the first floor apartment of Charles T. Byrne, 5021 Drexel boulevard, last night, awakened Mr. Byrne's brother-in-law, Joseph Pryor, and commanded him to dress.

"This is a stickup; lead the way," the intruder commanded. In his trousers and pajamas, Pryor trod barefoot down the corridor to a sunroom where Mrs. Byrne, her 20 year old daughter, Isabelle, and a neighbor's daughter, Miss Mary Corbett, 4858 Drexel boulevard, were chatting.

From a table the robber picked up a purse containing $40 and two pins valued at $3,000. From Mrs. Byrne's fingers he removed two diamond rings valued at $4,000. He did not molest Miss Byrne or Miss Corbett, who had slipped a $500 ring from her finger to her mouth. The robber departed by the kitchen door. Mr. Byrne, a former member of the board of education, vice president of the Steger & Sons Piano Manufacturing company, and bank director, was not at home.

GERMANY TO TAX BACHELORS WITH PERMANENT JOBS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, June 5.—A 10 per cent tax on incomes of bachelors with permanent positions is among a set of laws agreed upon by the German cabinet today. The proposed laws, which will be submitted to the reichstag, also ask for the construction of 35,000 small flats to help provide work for the jobless.

The postal service and railroads have guaranteed to provide work on a large scale for the unemployed.

While the government is working out details to avoid a greater crisis in unemployment, representatives of employers and labor unions have been in conference to find a way out of business stagnation. Chancellor Bruening presided at some of the sessions.

Rabbit's Birthright But Mess of Pottage to Goat

Tualatin, Ore., June 5.—(AP)—A hundred thoroughbred rabbits were without pedigrees at the Winona rabbitry today because a goat with no regard for pride of aristocracy ate his lunch there. The goat, which roamed the farm yard at will, started at one end of a long line of rabbit hutches and devoured all the tags containing pedigreed data.

MRS. HOOVER TO CONVALESCE AT RAPIDAN CAMP

Washington, D. C., June 5.—[Special.]—Mrs. Herbert Hoover left the White House today for the Rapidan river fishing camp, where she will remain indefinitely while convalescing from the effects of an injury to her back suffered several weeks ago. Mrs. Hoover's recovery has not been as rapid as her physician had hoped, and for that reason she was sent to a restful spot where she will remain until her condition has improved. Mrs. Hoover fell and sprained several large muscles in her back.

JUDGE REVOKES "OBSCENE" BOOK CASE SENTENCE

Watch and Ward Society Flayed in Court.

Boston, Mass., June 5.—[Special.]—Again denouncing the Watch and Ward society, this time for what he termed its "brazen effrontery," District Attorney Bushnell of Middlesex county in the Superior Criminal court at East Cambridge, brought about revocation of the jail sentence imposed on James A. Delacey last winter in the Dunster House book shop case.

Delacey, manager of Dunster House book shop in Cambridge, which has a large patronage among Harvard faculty and students, was tried before Judge W. Fosdick last December for selling a copy of an obscene book, "Lady Chatterly's Lover." He was found guilty and sentenced to one month in the House of Correction and to pay a fine of $500.

Judge Condemns Methods.

In imposing sentence, however, Judge Fosdick took occasion to condemn the methods employed by the Watch and Ward society in bringing about Delacey's predicament. "I do think," said Judge Fosdick at the time, "that the way in which the defendant was induced to sell the book calls for every part of the condemnation that has been placed on it by counsel for either side."

Counsel for Delacey carried the case to the Supreme court, which recently overruled his appeal. This decision left Delacey facing a month in jail as well as the fine, and the case came before Judge James H. Sisk today for disposition.

District Attorney Bushnell addressed the court, saying in part:

"This defendant was sentenced on Dec. 20, 1929, execution being stayed pending the exceptions before the Supreme court. The decision of the Supreme court was a foregone conclusion, because it was admitted this defendant did sell an obscene book.

Vindication Claimed.

"When the Supreme court decision came down, the Watch and Ward society issued a statement proclaiming that the opinion vindicated their solicitation to this young man to commit a crime. This is the most brazen piece of effrontery that has yet appeared in these proceedings.

"If this defendant had been found guilty of selling the book in question to young people, I should recommend a jail sentence. There is not the slightest evidence of this, however, and the facts are quite the contrary. He was managing a reputable book shop, with a legitimate trade, patronized by members of a college faculty.

"The Watch and Ward society purposely sent a mature man to procure the sale. This proved that they knew the defendant would not sell to a youthful customer. The defendant did sell this book after repeated solicitations by the Watch and Ward society.

Charges Defendant Pursued.

"Taking all the circumstances of this case into consideration, the manner in which the defendant was pursued by the Watch and Ward society until he had committed this crime, I recommend that that portion of the sentence calling for confinement be remitted."

Without comment Judge Sisk immediately accepted the recommendation made by Mr. Bushnell.

CITY TO CELEBRATE RECORD GROWTH ON SPECIAL 'CENSUS DAY'

Mayor Thompson yesterday issued a proclamation designating next Wednesday as "Census day." Chicago's official population as given by the 1930 census will be announced at a meeting of the Association of Commerce in the La Salle hotel. Special ceremonies are being arranged by the association, the schools and the city's parks to celebrate Chicago's growth.

The day has been designated as one of celebration, the mayor's proclamation said, "in recognition of our city's feat in achieving, during the last decade, the greatest growth in population ever recorded by any city in the world's history. Already, preliminary reports by representatives of the federal bureau of census indicate that Chicago has grown from 2,701,705 in 1920 to more than 3,300,000 in 1930."

PACKER SLAIN; HOLD PARTNER; PLOT CHARGED

Employe Says He Was Paid for Killing.

Topeka, Kas., June 5.—[Special.]—With the arrest today of Louis H. Kimmel, 48, president of the Kaw Packing company, the unraveling of a most sensational murder plot was begun by the county authorities.

First degree murder charges today were filed by J. Glenn Logan, Shawnee county attorney, against Kimmel and Virgil Pointer, 38, an employé of the Kaw Packing company, in connection with the slaying of Roy Kramer, vice president of the company.

The mysterious murder of Kramer, who was widely known in Topeka and Kansas City, came to light with the finding of his body, March 26, on state highway No. 10, near Grantville, Kas.

The county attorney said this afternoon that Pointer had made a confession in which he admitted doing the actual slaying with a sledge hammer in Kramer's room at the plant. He said Kimmel planned the murder and paid him $95 for the deed. The detailed confession has not been made public because the officers are checking the story told by Pointer to see whether it fits the facts as the officers know them from the movements of Kramer the night he was murdered. Kimmel, protesting innocence, was released on $25,00 bonds.

Kimmel and Kramer were the organizers of the Kaw Packing company. Kimmel was the manager of production and sales, and Kramer was the cattle buyer. Kramer carried $30,000 in life insurance in favor of the company. The insurance has been paid. The company was hard pressed for funds some months ago, authorities said.

Kimmel has been head of the Kaw company here several years and is well known. He is married and has five children. He lives in a comfortable home.

Fat Lady Drops from 512 to 370 Lbs.; She Gets Divorce

Los Angeles, Cal., June 5.—(AP)—Viola Barton, weight 370 pounds, former fat lady of the circus, obtained a divorce today from Arthur C. Barton, circus novelty salesman, because his alleged cruelties caused her to "dwindle away" until she lost her job. Mrs. Barton said she weighed 512 pounds when she was married six years ago, but that her husband's mistreatment wrecked her figure. Intoxication and attention to other women were among the specific allegations.

ZEP HUGS COAST OF SPAIN ON LAST LAP HOMEWARD

Pauses at Seville Only 1/2 Hour After Ocean Trip.

BULLETIN.

FRIEDRICHSHAFEN, Germany, June 6 (Friday).—(AP)—The Graf Zeppelin reported by wireless at 6 a. m. mid-European time (midnight Chicago daylight time) that it was flying over Mallorca, largest of the Balearic isles, and about 650 miles from Seville as the Zeppelin has flown. The Graf took about 11½ hours to make the distance, indicating a speed of about 60 miles an hour.

SEVILLE, Spain, June 5.—(AP)—A bedraggled Graf Zeppelin and a wobbly, storm shaken group of passengers made port here between storms today and in half an hour whirred away toward Friedrichshafen, seventh and last stop of their historic tri-continent voyage of nearly 18,000 miles.

After flying around for several hours over southern Spain, Dr. Hugo Eckener directed the huge craft to its depot, discharged passengers, literally snatched supplies from the ground, and made off for home in just 31 minutes, demonstrating the express nature of the passenger craft.

The Graf headed in a southerly direction in accordance with Dr. Eckener's practice to avoid headwinds. After reaching Cadiz it flew east toward the Mediterranean before turning its nose up the coast of Spain in the direction of southern France.

Storm Prevents Sleep.

It was a pale, haggard party of air adventurers that arrived, after being tossed about in storm after storm during the last night of their journey here. They had little sleep last night, but gamely asserted that the experience was worth their discomfort.

Dr. Eckener said the airship stood the terrific weather splendidly. It showed no sign of damage. The German skipper posed in a cabin window, but did not go aground.

Only about 3,000 persons saw the Graf grounded. The flying field was in bad condition because of the rains. The disembarking passengers stepped ankle deep in mud.

Police Charge Crowd.

It was during a lull in the wind that the airship was brought to a stop. The craft was not completely harnessed to the mast, at Dr. Eckener's orders, because of the possibility of sudden renewal of high winds which might sweep her about and cause damage to her hull. Instead a ground crew held her beside the mast while racing attendants worked feverishly to land passengers and put provisions aboard.

While this was going on a section of the crowd got out of hand and surged toward the Graf. The police charged them and a number were injured.

Prince Alfonso, Infante of Orleans, a cousin of King Alfonso, smiled wanly as he descended and greeted his waiting wife. Mrs. Mary Pierce of New York, met by her husband, who made a hurried trip from Paris, said the storm had been very hard on her and all of the group.

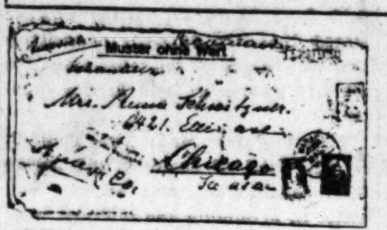
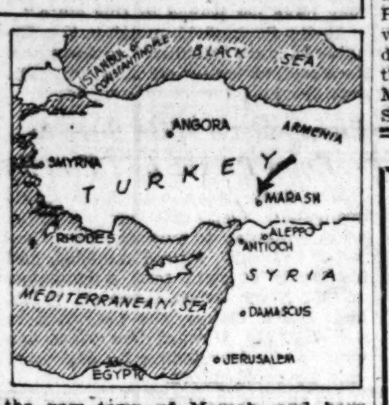
FROM MARASH, TURKEY



Muster ohne Wert
Chicago



Letter received by Mrs. Anna Schwitzner, 6421 Ellis avenue, Chicago, Ill. She writes:

"The inclosed envelope carried a letter to me from my niece, Paula Schaefer, a native of Germany, who is a missionary in a Lutheran hospital at Marash, Turkey. With the letter came a piece of fine embroidery on which I had to pay 75 per cent duty."

Marash is a town of Asiatic Turkey situated at the foot of Mount Taurus, east of the Jihan river. The town is a thriving one and has a good market in Kurd carpets and embroidered articles of wearing apparel. About half of the population are Turkish speaking Armenians.

Several Hittite monuments have been unearthed near a spring above the new town of Marash, and have since been transported to America or Constantinople. These discoveries are considered evidence of the early importance of the town, although its history is not traced from that point until the second century, when it appears under the name of Germanicia-Caesarea.

The town is said to have played an important part in Byzantine border wars. It passed into Saracen hands before the year 700.

Chauncey B. Blair, wealthy insurance broker who was divorced eleven days ago by his first wife, Mrs. Mildred Mitchell Blair, and Mrs. Paulette Picard Daniels Whiting, twice divorced, were married at noon yesterday. The ceremony was performed at the apartment of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Picard, in the Lake Shore Drive hotel by the Rev. Rushton Heyworth, pastor of the New England Congregational church. Only the parents of the bride and William M. Blair, brother of the groom, were present.

Mr. Blair is the son of the late Chauncey J. Blair, pioneer Chicago banker.

The bride divorced her first husband, Harry Daniels. In 1923 she married Bardford Hill Whiting. They separated two years later and she filed suit for separate maintenance. She won a decree in 1926.

The application for the marriage license gave Mr. Blair's age as 43 and that of Mrs. Blair as 38.

G. O. P. WET TEST TARGET OF DRYS AND DEMOCRATS

Lewis Calls It Effort to Help County Ticket.

BY PARKE BROWN.

Criticism from three sources was directed yesterday at the plan of the Cook county Republican organization to place a prohibition referendum on the little ballot for the state election of Nov. 4.

The criticisms, in brief, were as follows:

"It's merely an effort to help their county ticket." — James Hamilton Lewis, Democratic nominee for United States senator.

"It's a bluff and doesn't mean anything."—A. J. Cermak, chairman of the Democratic county committee.

"It's to embarrass Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick and improve Mr. Lewis' chances."—Dr. George B. Safford, Anti-Saloon league superintendent.

From a meeting of the Republican state committee at Springfield came a word of approval. Lawrence Y. Sherman, former United States senator, classified the referendum as desirable.

Lewis' View of Referendum.

The interview given by Lewis was something of a surprise to politicians who knew that in secret conferences with his advisers he had opposed the insistence of Cermak that the Democrats father a petition for the referendum. Lewis did not refer to this in the interview, granted in Washington, but said he could not see how the popular vote could influence the outcome of the senatorial contest.

"I can understand," he said, "what the Republican committee aims to do. The city hall faction knew it must launch some measure to hold Republican wet votes in support of the county ticket. The reasoning of the astute leader, Bernard W. Snow, is that the city hall must win enough offices this fall to control the mayoralty situation next year.

"They have no interest whatever in the senatorial contest now. Their sole purpose is to save the Republican county ticket. Those who favor the principles I stand for—however they vote on a referendum—must vote for the person whose convictions are known to be in favor of carrying out the verdict of the referendum."

Cermak Demands Pledges.

Cermak demanded that the Republicans obtain from their congressional candidates in Cook county written pledges to be bound by the result of the referendum.

"What assurance is given by the Republican bosses that there will be any change in the attitude of the Republican candidates for senator and congress?" he asked. "Can they assure the voters that their candidate for senator will abide by a vote against prohibition? Can they assure they that their members of congress will do so?

"Just as a proof of their sincerity, we call upon them now to submit the signed pledges of their ten candidates for congress in Cook county, which they claim to control. In making this demand we pledge ourselves to submit such pledges signed by the ten Democratic candidates for congress in Cook county, by our two candidates for congressman-at-large, and by our candidate for United States senator."

From the Anti-Saloon League.

"We are not sure how seriously one should take this proposal of Mr. Snow's," said Dr. Safford's statement on behalf of the drys. "If they promote such a move as that it would appear that the Republican managers in their guilelessness are picking up a proposition the wet Democrats found too hot to hold.

"We are inclined to think the suggestion is born of a desire to embarrass Mrs. McCormick, who has taken a dry position, and divide her support, and thus improve Mr. Lewis' chances of election.

"The Anti-Saloon league occupies a strategic position and will choose its own fighting ground and will not let the wets choose it for us. But we are not underestimating the seriousness of the situation in Illinois, as we are fully aware that the wets are putting on the most desperate campaign they have yet waged in this state."

At its Springfield meeting the Republican state committee voted to hold its state convention on Aug. 22. The date previously set was June 19.

Evangelist's Wife Sues to Evict Pastor and Family

Mrs. Paul Rader, wife of the radio evangelist, filed suit in Municipal court yesterday to evict the Rev. Conrad H. Howard, retired minister, and his family of eight from a bungalow at 4252 North Overhill avenue, which, Mrs. Rader claims, she presented to the Rev. Mr. Howard two years ago with the understanding he pay what rent he could afford.

GEN. GILCRIST HERE TO BOOST MILITARY SHOW

Maj. Gen. Harry Gilcrist, chief of the chemical warfare division of the army, arrived in Chicago yesterday from Washington to assist in staging the military tournament at Soldiers' field June 21 to 29. Army officials stated that the Chicago demonstration will be one of the most extensive military spectacles held in the country.

This morning Maj. Gen. Guy V. Henry, chief of cavalry, will arrive from Washington, and he, too, will assist in arranging the military tournament and exposition, which will be under the supervision of Maj. Gen. Frank Parker, commanding officer of the Sixth corps area. Announcement was made at headquarters yesterday that Capt. Robert C. Vickers, signal corps, has been detailed as liaison officer.

EUROPE READY FOR TARIFF WAR, FRENCH WARN

Tell U. S. All Nations Are Scheming Reprisals.

[Copyright: 1930: By the New York Times.]

PARIS, June 5.—In a clearly worded warning, the General Federation of French Production and the National Association for Economic Expansion have served notice upon the United States that persistence in its present tariff policy, as reflected in the Hawley-Smoot measure, will inevitably result in France and other European countries coöperating regarding "measures of protection." Certain nations, it is asserted, have already drawn up schemes for reprisals.

The two organizations represent practically all French industry. To give their assertion further weight, a copy was adressed to the minister of commerce, whom they request to renew again French protests to Washington and make clear to the American governments the points they set forth.

Sees Bar Against Products.

The letter begins with references to the disquieting effect which the American tariff discussions has had upon European business and a growing feeling that Americans desire to raise a veritable prohibition against old world products.

"While we have the most profound respect for the sovereignty of each nation's right to make its own tariff, we nevertheless are impelled by the gravity of the situation to register a protest in the name of the various branches of French industry," the letters say. "American economists have already voiced the danger lurking in the new tariff bill for American industry.

"It is not for us to reëcho these. We do intend, however, to call the attention of the American government and congress to the repercussions, which the American economic policy will have upon American commercial relations with the rest of the world.

Reprisals Are Threatened.

"Our American friends cannot be ignorant of the fact that the hour approaches when commercial expansion will be a vital necessity for the United States. However, quick as has been the progress of consumption of a nation of 100,000,000 high salaried persons, production has in effect been even more rapid.

"If America persists in a contradictory attitude of closing its doors to foreign goods, while, at the same time developing its exportation, how can America be surprised if France, with other nations, decides to take the necessary protective measures?"

Edge Answers French Critics.

LILLE, France, June 5.—(AP)—Dissatisfaction with the activities of American customs officials in France was one of the first things Ambassador Edge encountered on his third visit to French industrial regions now in progress.

He also met objections to the rates of duties in the United States on French goods. The ambassador replied at the Lille chamber of commerce that he had statistics to show that the Lille district nevertheless sold more goods to the United States as the tariff became higher.

He told industrial leaders of Lille it was the habit to blame everything on the tariff, but there were many other conditions responsible for trade fluctuations such as the present business slump in the United States, changes in taste and the French tendency to establish factories in the United States.

Criticism of American customs agents was voiced by Alfred Decamps, president of the Lille chamber of commerce.

MacDonald Calls Parley to Consider Unemployment

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, June 5.—Prime Minister MacDonald announced today that he had called a conference to meet in Guildhall on June 17 to discuss the unemployment emergency. Representatives of all cities, towns, and other local authorities in Great Britain have been invited.

Plan Farm Relief Parley.

LONDON, June 5.—(AP)—The Conservative party has agreed to enter into conference with the Labor party and the Liberal party on the problem of agriculture, Premier MacDonald said in the house of commons today.

POINT OF ORDER SENDS REPORT ON TARIFF BILL BACK TO CONFERENCE

Washington, D. C., June 5.—[Special.]—Points of order against several rate items in one of the two sections of the tariff conference report were sustained today by Vice President Curtis, with the result that this section went back to conference for correction. Conferees were reappointed by the senate and house and will meet tomorrow with a view to submitting a revised report not later than Monday.

It is expected that the senate will reach a final vote on both sections of the conference report about the middle of next week and that if approved by both houses the bill will reach the President by the end of the week.

LIQUOR RUNNING PLANE IS SEIZED AT CITY AIRPORT

A red Stinson cabin monoplane, believed to have been used to transport booze from Canada for the Capone interests, was seized by customs and special prohibition agents at the Terminal hangar, Municipal airport, late yesterday.

William Ellis of Chicago was said to have been the pilot and George Kelly of Detroit the owner of the plane, but no action is pending against them. The plane was identified as a rum runner several weeks ago when special prohibition agents at Detroit were investigating a flying liquor ring.

Alexander Jamie, chief special agent at Chicago, was notified of the rum runner and sent a description. When the plane was seized the motor had been removed, but attachés of the airport declared a change had been ordered, and Jamie announced the original motor would be found without difficulty.

Several weeks ago the special agents disclosed an inquiry into an alleged airplane booze running conspiracy headed by Ralph Capone. More than $1,000,000 worth of liquor was said to have been run to Cicero by two planes, one hauling fifty and the other twenty cases on a trip. Capone and eight associates were indicted last week and one of the overt acts in a conspiracy count was the running of whisky by airplane.

SEIZE LAWYER FOR FORGERY.

Abdon Pollasch, a lawyer and realty dealer of 1643 West Division street, was arrested yesterday on a charge of forgery made by F. T. Bejorski of 3401 North Troy street. Bejorski alleged that Pollasch in a second mortgage made insertions so that two parcels of property instead of one were involved.

DR. WYNEKOOP IS ARRESTED; 2 GIRLS MAKE COMPLAINT

Complaints by two girls that he kissed them when they answered his advertisement for an "attractive, cultured college graduate" yesterday led to the arrest of Dr. Gilbert E. Wynekoop, 50 years old, 5059 Sheridan road.

The complainants are Miss Mary Conroy, 21 years old, 1305 Sedgwick street, and Miss Byrna Katz, 23 years olds, 1524 North Artesian avenue. They said the advertisement read that Dr. Wynekoop wanted a private secretary, stenographer and housekeeper. Miss Conroy's story was that:

"He kissed me and said, 'You must come back tomorrow; I want to read some poetry to you.'"

"He told me," said Miss Katz, "that I would have a wonderful job traveling with him."

JUDGE COULTER WINS INDIANA BENCH CONTEST

Defeats Willoughby for Nomination.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Indianapolis, Ind., June 5.—[Special.]—Judge Thomas B. Coulter of Vincennes defeated Justice Benjamin M. Willoughby for nomination as judge of the Supreme court, First district, in today's Republican state convention.

Justice Willoughby, an abstainer, is one of the three justices who have insisted that in dry cases the constitution and the bill of rights must be observed. For years he has been opposed by the Anti-Saloon league and the W. C. T. U. Six years ago Willoughby was fought by the dry leaders for standing up against the old klan-league supergovernment in a decision holding that night riders and horse thief detectives had no legal right to prowl the countryside and search automobiles, willy nilly. He won in that election by one vote.

Three Men in Field.

Three candidates were in the field today, the third man being T. Morton McDonald of Princeton, who was supposed to have the league backing.

Some of the party leaders took the ground that if Willoughby were renominated it might weaken the ticket, as the league and klan opposition in 1924 reduced him to a one vote plurality in the year of the Coolidge landslide.

There was no debate or fireworks over the nomination. After it was over the delegates viewed the results with mixed feelings. Some of the leaders took the view that although the Anti-Saloon league had thrown its influence against Willoughby, still Judge Coulter was not the league's pick although he was helped by their votes on an anti-Willoughby basis. Some supporters of Willoughby regarded it as meaning that the Republican state convention had succumbed to outside domination by the league.

Judge Remy Renominated.

There was a second battle over a place on the Appellate bench, in which the Coffin machine of Marion county was beaten. Judge Charles F. Remy of Indianapolis was renominated. He is the father of Will R. Remy, who was county prosecutor when ex-Gov. Ed Jackson and Coffin were indicted. Today Judge Remy was opposed by Alexander G. Cavins, assistant United States district attorney, who had the Coffin backing. Coffin, who was the old boss of the county in the days of klan misrule and dry boss domination, had his main interest in the defeat of Judge Remy, and lost. Before the band wagon started the roll call showed 1,095 for Remy and 858 for Cavins.

Harry E. Nichols of Madison won the nomination for state treasurer over Caleb C. Williams of Pendleton and Sol L. Sudranski of Greencastle.

Dry Resolution Fails.

A battle over a dry referendum blew up in its incipiency. State Senator James Nejdl of Whiting made a demand that the rules be changed to permit the consideration of a minority report on a resolution. "Give us fair play," he said. "This is a convention, not a caucus. We are against railroading tactics."

The steam roller rolled over Nejdl and later the resolutions drafted last night were read and adopted without change.

Hyde Is Keynoter.

The keynote was sounded by Arthur Hyde, secretary of agriculture.

Candidates for offices who had no opposition were put through by blanket acclamation. The state ticket is as follows: Secretary of state, Otto G. Fifield, Crown Point; auditor of state, Archie N. Bobbitt, English; clerk of the Supreme and Appellate courts, Charles L. Biederwolf, Fort Wayne; judge of Supreme court, First district, Thomas B. Coulter, Vincennes; judge of Supreme court, Fourth district, Willard B. Gimmell, Marion; judges of Appelalte court, First district, Solon A. Enloe, Danville; Charles F. Remy, Indianapolis; judges of Appellate court, Second district, Willis C. McMahan, Crown Point; Alonzo L. Nichols, Winchester; treasurer of state, Harry Nichols, Madison; state superintendent of public instruction, Roy P. Wisehart, Union City.

WASHINGTON NOTES

Washington, D. C., June 5.—(AP)—A revised world war veterans' compensation bill estimated to cost $73,000,000 a year was virtually completed by the senate finance committee today, but a vote on approval was deferred until tomorrow.

Almost completely revised, the administration bill to set up a unified border patrol was approved by the house interstate commerce committee.

Arthur D. Wood, commissioner of pardons for Michigan, has been selected as one of the three members of the new federal pardon parole board.

A unanimous decision that Representative Jacob L. Milligan, Democrat, was properly elected to the seat from the Third Missouri district was reached by a house elections committee.

CRUSADERS MEET TODAY TO FORM WET BATTALIONS

New Organization's Aim Is Temperance.

Chicago battalions of the militant new national prohibition reform organization, known as the Crusaders, will be formed at a meeting at the University club this noon at which Clarence Darrow and Ralph Shaw will be the speakers.

Illinois is the twenty-fourth state to be organzied by this body, which now has, according to Fred G. Clark of Cleveland, the national commander in chief, about 150,000 members. The aim is 10,000,000 members and a unit in every voting precinct or ward.

Will Select Officers.

J. Russell Forgan is the Chicago commander, and the nucleus of the local executive committee out of which other officers will be chosen is as follows: John Wentworth, James C. Hutchins, Charles Glore, William H. Mitchell, Charles Cushing, Lawrence Stern, Weymouth Kirkland, E. A. Cudahy Jr., Wayne C. Taylor, Seymour Wheeler, S. Y. Hord, John R. Thompson, Hays McFarland, Thorne Donnelly, Vaughn Spalding, Lester Armour, W. E. Clow Jr., Stuyvesant Peabody, Norris Bokum, L. Montefiore Stein, Robert Gardner, Oscar Nelson, and Col. Thomas Gowenlock.

This is a new "youth movement," a protest against the present prohibition law in the belief that "prohibition of liquor is wrong in principle and has proved impossible in practice."

"We are going after votes," said Mr. Clark, a young and vigorous looking man who is in the oil business. "We want a unit in every voting precinct.

"Our immediate objective is the next congress. it is in congress that this reform lies. We are organizing the congressional districts for the coming election. Before 1932 we will have 10,000,000 fighting young Americans under our banner.

"We seek to strengthen the spines of our legislators and remove that hypocrisy which threatens our national life. New congressmen are to be elected this fall and thirty new senators. We will get busy on these first.

Want Real Temperance.

"In this question we are taking the middle of the road, where the great body of reasonable and reasoning persons can line up for an intelligent solution of the present intolerable conditions.

"We are opposed to the saloon and are also opposed to all the evils of bootlegger control of liquor. We are for temperance. We want to take the liquor traffic from the underworld and put it under adequate government control that will attain the ends of real temperance."

National officers besides Mr. Clark are: L. C. Hanna Jr. of Cleveland, treasurer; Charles H. Sabin Jr., New York, executive commander; J. J. Wadsworth, Geneseo, N. Y., executive commander; William D. Carr, New York, counsel; John S. Williams, New York, finance commander.

The organization is supported by membership dues of one dollar and "gifts from friends." It is in sympathetic alliance with the National Association Against the Prohibition Amendment and with the Women's Organization for National Prohibition Reform, which is just forming its Illinois division. It is leaving the older organizations to continue educational work while it prepares for an active fight in the political field.

Dr. Thorek Granted Writ in Fight Over Co-op Flat

Chief Justice Thomas Taylor of the Circuit court yesterday issued a temporary injunction to restrain the 3920 Lake Shore Drive Building corporation from preventing Dr. Max Thorek, chief of staff at the American hospital, from moving into his apartment. Dr. Thorek, through his attorney, Julius Miner, charged that the building officials sought to keep him out of the coöperative apartment which he had purchased at a cost of $11,000 because of his religion.

SLEUTHS POSING AS CAPONE AIDS SOLVE A SLAYING

Disguise Fools New York Gangsters.

New York, June 5.—[Special.]—By posing as Chicago gangsters, one passing himself off as a brother of "Scarface Al" Capone, three detectives, two of them from a private agency, cleared up the killing of Jacob Rothenberg, 46, a clothing manufacturer, on Feb. 10, last, according to District Attorney T. C. T. Crain.

Incidentally the story of how Rothenberg met his death was told by Rose Halperin, 28, who admitted, according to the detectives, she had "worked with mobs" since she was 14 and she had killed a man when she was 16. She did not go into the details of the crime.

Lured to Death.

Rothenberg was "put on the spot" near his office by a woman who called him from his office during a strike of dressmakers and saw Irving Ashkenas, 27, strike him and walk away, the detectives said. Ashkenas was arrested at the scene and has since been in the Tombs under indictment for manslaughter. The Halperin woman was arraigned in General Sessions and she was held in $15,000 bail as a material witness.

Detective Eugene S. Caneveri of headquarters and the two private detectives, William A. Renzelman and Harry Hammond, are responsible, Mr. Crain said, for gaining the confidence of the Halperin woman, who had known Ashkenas intimately. She also was known as Rose Rosenberg.

After the Ashkenas' arrest Miss Halperin was questioned, but she denied knowing anything about the killing. Her attitude was such that counsel for the Dress Manufacturers' association hired the two private detectives. On April 1 the detectives followed her to Montreal, where she registered at a small hotel.

Scar Aids His Pose.

The detectives registered at the same hotel and posed as gangsters from Chicago. After obtaining her confidence they telegraphed Inspector John A. Lyons at headquarters here, who sent Detective Caneveri to Montreal. The latter has a scar under his right eye and he registered at the hotel as "James Capone."

When Detective Caneveri left Montreal early in May he told her he had to return to Chicago, but would see her in New York before going on a trip to California. She returned to this city and last night Caneveri arranged to meet her today at 7th avenue and 14th street. Then he arrested her and took her to the district attorney's office.

Wax Blaze Fumes Drive N. U. Students from Class

Students attending classes in Harris hall on the Evanston campus of Northwestern university were routed yesterday by fumes from a blazing pot of wax in the kitchen off the first floor reception room. John Skaftun, janitor, was preparing to refinish the floor and had set the pot on the gas range. It immediately burst into flames. He and a student, Raymond F. Lazaretto, were overcome by smoke. The damage was estimated at $250.

If the college-boy fad of "shorts" should ever find many adherents, medical science would have to change the masculine "funnybone" from the elbow to the knee!

HOOVER FINDS BORAH COOL TO NAVAL TREATY

Also Old and Young Guard Divisions in Senate.

has been at the White House urging a postponement of treaty action until after the November election, a proposal which the President flatly refused to consider.

The fact is that tonight the President would prefer action in the regular session if that be possible. If not possible, then the special session is certain.

Johnson Not Appeased.

Mr. Hoover and Secretary Stimson conferred on what documents to supply the foreign relations committee in response to its request for all information on the treaty and what to withhold. Senator Borah said tonight that all the facts should be furnished.

Hearing that some documents would be withheld, Senator Hiram Johnson [Rep., Cal.], leader of the treaty opposition, said:

"To deny one partner in treaty making access to a knowledge of that which in the first instance induced the negotiation of a completed document is to abrogate the constitution itself. I say without fear of contradiction very few senators, because of their multifarious duties and the overwhelming stress of the last year, have an intimate knowledge of the London treaty. This they should have before they act."

Three Nations in Agreement.

Copies of correspondence between the United States, Great Britain, and Japan disclosing that all three nations are in agreement that old 6 inch gun cruiser tonnage cannot be replaced with 8 inch gun cruisers during the life of the treaty was forwarded to the senate foreign relations committee tonight by the state department.

The diplomatic exchanges were undertaken after naval officers appearing before the senate committee had stated that article 19 of the treaty was so indefinite it would be possible for Great Britain to begin replacing 6 inch gun cruiser tonnage, of which she would have 86,000 tons to replace, with 8 inch gun cruisers in 1934.

NAVY DESIGNS NEW SHIPS

Washington, D. C., June 5.—[Special.]—The navy department has begun preparations for the framing of a new building program that will include all the warships which the Hoover administration will be asked to build during the life of the London naval agreement, it became known today.

Orders have been issued by President Hoover directing that no contracts for the construction of new cruisers, submarines, or aircraft carriers should be awarded until the navy department completes a study of its warship needs in the light of the senate's approaching action on the London naval agreement. As this study will not be completed until after the senate votes on the treaty, the revamped program will not be ready before fall.

Naval officers estimate it would cost one billion dollars to finance the naval building program necessary to build the United States fleet up to the treaty maximum tonnage totals by 1936. These officers do not expect and probably will not recommend the construction of all the ships permitted by the treaty by 1937 even if the pact is approved. High naval officers believe the new program will not call for more than half a billion dollars in addition to the ten 8 inch gun cruisers, one aircraft carrier and two submarines already authorized.

Hinges on Senate Action.

Should the treaty win senate approval, the warship building program will be designed to fit in with the limitations of the pact. Should the pact fail, the program, according to naval officers, would be somewhat different from a treaty program in that it would include more 8 inch gun cruisers and fewer of the smaller 6 inch gun ships.

In event the treaty is approved, the navy general board officials of the design division and other high naval officers will take up the task of determining the policy to be followed by the navy department in building warships in the various categories of fighting ships.

Secretary of the Navy Charles Francis Adams said today that high naval officers and especially those in the design division were already hard at work studying out the answer to the question of what tonnages, speeds, and armaments should be built into new warships for the fleet. He said that as soon as the treaty is acted on the general board will begin the task of working up a program.

IDENTIFY GEMS IN LOOT SEIZED BY POLICE RAIDS

New York, June 5.—(AP)—Identifications were made today from each of three hoards of jewels seized by New York police in the last fortnight in a roundup of stolen gems and their possessors.

Mrs. Frederick Desberg of Cleveland picked out of $300,000 worth of jewelry seized at the Hotel Commodore a week ago Monday two rings and a bracelet taken from her last winter at the Hollywood Beach hotel in Hollywood, Fla.

Police identified from $500,000 worth of jewelry found in the safe deposit box of Robert Nelson, a race track man, a platinum watch which, they said, was one of eight stolen in 1925 from a mailman in Newark, N. J.

Harry Reger of Alden Park Manor, Pa., identified thirty-five pieces of jewelry found in the safe deposit box of Max Nadel, a pickpocket.

FIND CHICAGO JEWELS.

Chicago operations of New York City's so-called million dollar gem theft ring were disclosed last night when it was learned that an eastern jeweler had identified an $8,500 diamond bracelet stolen in September of 1929 from the home of Albert E. Cross, grain broker, at 336 Sheridan road, Wilmette. It was part of $31,000 worth of jewelry taken from his home. The same band is believed to have robbed the home of Martin Insull, in Highland Park, of $12,000 in jewelry a week earlier.

The robbery was committed while all members of the Cross family were absent.

DYNAMITE IN HIS AUTO BLOWS DRIVER TO PIECES

Denver, Colo., June 5.—(AP)—Dennis J. Phillips Jr., Denver and Garo, Colo. mining man, was blown to bits tonight when a case of dynamite exploded in his automobile. Houses for a mile around were shaken, and windows were broken. Parts of the automobile were strewn over a wide area, one fender hurtling more than 300 yards. Phillips' body was scattered.

Phillips had told his mother yesterday that the case of dynamite had crystallized and was very dangerous. For that reason, he was going to take it to the hills. Police believe it exploded when Phillips drove his car over a bump.

Phillips, who was 23, is survived by his widow and a 2 year old daughter.

HOMEMADE BOMB BLAST IN SCHOOL INJURES 2 PUPILS

The Brighton Park police were called to the Kelly Junior High school at 42d street and California avenue yesterday when a home made bomb exploded in the chemistry laboratory of the school and injured two students.

The injured boys are: Stanley Balicki, 15 years old, 2460 West 46th street, whose left hand was blown off at the wrist, and Joseph Bazedonis, 12 years old, 4440 South Whipple street, who was severely burned about the face and hands. Both boys were taken to the Holy Cross hospital.

The bomb was brought into the school by Bazedonis, but where he obtained it was not learned by the police, who were unable to question the youth because of his condition.

WIFE NAMES 13 OTHER WOMEN IN SUIT FOR DIVORCE

Charles W. Fricks, head of the C. W. Fricks Auditing company, is characterized as "a nineteenth century Brigham Young" in a bill for divorce filed yesterday in the Circuit court by Mrs. Kathryne Fricks, 14 West Elm street. She charges her husband with misconduct with 13 women between their marriage on Jan. 9, 1913, and their separation last March 8.

In 1928 Mrs. Fricks says that she was forced to travel in company with Miss Thelma Boughton, said to be Fricks' sweetheart at that time, and her husband. The three occupied the same drawing room on trains and the same hotel rooms, the bill states. Mrs. Fricks also charges that her husband lived in a Chicago hotel with a married woman while his wife was visiting in Memphis. Mrs. Fricks is represented by Attorney Thomas Symmes.

STEGE EXPLAINS "TRANSFER" OF 2 TO QUIET UPROAR

Drury and Howe Just Reassigned, He Says.

No gang murders marred the serenity of the police department yesterday, and although there were gang funerals, inquests, and investigations under way, Chief of Detectives Stege had a few moments to devote to a momentous matter. He was being called upon by various agencies for an explanation of the "transfer" of Detectives William Drury and John Howe.

The Chicago crime commission had been asked to determine if these men were "shelved" because they had arrested Harry Gusick and Hymie Levin, agents of Alphonse Capone in vice and beer traffic. Frank J. Loesch, president of the commission, said he would investigate.

They Are Reassigned.

"The detectives were neither transferred, shelved, nor demoted," said Stege. "They were merely reassigned. They had been members of the pickpocket and shoplifter detail which is commanded by Lieuts. Morris Byrne and James O'Brien, the famous 'B. & O.' team. They were put back on general work, and are free to roam the streets arresting whom they will.

"Lieut. O'Brien's complaint against them was that they were more interested in other matters than in arresting pickpockets, which was their business. Then, in court, their statement to the judge would be that they 'had nothing on' the prisoners, who would thereupon be discharged.

"In all businesses it is proper for the executive to uphold the various department heads in matters of discipline or the selection of subordinates. Naturally I upheld Lieuts. Byrne and O'Brien.

Low in Merit Rating.

"Each month we list the standing of the fifty teams of detectives, showing the number of points they score through arrests, convictions, warrants served, investigations made, etc. The men doing the most effective work naturally are on top of the list, but for the last year the standing of Drury and Howe has been as follows: June (1929), 18th; July, 15th; August, 36th; September, 30th; October, 27th; November, 37th; December, 22d; January (1930), 19th; February, 37th; March, 25th; April, 43d; May, 43d.

"In the year they have sent two men to the penitentiary and only two of their prisoners have been held to the grand jury. That's a terribly poor showing."

Lieut. Byrne Tells Side.

"We are charged with a certain responsibility," explained Lieut. Byrne, whose detail consists of fifteen picked men. "We want our men riding street cars and going through the department stores.

"Drury and Howe were interested in arresting persons whose reputations would insure newspaper publicity. But that wasn't aiding us in our particular field, which requires concentration and specialization, so we asked to have them replaced."

Mr. Loesch said he would ask Lieuts. Byrne and O'Brien to call on him today, stating, "I have implicit confidence in the lieutenants, who were most faithful in the performance of their duty when they were assigned to my office when I was a special assistant attorney general conducting a grand jury investigation."

CRIMINAL COURT.

BUYER GREATEST BOOZE CRIMINAL, SHEPPARD SAYS

And Pushes Bill to Make Him One.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 5.—[Special.]—Senator Morris Sheppard [Dem., Tex.], bone dry father of the 18th amendment, declared today that one whole phase of the prohibition enforcement system is made ridiculous by failure of the dry laws to make the buyer of liquor a criminal.

Speaking at a hearing before a subcommittee of the senate judiciary committee in support of his bill to make the purchaser guilty, Senator Sheppard asserted that "the very absurdity of punishing possession and excusing purchase tends to bring this phase of our system of enforcement into ridicule."

Calls It Grotesque Distinction.

"Why should a possessor punishable under the Volstead act be excused from punishment for the very act by which he acquires possession and violates the law?" he asked. "It is indeed a grotesque distinction which holds a purchaser innocent as he reaches for illicit liquor with one hand while extending payment to the bootlegger with the other, and then transforms him into a violator the moment money passes to the bootlegger and the liquor to the purchaser."

Senator Sheppard introduced his bill last October, but did not force a hearing on it until the United States Supreme court in the Farrar case recently held that the buyer clearly is immune from punishment. The Texan explained that the reaction to the decision has been to the effect that "purchasers could now feel profound relief and proceed to buy liquor with impunity.

Excepts Dry Agents.

The bill would amend both the Volstead and Jones laws to make the buyer guilty, except in the case of prohibition agents, who could legally purchase liquor in order to procure evidence.

Senator Sheppard, candidly conceding a big flaw in the present dry laws, contended that the purchaser of liquor is really responsible for the whole gamut of violations.

Senator Frederick Steiwer [Rep., Ore.], chairman of the subcommittee, announced after the hearing, at which Senator Sheppard was the only speaker, that the views of enforcement officials will be obtained at the next hearing, to be held probably next week. Other members of the subcommittee are Senators Henry F. Ashurst [Dem., Ariz.], and Charles W. Waterman [Rep., Colo.].

WEATHER CHART OPENS DEFENSE OF PAMPINELLA

The defense of John Pampinella, Deneen political worker in the 42d ward, who is charged in Judge McGoorty's Criminal court with the murder of the Rev. William H. Slaughter, a colored Thompson worker, was opened late yesterday. Weather charts for registration day, March 11, were introduced to show that visibility on that day was poor. The defense claims it would have been impossible for the state's witness to see a murder 200 feet away, as they testified.

The state, however, anticipating the defense move, had introduced testimony of Lieut. George De Mar, who said that he had been able to see and recognize persons after the murder was committed at a distance of nearly 200 feet

U. S. MARSHALS START ROCKFORD ARRESTS ON SECRET INDICTMENTS

Rockford, Ill., June 5.—[Special.]—Four persons named in a suppressed indictment returned by the federal grand jury at Freeport today were arrested here tonight and government agents were searching for a fifth. Those arrested were John F. Walsh, a bond broker; Lorenzo Moscarelli, Thomas Rumore, and Tony Govingo. The suppressed indictment, it was learned, charged conspiracy to violate the prohibition laws, and federal officers said several more persons were to be arrested. The man sought last night was William D'Agostin, who previously has been charged with violating dry laws. Reports persisted that some of those named in the suppressed indictment are public officials.

Four Indictments Voted.

Freeport, Ill., June 5.—(AP)—The federal grand jury, in session here since Monday, adjourned today after returning four indictments, three of them charging as many individuals with liquor law violations. Federal officials declined to reveal the contents of the fourth indictment and would neither affirm nor deny a report that it was directed against a score or more citizens of Rockford, Ill.

BISHOP CANNON STANDS MUTE.

Bishop James Cannon Jr., chairman of the board of temperance and social service, Methodist Episcopal Church, South, was a responsive witness at Tuesday's session of the senate lobby committee until a question reached the nub of the inquiry. Then he refused to answer, although Senator Walsh told him he would expose himself to contempt proceedings if he continued intractable.

Only two members of the committee were present when the bishop appeared for examination, Walsh of Montana and Blaine of Wisconsin. Senator Caraway, the Arkansas dry who is chairman, was conveniently in Little Rock, where he made a statement that Cannon was within his rights in refusing to answer.

The bishop, being brought back to the witness stand Wednesday morning, again stood mute. In the earlier ecclesiastical government of America this contumacy would have subjected the witness to pressure, quite literal pressure as in the case of Giles Corey of Salem—a weight of all the iron that he could bear and more, with water from the nearest pool one day and a morsel of the worst bread the next, until he testified or until nature took its course.

When the bishop balked, the question was leading to the money he received from Edwin C. Jameson of New York. Mr. Jameson, an insurance man and the largest individual contributor to the Hoover campaign funds, had testified before the committee in May that he had been put in touch with Bishop Cannon by C. Bascom Slemp, Republican national committeeman for Virginia. Mr. Slemp said that the bishop was engaged in a worthy work in the southern states. Mr. Jameson, being addicted to the eighteenth amendment, was anxious to forward the work. He made a report of his contributions to the anti-Smith campaign in Virginia, a total of $95,300, of which $30,000 went to the Virginia Republican state organization and $65,300 to Cannon. Of the latter amount $7,300, Mr. Jameson said, was a gift to the bishop to clear up some personal debts and possibly ought not to have been included in the general fund.

The reports filed in February showed Cannon receiving only $17,300, and there was no account of the balance of $48,000. Mr. Jameson testified that he had been requested by the bishop to make his return show "$17,300 used by headquarters committee and $48,000 by anti-Smith Democrats in Virginia. This will correspond exactly with our official reports." The anti-Smith Democrats in Virginia have not reported the receipt or expenditure of the amount in question. Hence the endeavor to learn from Bishop Cannon how it was spent.

After his refusal Wednesday to answer questions asked by the senators the bishop made a public statement saying that he had disbursed the $48,300 in the Virginia campaign, giving $16,000 for general state work, including pay for speakers, automobiles, travel, postage, etc., and the balance to the county and precinct organizations for election day work and other expenses. In giving these items of expenditure he denounced the attempt to make a matter of public record of "the names and compensations of the speakers, leaders and organizers and workers, including many ministers in Virginia who did legitimate work in the campaign, whose expenses were properly paid."

Thursday morning the bishop, again returning to the committee hearing, informed the senators that he withdrew as a voluntary witness, denied their authority to question him on his political activities and walked out. He becomes more astonishing as he unfolds himself. The committee has exercised the widest range of authority in inquiring into the opposition to prohibition and has demanded how money was raised and how it was expended, the amounts being trivial as compared with the sums used by the Anti-Saloon league and other prohibition organizations. The opposition did not balk at this or question the right of the inquiry whether it exceeded its bounds or not.

Bishop Cannon withholds information when interrogated. He makes a statement to the public. He cannot be questioned on that. He is not put on his oath. Inquisitors cannot make him go into details. He even asserts it as an injustice to his own workers to make known their names and to tell what they were paid and for what services. He paid for election work at the polls, just as Mr. Vare in Pennsylvania might pay for it, but he holds that this is not to be divulged.

He surrounds the inner workings of a moral cause with a secrecy which would be regarded as pernicious in a secular attempt at political action. He guards his co-workers as if it would be a betrayal of trust to divulge who they were and what they were doing. He was given large sums of money to produce political results and says he is not accountable for its expenditure to any authority and will make known just what he wants to make known. He covers up and says it is his right.

Bishop Cannon was accused of flour hoarding in wartime, a charge sustained by an official report on it, and he said that he was the victim of persecution. He was accused by laymen and clergy of his own church of conduct unbecoming his cloth and the character of the clergy in his dealings with a New York bucket shop firm. He was exculpated by his fellow clerics in the church governing body, he saying that he was the victim of persecution. He now refuses to tell the senate committee what was done with money given him for political use in defeating the Democratic nominee for President in Democratic states, and says he is the victim of persecution.

Bishop Cannon has endeavored to dominate government and dictate statutory and moral law to other citizens, but he holds that statutes do not apply to him, and that he cannot be made to answer questions in matters in which the average honorable man would insist upon aboveboard transactions and would have nothing to conceal. This, apparently, is the moral leadership at present in the ascendancy in Washington.

It is the public morality of a racket.

FAIR PLAY FOR THE TRACTION OPPOSITION.

There appears to be a disposition on the part of some of the friends of the new traction ordinance to slight if not to seek to silence the opposition. This attitude can be explained, but it cannot be justified. The opponents of the ordinance, to be sure, had ample opportunities to raise their objections while it was being drafted; and because they did not avail themselves of the invitation then, some impatience now on the part of the men who are responsible for the ordinance is understandable.

Still the opposition to the ordinance deserves to be taken seriously. The opponents were under no obligation to join in the preliminary work if they chose not to do so, and the facts about the settlement will be brought out most clearly if the terms are subjected to vigorous debate. Opposition should therefore be welcome to the friends of the ordinance if only because it will focus attention on the subject.

So far as THE TRIBUNE is concerned, our columns, of course, will be open to both sides to present their arguments and interpretations. By July 1, when the voters will accept or reject the settlement, the strength and weaknesses of the ordinance ought to be exposed if the debate is ably conducted.

TREES IN TOWN.

London, notorious for its smoke and acrid air, is green with trees of the oriental plane variety. Paris has its trees constricted in small unpaved areas. Other towns find ways to make trees live under hard conditions. But Chicago, we are assured by south park authorities, cannot make trees grow along the downtown boulevards. The problem is difficult, no doubt, but with science and attention on the job it is worth trying further.

Trees are the best monuments that a town can have. They are worth more by far than most artificial statues, and work and special care to keep them living and in growth is worth the time and money. East of the I. C. tracks trees will grow. West of the tracks, where they are needed even more, they die now in about two years. Smoke is said to be the cause, but a soil condition, leaking gas mains or other causes that may be corrected more probably underlie these failures.

Special study and effort should be made to raise these green monuments along the inner boulevards. A row of plane trees along Michigan downtown would be worth many a costly bronze or marble effigy.

THE GRAND OLD PARTY.

Recently a number of Republican elder statesmen and stalwarts, including Vice President Curtis, received invitations from Ithaca to grace the celebration of the services of Hugo N. Frye in founding the party. It being a busy season in Washington, none of them could throw a couple shirts into a grip and make the trip, but they could and did applaud by post the consideration given the name of the grand old man of the grand old party. Since then they have been getting out from under. It was a Cornell joke, Mr. Frye being a gentleman whose name dissolves, under the acid of the joke, into its real elements of You Go and Fry.

It has been some time since the Republicans in Washington thought anything about the Republican party and they could ask how they were to know who founded it and why. Maybe it was Stephen Douglas, the Little Giant, in an effort to hold the south in the party on the slavery issue. Ask some of them to a celebration in his honor. If they don't come they will write letters. There are some among the Republican Conscript Fathers who know better. They know the Republican party was organized at Westerville, O., probably by Clarence True Wilson and Bishop Cannon. There are others who would say it was founded by Ignatius Donnelly, but that fools no one who knows that its papa was Jerry Simpson.

Editorial of the Day

SPOTTING OF CRIME SOURCES.

[Kansas City (Mo.) Times.]

Chicago is to be credited with a remarkable, wholly constructive and suggestive achievement. Through its crime commission and its newspapers it has listed and exposed to public view its most dangerous criminals. It has put the names on the board so all may see them. It has said in effect: "Here are the sources of crime; here are the persons who constitute a public menace; here are people this community must deal with, if it is to be secure in the lives of its citizens and its property."

It is a familiar fact in this country that the bulk of crime originates with a single class, a criminal class. It comes from people who have made crime a business or profession; people who spend their whole time plotting lawlessness and executing their schemes. The members of this class usually are known, or should be known, to the police and other authorities. They ought to be spotted, made known to the public, tried and convicted, ceased their activities or cleared out.

Where the last course is chosen, other communities must become alert and prepare to protect themselves from criminals who move in from other places. The police department of Kansas City has promised that kind of activity with reference to a possible overflow from Chicago. Other places can do the same.

Let the criminal class be exposed and the public warned. Then let the follow-up work come and the field for crime will be less inviting.

WHY THERE ARE DRINKERS.

FOR several years there waged a controversy over this question: Does the drunkard become touched in the head because of drink or does he become a drunkard because he is touched in the head? In later years there has been something of an agreement that both sides were right.

In the January number of Mental Hygiene R. R. Peabody discusses the mental cure of chronic alcoholism. He bases treatment on the thesis that the drunkard was touched in the head before he began and still more so as the effects of the drug.

The affliction falls rather more on the field of personality disturbance than in that commonly called insanity or mental disturbance. The impulse to become a drunkard is not inherited, but the personality peculiarities that supply the foundations are. Home environment and home influences are more important factors and possibly training or lack of it ranks first among the fundamental causes.

He divides alcohol addicts—the chronic drinkers—into three groups: Those who go on periodic debauches, abstaining during the intervals; the men who drink nothing during the day but who start when they stop work and drink until they sleep; and, finally, the group who must have a drink when they get up in the morning and who keep nicely snozzled all day. There is personality and mental sickness which belongs to each group and in each case differs from the other.

Peabody writes only about the third group, the day drinkers. He speaks of them as needing a drink rather than wanting one. Neither mentally nor physically can they function properly or feel comfortable and happy until they get just about so drunk. He has nothing to say about methods of getting these men on the water wagon. His problem is the far more important one of keeping them there. Whatever the form of alcoholism or, for that matter, morphinism, cocainism, or other drug drunkenness, getting the man sobered up is fairly easy. The cold turkey cure, jail cure, and all kinds of frank, honest drug cures work reasonably well.

Then comes the problem of taking a broken reed and converting it into an iron staff. And that is no easy job. To take a personality which was diseased to begin with, and then made worse by indulgence in alcohol, cowardice, fancy flights, and emotional drunks, and convert it into character and stability, requires intelligence and work. He says each case requires from fifty to one hundred hours of the trainer's individual attention and the wholehearted, intelligent coöperation of the subject. In some instances the job can be accomplished in a few months. In some, years are required. In some, no bricks can be made because there is no straw.

The principles are given in Mental Hygiene. The details, the instructor and subject must develop.

EXCESS OF URIC ACID.

W. R. S. writes: I have been told that I have too much uric acid in my blood. What causes this condition? Might it be certain foods? If so, what are they?

REPLY.

Among the causes of excess uric acid and urates are eating too much sweetbreads, roe, rich meats, beef tea, and possibly too much condiments and caffeine beverages.

About all that is needed for cure is to change the diet from one rich in meat and eggs to one rich in potatoes, bananas, and other vegetables and fruits.

Excess urates is not an important source of trouble.

RESULT OF SOME FRIGHT.

Mrs. C. R. C. writes: I am much concerned regarding my 16 months old child. At all unexpected noises, such as the ringing of the telephone or doorbell, a strange voice, or the entrance of a strange person into our home, he runs to me terrified and screaming for me to pick him up. Some one told me this would lead to St. Vitus' dance. Is this correct?

REPLY.

Some one has frightened the child. You must train him out of his fears. This condition has no particular relation to St. Vitus' dance.

TIME FOR TINKERING

Chicago, June 3.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I live in a five family house and occupy the second floor front. I have a child three years of age who plays around inside all day. The folks downstairs have complained that we are noisy. What I wish to know is this: At what time of the day is a tenant allowed to do the necessary repairing around the home, such as repairing a chair, hanging a picture, or applying a nail here or there, the kind of work that is liable to be a bit noisy? Is there any specified time one must do such things and how long at one time is one allowed to do them? M. G.

There is no express time limit in our statutes or ordinances, but noises amounting to legal nuisances can be enjoined, or, if the facts amount to disorderly conduct, can be stopped by the police. In determining whether a noise amounts to a nuisance the previous character of the neighborhood must be considered.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

OVERDUE BOARD BILL IGNORED.

Gary, Ind., June 3.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—A owes B a board bill amounting to $50. A has refused to talk to B about the debt. The debt is seven months old. A is working, but he has no specified salary. He has a car which is mortgaged. 1. Is there any way in which B can collect this debt? 2. What steps would you advise? L. A.

1. His equity in the car would be subject to the creditor.
2. Place the claim in the hands of an attorney for collection on a contingent fee.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

FENCE SHUTS OUT LIGHT.

Chicago, June 3.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I bought a house which stands on the property line. I have been living in it for two years. The owner next door has a fence running along my basement which keeps out light and air. Is there a law which would permit me to make my neighbor remove the fence? S. M.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

Hew to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

Then, Where'll They Get 'Em?

All the foreign nations are roaring about not buying any more stuff from us if the Smoot-Hawley-Grundy and so forth tariff bill becomes a law. Then where will they get their native products to sell to Yank tourists? We remember buying a pair of lovely beaded moccasins years ago from a poor ignorant Indian up around Hudson Bay. His squaw had worked for years, he said, making those moccasins, and he wept because we only gave him five bucks for 'em. And it was a year later when we happened to turn the moccasins inside out that we found them stamped with the name of a mail order house in Chicago. And we bought a genuine Mandarin coat out in China. And one of those birds who is always taking the joy out of life gave it the acid test one day and found the cunning words, "Made in the United States of America," in the selvage. And we knew a girl that always made an awful hullabaloo about a Spanish shawl she bought in Seville, and we gave it the once over one time and found that it was made in Cohoes, N. Y. And over in Paris and Rome you can run across antiques centuries old that were made last month in Grand Rapids, worm holes and all. All right, if foreign nations won't buy our stuff we'll get even. We won't buy the things back again for twenty or thirty times more than they cost.

FETTERS.

The bindings that bound you are broken,
  But my bonds are holding me tight,
What are they, you ask? . . . I have spoken,
  I put them to bed every night!

Yes, you would go! . . . Could I hold you?
  Your anchors were broken and gone,
And what of my own? . . . I have told you,
  I dress them each morning at dawn!

E. LESLIE SPAULDING.

CHICAGO IN SUDDEN DAZE.

(Being somewhat in the maner and style of John Drury's most excellent guide book, "Chicago in Seven Days.")

"To begin with," I said to Miss Ima Rubbernek, "we will visit the stockyards."

Miss Rubbernek had just arrived in town from Rising Sun, Neb., and had brought a letter to me from a friend out there saying she had never been in Chicago and asking me to show her all the sights. So naturally I mentioned the stockyards."

"Be your age," said Miss Rubbernek, "I hain't read about this burg for years without knowing something. We're standing right now in the middle of the loop, hain't we? Well, then, what time is the next murder?"

"You have Chicago all wrong, Ima," I said.

"That's what you say. But I hain't goin' to move off this corner till somebody pulls off a murder or two. You bet I know all about this town."

"Our visitors, Ima dear," I continued, patiently, "always go out to the stockyards first. There's some sort of law about it."

"Go chase yourself, kid," replied Miss Rubbernek. "You may think us hicks from the tall grass don't read the papers, but you bet we do. Take me over and get me a good place to stand so I can see the next massacre."

"But the stockyards——" we interposed, meekly.

"Old stuff!" declared my fair visitor. "I want to see a battle on that there Boul Mich before noon, or I'll hunt up a guide that knows his way around. There's a lot of people going past. Which one is Al Capone?"

"We will now," I said, "walk over to the Art institute and then to the Field museum and you will discover that Art has its abiding place in our lovely city."

"Tell with Art," said Miss Rubbernek, "whaddaya suppose I come to this burg for? Huh? I want to see the regular battle between Al Capone's army and Bugs Moran. I want to see Scarface Al himself, notamovie, and hear the machine guns roaring at the corner of State and Madison streets. Let's get over there quick!"

"Ima, sweetheart," I said, "you've got Chicago all wrong. If you will study the statistics, which I now take pleasure in presenting to you——" I was interrupted by a sudden burst of sharp staccato sounds.

"Hurrah," shouted Miss Rubbernek, "they're off! Let's hurry over before they can pick up the dead. How many would you say got it in that massacre? I'll bet a couple o' dozen gunmen bit the dust that time."

"That," I said more calmly than I felt, for I was a little suspicious myself, "was only the back firing of an automobile."

"It was the back firing of a bandit gang jumping on another bunch," said Miss Rubbernek, firmly. "You can't fool me. I read the papers. The trouble with you is that you live here, so you don't know nothin'. I'll tell you what! I just landed here from Rising Sun, Neb., see? So I can show you things. You follow me; I'll be the guide!"

"Yes, ma'am," I said, meekly.

"Let's go!" shouted Ima; "now for a good juicy killin'!"

LAGNIAPPE.

DOC KLEIN, Ass't Sec. Com., is out with an urge to his fellow citizens to be patriotic this summer and travel around the U. S. A. and not go gadding across to Paris, London, and goshknowswhere. Lissen, Doc! Folks don't go on a vacation trip to show their patriotism. We haven't delved very deeply into this thing, but we wonder a bit if some of them go on vacations just to see strange lands and peoples. And some like to get out of these United States just so they can do as they darn please for awhile. Nothing rough, Doc, just good clean fun, but free; y'understand, free!

"FOR OUR OWN SAKE," says the Furniture Journal, "and for the sake of the furniture industry, let's put our shoulder to the wheel and PULL." Ah, Furniture Journal, much easier would it be to lie prone on your back and inhale out.

THE BOOKSELLERS' declaring they will reduce new novels to a dollar is all very well. Keep it up, boys, reduce 'em to what they are worth, and then we can buy lots of 'em at three for a dime.

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

65 YEARS AGO TODAY

● JUNE 6, 1865.

WASHINGTON—The evidence in the conspiracy trial failed to develop anything of interest and was confined mainly to proofs of character and the whereabouts of Dr. Mudd in the early part of March. The letter in cipher found at Morehead City, N. C., was translated and turned over to the government. It is dated April 15, 1865, and says in part: "Dear John: I am happy to inform you that Pet has done his work well. He is safe and Old Abe is in hell. Now, sir, all eyes are on you. You must bring Sherman. Grant is in the hands of old Grey ere this. Red Shoes showed a lack of nerve in Seward's case, but he fell back in good order. Johnson must come; old Crock has him in charge. [Signed] 'O. B., No. 5.'"

NEW YORK—A special to the Commercial, dated Washington, May 5, says: "The Mexican question again attracts attention, Gen. Steele having been ordered to the Rio Grande with an army of observation of 30,000 men. The foreign ambassadors are greatly perplexed at the movement. It is understood that Count Montholon, the French ambassador, will demand an explanation from the state department."

CHICAGO—Maj. Gen. Hooker and staff are stopping at the Tremont house and will visit the Fair this morning.

NEW ORLEANS—Gen. Sheridan assumes command of the military division of the southwest, embracing the country west of the Mississippi and south of the Arkansas river.

30 YEARS AGO TODAY

JUNE 6, 1900.

CHINESE BOXER DEVELOPMENTS.—The Boxers are within three miles of Tientsin after defeating the Chinese government troops. Rear Admiral Kempf at Taku telegraphed to the secretary of the navy at Washington: "Engagement has commenced. Have landed forces of fifty seamen more; battalion of marines." Secretary Hay received a dispatch from Minister Conger at Peking saying that the situation was more serious and that the Boxers were trying to attack Tientsin. Russia is said to have ordered troops from Port Arthur.

LONDON.—Pretoria is in British hands, eight months after the declaration of war. Lord Roberts had scarcely announced the surrender of the Transvaal capital before he followed his dispatch with a brief telegram telling of the capture by the Boers of the Thirteenth Imperial Yeomanry on May 31 near Lindley. Lord Roberts' entry into Pretoria was made in state. Both President Kruger and Gen. Botha had left their wives to be protected by the British forces and had departed from the city.

BADENWEILER, Baden.—Stephen Crane, the American author and war correspondent, died here today at the age of 30.

ST. LOUIS, Mo.—With the exception that there were no fatalities, the violence that has marked the great street railway strike continued unabated. The differences between the transit company and the union are further from settlement than ever, and lawless gangs thronged the streets all afternoon, jeering nonunion workmen and assaulting passengers. Not a car is in operation this evening. A posse comitatus is guarding the power houses and patrolling the dangerous districts.

10 YEARS AGO TODAY

JUNE 6, 1920.

CHICAGO.—Senator Lawrence Y. Sherman was pledged enough votes yesterday to be elected national Republican committeeman from Illinois. Two hours later Mayor Thompson announced his withdrawal from the race and opened fire upon certain presidential candidates, but it is evident that he intends to go straight after Gov. Lowden.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—New York City has a population of 5,621,151, according to figures issued by the census bureau. This represents a gain in ten years of 804,268, or 17.9 per cent, the smallest percentage of increase in the history of the city, except in one decade. The small gain has created much surprise. The war is blamed for it.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Writers should confine themselves to 200 or 300 words. Give full names and addresses. No manuscripts can be returned. Address Voice of the People, The Tribune.

FARES.

Chicago, June 2.—I note Harry L. Albrecht's comparison of rates and service of telephone and transportation companies. These are not parallel cases. Why not compare transportation rates? The "L" fare in the proposed merger ordinance is to be 10 cents, the same as the present fare, which the city of Chicago calls excessive and is opposing in the federal court.

The Evanston through rate is 12½ cents. The cost of train operation is the same as in Chicago. Yet the "L" carries a passenger from Howard street to Linden avenue, Wilmette, for 2½ cents. Again, the local Evanston rate is 7 cents, as compared with 10 cents for a similar Chicago rate, although the original contract rate was 5 cents in either case, showing the Chicago rate unjust. If the ordinance is approved at the election July 1 surface lines operating in competition with "L" lines are to be discontinued and passengers must use the "L." Loop workers are not interested in the fact that some one may ride across the city for one fare, but are only interested in seeing that they, who are in the majority, pay a fair rate. A 10 cent fare from Belmont or Fullerton avenue, as an illustration, to the loop is not fair or reasonable. I will vote against the ordinance.

F. F. R.

COLD BATHS.

Chicago, June 3.—For years I have lived in the vicinity of 25th street and Wentworth avenue and have enjoyed Hardin square, one of the south side parks. I have also watched countless little children playing on the grounds, getting good and dirty and then going right in the field house and taking a real shower bath. Ninety-five per cent of them have no bath tubs at home, no steam heat, and receive little attention from their already overworked and desperate parents.

Recently, with the advent of Chicago's poverty, the park was no longer furnished with clean towels for these much needed baths, and several weeks ago hot water was discontinued. This, in my estimation, is the height of deprivation for the poor people who have availed themselves of the blessed privilege of keeping clean.

I would suggest that the city of Chicago spend what money it has appropriated for advertising cleanliness for these parks and restore at least hot water for the hot summer days to come. I, for one, would be glad to pay a fee, say 5 or 10 cents, to help defray the expense of each bath.

A. THOM.

FREE PAVING.

Chicago, June 3.—A week or so ago the Lincoln park commissioners proudly announced that five separate patches of Sheridan road between Stratford place and Grace street would be paved by five paving companies to give tangible bids for future paving contracts on a "free trial" basis. That's fine. Something for nothing secured by a political body, then passed on to the suffering taxpayer, is certainly a welcome boon. But whose bonehead idea was it to pave these five separate patches at five different times, keeping Sheridan road partly blockaded five times as long as necessary?

AHRIZ.

THE BACKGROUND OF THE NAVAL TREATY.

Chicago, May 31.—Permit me to suggest a reply to the query raised in your editorial of today, "Let the State Department Explain."

By the naval treaty terms the U. S. A. becomes a party to international diplomacy in the orient. After the world war Japan assumed an interest in southern Asia which England met by rushing the construction at Singapore of a naval base powerful enough to dominate the Pacific and Indian oceans. This forced Japanese interests to focus further northward, but even yet England did not feel safe and plans to abandon the present naval base at Hongkong as too close to Japan for safety.

Meanwhile India surges with rebellion. Japan sees her opportunity to exert further pressure on England, and through her help wrings concessions from the U. S. delegates at the naval conference. These concessions, combined with the abandonment of Hongkong by the British, leave Japan undisputed master of the Pacific ocean, leave England a free hand in India, while the U. S. A. through her delegates condones the practical abandonment of the Philippines, which Japan can take at her convenience. While Japan winks at the rape of Hindustan, American lecture platforms, newsreels, radio waves and press columns teem with the old bunk about the white man's burden, as liberty is again smothered in the blood of Indian patriots. Our misinformed, gullible public swallow anti-Indian propaganda as it swallowed anti-German, anti-Boer and anti-Irish propaganda. And we fought for democracy!

M. J. HARFORD.

A PROTEST.

Chicago, June 3.—The secretary of the metropolitan area committee of the Council of Federated Church Women was requested to write you a letter expressing the very strong protest of our body against the vicious and misleading wet cartoons appearing in your paper. The metropolitan area committee is composed of regularly elected representatives of the interdenominational groups in Cook county as well as representatives from the various denominations that have churches in the Chicago area.

MARTHA TRIMBLE, Secretary.

TEACHERS' PAY.

Chicago, June 3.—The question that the teachers of Chicago would like to have answered is: Will we or will we not get paid for the months of May and June before July 1, or will we go without our salaries all summer?

A TEACHER.

A FOREIGN BORN PRESIDENT.

Chicago, May 22.—Is it possible for the President of the United States to be of foreign birth and not to be elected by the people? In case of the death of the President, the Vice President becomes the head man, the secretary of state becomes Vice President, and would follow as President, if the original Vice President passed away. There is no law requiring that cabinet members be born in the United States; in fact, there have been some of foreign birth.

SCHOOL PATROL BOY IS HIT BY CAR; BADLY HURT

Woman Driver Is Held by Police.

Eleven year old William Rand of 5414 Eddy street, member of the traffic patrol of the Peter Reinberg Grammar school, was struck by an automobile driven by Mrs. Bessie Pearsons of 6125 Henderson street yesterday afternoon at Laramie avenue and Addison street and is not expected to live.

He suffered internal injuries and concussion of the brain. He was taken to the Belmont hospital at 4 o'clock, and at 11 last night had not regained consciousness. He was on his way home, coatless and hatless, with an armful of groceries, when he attempted to cross the street. Mrs. Henderson said he stepped directly in front of her car. She is being held at the Irving Park station.

Brother Identifies Him.

Young Rand was identified by an older brother. His father is dead. His mother is employed at the Blackstone hotel. She had not learned of the accident at a late hour.

Warren Wright, president of the Lincoln park board, offered a $500 reward for the arrest of the hit and run motorist who struck and seriously injured three park policemen at Sheridan road and Hawthorne place Wednesday.

Joseph Duello, 32 years old, 1124 South Austin boulevard, business agent of the Newspaper Drivers and Chauffeurs' union, and Mrs. James Dorney, 25 years old, 1244 West Congress street, were seriously injured yesterday when the automobile in which they were riding ran off a highway five miles north of Joliet and plunged down a 30 foot embankment.

Cop Tells of Accident.

Duello was driving at about 30 miles an hour, State Highway Patrolman Fred Lindquist said. As he attempted to slow down for a curve the front wheels of the car locked and the car went over the embankment. As it rolled down the car uprooted a tree seven inches in diameter. At St. Joseph's hospital in Joliet it was said Duello may die.

Four men were injured when their automobile, alleged to be racing, collided with another at Clark street and Grand avenue. The injured are Mike Weidener, 24 years old, 7147 Woodlawn avenue; Joseph Sanzere, 21 years old, 1108 North Lawndale avenue; Jack Henderson, 30 years old, 4949 West Austin avenue; and John Hendrickson, 4816 Monroe street.

With no deaths reported yesterday the 1930 Cook county motor toll remained at 373.

Hurled from Auto, Dies.

Hurled out of the back seat of a car in which he was sleeping when the front wheels struck a stone in the road, Charles Albright, 51 years old, a laborer of Gray's Lake, suffered a broken neck early yesterday and died last night in the Lake County General hospital at Waukegan. In the accident, which occurred near Gray's Lake, the driver, Harry Howell, and another passenger escaped injury.

OLDEST GRADUATE OF YALE CELEBRATES HIS 100TH BIRTHDAY

Cincinnati, O., June 5.—(AP)—Playmate of Abraham Lincoln, lineal descendant of the first governor of Massachusetts Bay colony, and sponsor of the legal and legislative career of Champ Clark, and oldest living graduate of Yale, all in one, E. P. Bradstreet Sr. tonight celebrated his 100th birthday anniversary.

The celebration, a dinner and speechfest, was tendered by the Cincinnati Yale club. The only incident which marred an otherwise perfect day for him was the inability of President James Angell of Yale to visit him.

Born in Cleveland on June 5, 1830, Bradstreet graduated from Yale in 1853, moved to Cincinnati and was admitted to the bar in 1865. He was active in trying cases before juries until four years ago.

He married twice; his first wife, a southerner, died soon after the civil war. At 53 he married a Congregational minister's 20 year old daughter, Harriet Herrick, Amherst, Mass.

EX-GOV. COX ASKS REPEAL OF PROHIBITION

Columbus, O., June 5.—(AP)—Former Gov. James M. Cox of Dayton, Democratic presidential nominee in 1920, declared for repeal of the federal prohibition amendment here tonight.

Addressing a statewide gathering of Democrats, Cox said:

"The people will never change the existing order by bringing back the saloon, nor will private interests ever again be permitted to become selfishly allied on any side of this issue.

"With this understanding, I unhesitantingly favor the repeal of the 18th amendment."

Cox indicated his preference for government manufacture and control of alcoholic liquor.

LOTTIE BRENNER ENJOYS TRIAL OF 'TITLED' HUSBAND

Laughs with Court Fans; Tells of Romance.

For three hours yesterday afternoon Mrs. Lottie Brenner Dechow kept Judge Daniel P. Trude's cour Trude's courtroom in an uproar while she told of her romance with her husband, Enrique Dechow, the erstwhile "Count von Buelow." She described herself as the pursued, the "count" as the pursuer in the brief romance that began in Mexico, waxed in German and waned in Chicago when she discovered she was not a countess.

LOTTIE BRENNER DECHOW.

It was an entertaining day for Mrs. Dechow. During the morning session she laughed out loud as she watched the dapper Enrique squirm while he told of how he acquired his title. Dechow was in court on an extradition complaint to take him back to Indiana where he is charged with swearing falsely when he applied for his marriage license in the name of Count Von Buelow.

Mrs. Dechow Takes Stand.

"What is your name?" asked Assistant State's Attorney Q. J. Chott as Mrs. Dechow took the stand.

"I don t know!" she shouted, and the courtroom roared with laughter. Mrs. Dechow requested the attorney to "come up closer," explaining that she had recently had an operation on her ears.

Mrs. Dechow told of meeting Dechow on an air tour of Mexico in 1928. Returning to Chicago, she said, she received a number of "hard-luck" letters from the "count," which finally persuaded her to invite him to Chicago.

Didn't Write the "Love."

"When did you decide to get married," asked Senator Barbour.

"I didn't decide," cried Mrs. Dechow. "He did the deciding. He coaxed and teased and finally I decided to get married." But Senator James Barbour, Dechow's attorney, handed her a batch of cablegrams which he said she sent to Dechow while he was in Germany. They were all signed "Love."

"Yes, I wrote them," said Mrs. Dechow. "All but the 'love.'"

Judge Trude took the case under advisement until Monday morning.

CONDON WIELDS MOP ON SECOND DAY OF SENTENCE

Seek Reduction of Contempt Term.

Thomas Condon, millionaire head of the Condon Industries, Inc., and the General Telephone Utilities company, swung a mop in alimony row in the county jail yesterday. It was the second day of his six months' sentence for direct contempt of court, imposed by Superior Judge Sabath after Condon attempted to strike and cursed Attorney Benjamin B. Davis of the law firm of Socrates & Davis in open court Wednesday.

Condon was in the receiving line yesterday morning when Warden David Moneypenny made his inspection of new arrivals. The millionaire had missed the inspection Wednesday because he arrived at the jail Wednesday afternoon. When the warden reached Condon in the line, the latter asked that he be permitted a favor. He asked to be put to work.

"Talked Too Much."

Condon was given a mop and a pail and set to work. He plied his mop vigorously. A reporter found him at work and asked him if he had anything to say.

"Not a thing," Condon said with a smile. "I've learned my lesson. I talked too much in court."

While Condon labored his attorneys presented a petition to Judge Sabath asking for clemency. Attorney Milford Olds asked that the sentence be reduced, declaring that his client was repentant. The judge set a hearing on the petition for Monday morning. Attorney Davis joined in the plea.

Wife May Aid Mercy Plea.

Condon appeared before the judge Wednesday on the motion of his wife, Mrs. Mary D. Condon of the Sherwin-on-the-lake apartments, for an injunction to restrain her husband from molesting her. She is seeking separate maintenance on charges of cruelty.

Mrs. Condon and her son, Thomas Jr., 3 years old, left for the east after Condon was sentenced. If the judge denies the plea for mercy she may return to ask a reduction in the sentence, Attorney Davis said.

PROWLER LOOTS HOME.

As Mrs. Mary Satas was enjoying the sunshine on the rear porch of her home at 1144 Orleans street yesterday a prowler entered her living room and took a purse containing $12 in cash, two diamond rings valued at $200 each, and a $75 wrist watch.

REBELS OF INDIA STRIKE; MOURN GANDHI IN JAIL

Thousands Defy Police in Gigantic Parades.

BY CHARLES DAILEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BOMBAY, India, June 5. — Indian Nationalists observed a hartal, or cessation of work, today in mourning for Mahatma Gandhi, the "holy man" and civic disobedience leader, who ended his first month as a British prisoner in a cell of the Yeravda prison near Poona. In Bombay processions were the feature of the day.

The only disorder here occurred in the mill section, where 200 natives stoned strike breakers. Police officers also stoned by the mob quelled the disturbers. About 65,000 mill workers refused to enter the factories.

Police Seize Gandhi Portraits.

Thousands of Nationalists marched through the city despite police orders. Portraits of Gandhi carried by the paraders were confiscated by policemen. Except for women singing the national "freedom" song, complete silence reigned in the parades. After the Bombay parades, the natives gathered in the Maidan esplanade for huge massmeetings.

Authorities today sentenced 140 natives, who raided the Worli salt works. One hundred and fifteen of them were sentenced to three months' rigorous imprisonment, while 25 juveniles, sentenced to one day simple imprisonment, announced they would raid the Wadala salt pile tomorrow if not given stiffer sentences.

Picketing of shops, selling foreign made clothing and liquor, is increasing everywhere, with complete defiance of Viceroy Lord Irwin's ordinances.

Troops Repel Afghan Tribesmen.

[Copyright: 1930: By the New York Times.]

PESHAWAR, June 5.—A battle between a force of Afghan tribesmen, numbering between 7,000 and 10,000, and a composite brigade of British and Indian troops of all arms was fought outside of Peshawar today. The latest reports are that the tribesmen are on the run.

There has been firing on both sides, but casualties are few. It is definitely stated no British soldiers are listed. Before the battle opened, early this morning, the tribesmen had sniped at armored trucks, cut all wires between Peshawar and Bara fort, and damaged all bridges.

The British met the invasion with a battery of 18 pounders, cavalry, infantry, and airplanes. Peshawar itself is an armed camp, with troops standing by to halt any attack on the city.

Viceroy Appeals to Moslems.

SIMLA, India, June 5.—(AP)—Viceroy Lord Irwin received a deputation of 30 leading Punjab Moslem land owners yesterday afternoon and appealed to them to coöperate with the British government in maintaining order in the empire.

The viceroy expressed gratification at the loyal support the government is receiving from the Moslems in many parts of the country, and at their condemnation of efforts being made to disturb the peace.

He reiterated the government's aim to give India eventual dominion status, with assurance of full consideration of Indian aspirations and minority rights.

FIVE ELECTION OFFICIALS GET FINES IN COURT

County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki yesterday fined five election officials, two of them women, who served in the Second precinct of the Twenty-fourth ward at the election of November, 1926. Those fined and the amounts paid are: William Pestine, $250; Michael Levin, $250; Herman Abraham, $250; Rose Klopere, $150, and Irene Richmond, $150. The five were charged with posting fraudulent returns.

GRAIN HOLDINGS SET U. S. RECORD, ESTIMATES SHOW

Federal Market Agencies Face New Situation.

BY PAUL POTTER.

A situation said to be without precedent in the annals of grain marketing yesterday was confronting officials of the two marketing organizations sponsored by the federal farm board which have passed through months of unusual situations during the governmental operations in the wheat pits.

Government estimates place the probable holdings of grain in this country on July 1 at 270,000,000 bushels, or about one-third of last year's production. The "carry over" in wheat is reported to be the largest the United States has ever had.

Another Crop Soon to Start.

With this amount of grain already in storage, traders pointed out that the first of the new crop will soon be on the way to market. News of winter wheat harvesting in the southwest yesterday was reaching officials of the Grain Stabilization corporation and the Farmers' National Grain corporation, the two federal agencies. Another factor in the situation, it was said, is the high tariff barriers raised in Europe against grain imports from the United States and other grain growing countries.

Meanwhile reports of steady selling of Canadian grain for export came from lake port shipping officials. Grain shipments thus far out of Montreal, practically all of them wheat, were officially given as 16,890,494 bushels, as compared with 26,458,854 bushels at the same date last year, and 24,955,911 two years ago. Officials at Montreal said they had orders on hand for 1,655,692 bushels.

Other Ports Show Increases.

Some increase in wheat shipments from Fort William and Port Arthur was reported, indicating further sales of Canadian grain to foreign consumers. These ports relaesed 7,571,000 bushels last week and 4,300,000 bushels the week before, both figures much lower than previous years' exports at this time.

Canada, according to crop statisticians, will have between 70,000,000 and 90,000,000 bushels of wheat left on July 1, as compared with 118,000,000 bushels a year ago. Wheat pool officials have been reported as indicating a readiness to sell whenever buyers entered the North American market, and at prices said to be as much as 8 cents a bushel under quotations in the United States.

Italy Raises Import Duties.

An announcement was received yesterday that Italy had raised its import duties on wheat and flour to 87 cents a bushel, in the face of a reported crop shortage there.

A compilation by Nat Murray, Chicago statistician, shows that all foreign import duties reduced to the wheat equivalent, would have made a total tariff of $16,000,000 in 1924, and $182,000,000 on the 1930 basis. Nearly every European country has raised a duty wall against grain imports.

Assures Farmers of U. S. Aid.

George S. Milnor, president of the Grain Stabilization corporation, said recently that he and the other officials were aware they had in recent months "overcome some difficult problems" and further realized the task of handling the oncoming summer's grain harvest in the face of local and international market conditions.

He gave assurance to millers and farmers that while no attempt would be made by the government to "peg" or fix prices of grain, the stabilization corporation stood ready to insure what it regarded as fair prices.

END TESTIMONY IN HEARING ON GRAIN CHARGES

Hearing of testimony in the first case ever presented by the federal grain futures administration closed yesterday after attorneys for the government had rested their case and those for the defense entered motions to strike out evidence presented and dismiss the case.

The complaints, charging three Chicago grain dealers with having participated in the manipulating of grain trading prices, were instigated by Secretary of Agriculture Arthur M. Hyde against William B. Massey and Philip and John Reddy of Chicago. Attorneys John R. Nicholson and James J. Coughlin for the respondents declared none of the complaints had been proved.

The motions will be presented by Referee John C. Brooke before a commission composed of the federal attorney general and the secretaries of commerce and agriculture in Washington for decision.

SUICIDE VERDICT RETURNED.

A coroner's jury yesterday returned a verdict that Mrs. Marion Bell of 267 Washington boulevard, Oak Park, who killed herself with a revolver in her room, "came to her death from a self inflicted gun shot wound while she was despondent over ill health."

SLAYS MEDIUM AS HER COSTLY HEALING FAILS

Funds Gone, He Settles Account with Gun.

New York, June 5.—[Special.]—Lawrence Collins, a white faced, undersized Brooklyn house painter, climbed to the second floor of 428 Hicks street in the stifling heat early tonight, carrying an automatic pistol in his pocket.

The climb was painful because his legs had been injured five years ago in an elevator accident; yet he had climbed these same stairs at frequent intervals in the hope that he might be cured by Mrs. Palmira Sabala and her husband, Bruno Sabala, who described themselves as "spiritualist mediums" who could "cure all classes of diseases."

Demands Return of Money.

When Collins knocked Mrs. Saballa opened the door.

"I want my money back," he quavered. "I want the $500 you have taken from me in the last four years. You are a fake. You have not cured me."

Mrs. Sabala laughed, but when he became insistent in his demands for the money she tried to push him back into the hall.

"Go away," she said. "You are an ingrate. You do not appreciate what I have done for you."

Collins jerked the weapon from his pocket and fired at the woman's chest. She fell and he started to run.

Just at this moment Bruno Sabala came up the stairs holding in his arms Frank, his one year old baby. As he heard the shot he put the baby on the floor and grappled with Collins. Again the automatic spat fire—four times—and Sabala fell with wounds in both arms and two flesh wounds in the abdomen.

Collins fled down the stairs. At the door he brushed past Mrs. Isaline Kelkboom, a sister of Mrs. Sabala, but a block away a patrolman took him into custody.

Gives All His Money.

Collins frankly admitted, according to the police, that he had done the shooting. As he was being questioned the report came through that Mrs. Sabala was dead. Her husband, who had suffered only slight injuries, was brought to the police station later.

The little painter poured out his story rapidly. He said he had worked by Sabala's side in a factory years ago and had told him about the pains in his legs and how the doctors had failed to help. Then he told how Sabala had advised him to come to Mrs. Sabala for treatment.

"I paid them $25 down and $5 or $10 every visit the last four years," Collins said. "And when I had no more money I sold my furniture to Mrs. Sabala for $45 for the last payment."

For his money, Collins said, the woman prayed over him and rubbed his injured limbs with oils but it did no good.

TWO TIRE COMPANIES CUT PRICE; OTHERS MAY FOLLOW SUIT

New York, June 5.—(AP)—Many motorists were assured of a saving in the cost of automobile upkeep today when two tire companies—Goodyear and General—announced reductions ranging up to 5 per cent on most popular sizes. Other companies, it was reported would meet the price cut soon.

P. W. Litchfield, president of Goodyear, in announcing a cut of 5 per cent on four ply passenger tires and tubes, and smaller reductions on some heavy duty sizes, said the retail buyer was now able to buy tires at the cheapest price in history.

The reductions were coincident with the sensational drop in crude rubber prices, both in New York and London.

JURY WEIGHS FATE OF PASTOR ACCUSED BY GIRL

Alton, Ill., June 5.—[Special.]—Twelve men were trying to decide tonight whether the Rev. Alonzo Shoemaker will continue conducting Pentecostal revivals or will spend from one to ten years in state penitentiary for abducting a 19 year old girl, a former choir member in the church where he was pastor until last October.

After a trial consuming four days in City court here the case went to the jury at 4:05 p. m. today. Shoemaker was tried on an indictment charging that he took Bernice Ford to Charleston, Mo., and Marley, Mo., in April, 1928, for immoral purposes. Shoemaker also is under indictment for abduction to Florida for immoral purposes of Annette Harris and Edith Hankins, each 21, and former members of the church orchestra.

Bernice Ford testified to intimate relations with the 38 year old preacher in both Missouri towns and as a rebuttal witness today stated that they had been guilty of such relations in the Edwards Street church building in March of 1929.

GIRL "TAKEN FOR RIDE"; SCOTLAND YARD BAFFLED

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, June 5.—"Taking the victim for a ride" was practiced here again last night when the second woman in less than a month was killed in an automobile by assailants who flung her half clad body to the roadside and then sped away in the darkness.

The latest victim is an unidentified 22 year old girl. Her body was found this morning in a water filled ditch beside Horton Lane, Epsom, the scene of yesterday's Derby. Three weeks ago Carrie Whitehouse, London chorus girl, was slain and her body was thrown beside a hedge in Manchester.

This is a type of murder Scotland Yard has never before been called on to solve, and both cases so far are the blankest of mysteries. The latest victim was found by the caretaker of a nearby insane asylum, who called the police. According to police, the last victim met death by strangulation, whereas the first death was due to cocaine poisoning.

ALLOT $779,500 FOR WORK ON ILLINOIS RIVER

$197,700 Set Aside for Chicago Harbor.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 5.—[Special.]—The sum of $779,500 has been allotted by the war department for expenditure on the Illinois river link of the lakes to the gulf waterway during the next fiscal year, it was disclosed today when the 1931 allotments were made public. Allotments amounting to $39,580,090 were announced.

Today's allotments are out of the lump sum appropriation of $55,000,000 for river and harbor improvement carried in the annual army appropriation bill which was signed by the President a week ago. Inasmuch as $15,000,000 remains unallotted it will be possible for the war department to assign from this money such funds as may be necessary during the coming fiscal year toward the completion of the Illinois state waterway project, if the pending rivers and harbors bill is enacted into law. Amounts carried in the rivers and harbors bill are authorizations as distinguished from appropriations and are intended to provide a program for expenditures over a period of years.

Funds for Harbor Work.

Today's appropriation allotment for the Illinois river is to be expended under the authorization of the 1927 rivers and harbors bill for the expenditure of $3,500,000 for a nine foot channel between Utica and the mouth of the river at Grafton, Ill. The state waterway project which will be taken over by the federal government under the pending rivers and harbors bill extends from Utica north to Lockport.

A total of $26,000 is carried in the bill for examinations, surveys, and contingencies in the first and second Chicago districts. The Chicago river is alloted $33,100, while $197,700 is set aside for the Chicago harbor. The sum of $77,400 is alloted for work on Michigan City harbor and $42,000 for expenditures on the Calumet river and harbor, in Indiana and Illinois.

Wisconsin Allotments.

Wisconsin allotments follow:

Green Bay harbor, Wis., $40,000; Fox river, Wis., $55,000; Sturgeon bay and Lake Washington Ship canal, Wis., $16,000; Algoma harbor, Wis., $6,000; Kewaunee harbor, Wis., $12,500; Two Rivers harbor, Wis., $8,000; Manitowoc harbor, Wis., $5,000; Sheboygan harbor, Wis., $40,000; Port Washington harbor, Wis., $10,000; Milwaukee harbor, Wis., $140,000; Racine harbor, Wis., $14,000; Kenosha harbor, Wis., $9,600.

Some of the largest allotments are for expenditures on Mississippi and Missouri rivers. The sum of $2,250,000 is allocated for improvement of the Missouri river from Kansas City to Sioux City, Ia.

LEVELS OF ALL THE GREAT LAKES RISE DURING MAY

All of the great lakes showed a rise in level during May despite a rainfall deficiency of 2.46 inches since January, according to Horace P. Ramey, assistant chief engineer of the sanitary district. Lakes Erie and Ontario are 0.2 foot and 0.3 foot lower respectively than they were a year ago, but higher than any previous year since 1890.

Lake Michigan is 0.37 foot higher than the April stage. The average rise for the month of May since 1860 has been 0.31 foot. Lakes Michigan and Huron are 0.17 foot higher than in April. The average rise for these lakes has been 0.31 foot. Mr. Ramey pointed out that the levels of last year were exceptional, causing thousands of dollars damage, and a comparison with this year does not indicate a gradual lowering of lakes.

STADIUM SEES PROFIT ON NEXT WINTER SPORTS

Loss in First Nine Months, $53,628.

Von Porat vs. Stribling

OTTO VON PORAT and Young Stribling are going to fight after all, it seems. Ed Stevenson, Von Porat's manager, experienced a change of heart last night and agreed to accept the Stadium's terms for a bout June 18. Earlier in the day, Von Porat and Stevenson had been suspended for six months by the Illinois athletic commission after Sidney Strotz, president of the Stadium corporation, charged that Stevenson had repudiated a verbal agreement to the match between Von Porat and Stribling. Stevenson and Strotz will appear before the commission today to ask that the suspension be lifted.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

The Chicago Stadium corporation, operators of the world's largest indoor arena, probably will begin to realize a profit on its $7,000,000 investment by the end of the next winter sports season. This prediction, made last night by Stadium officials, was based on sports attractions already scheduled. For the first nine months of its operation of the Stadium, the corporation lost $53,628.41.

The Chicago Blackhawks of the National Hockey league signed a contract, it was announced yesterday by Sidney Strotz, president of the corporation, to play their home games next winter on the Stadium rink. The Shamrocks, Chicago's new entry in the American association, previously had contracted with the Stadium, insuring twice as many hockey games as last year.

Winter Income Assured.

The Blackhawks' lease is understood to be at an increased rate but the terms were not announced. Maj. Frederic McLaughlin, who heads the syndicate owning the Hawks, moved his team to the Stadium last season after three years in the Coliseum.

Six day bicycle races, professional basketball games and fights are other sport attractions scheduled.

"These assure the Stadium an income during the winter months," President Strotz said yesterday. "The summer continues to be our problem in making our investment pay dividends.

"It costs $1,851 a day to operate the Stadium," Strotz continued. "A protracted period when the Stadium is untenanted cuts into the profits we receive from fight promotions. The Stadium represents an investment of $7,187,110.06. There are 25,000 shares of preferred stock and 500,000 shares of common stock. In addition there is a first mortgage of $1,700,000. This liability originally was $1,750,000 but it has been reduced.

Lose $53,628 in 9 Months.

"From the Stadium's opening on March 28, 1929, with the Walker-Loughran fight until last Dec. 31, the gross income of the corporation minus state and federal taxes was $1,094,823.54. The direct expense during the same period was $930,212.89. Interest on the investment and depreciation amounted to $217,939.06. This left a net loss of $53,628.41.

Fight promotions have been the Stadium's main source of profit. Twenty-three have been held since the building was opened. The total receipts were $1,255,964.72. Attendance was 306,832, an average of 13,341. The average receipts were $54,607.16.

"The Madison Square Garden corporation recently released figures for its fight promotions and by comparison we have the better record," Strotz said. "Madison Square padded its record when it included several charity bouts from which it did not realize a return other than the cost of operation.

Two Are Over $100,000.

"If these fights are eliminated the Garden had an average attendance of 12,708 for 31 shows. The average receipts were $42,690.62. The Garden had three promotions which grossed between $75,000 and $100,000. We had an equal number. However, we had two shows which went over the $100,000 mark, while they had none.

"Their indoor record during this period was 18,852 who saw the Berg-Canzoneri bout."

Following is the record of the Stadium shows:

ECHO OF FARM DAYS FADES IN FIGHT CHATTER

Meanwhile Sharkey Cuffs His Sparring Mates.

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Orangeburg, N. Y., June 5.—Our scene is a high pitched, wooden amphitheater out behind an old Catskill farmhouse whose walls, that used to echo household small talk about the new calf and the south forty, now reverberate with the husky jabber of the prize fight crowd.

The fighters, prize fighter managers and prize fight reporters, sit about the dining room, a sort of pavilion extension of the old house, telling harmless lies. Every one, naturally, is a little afraid to leave. It takes a kind of courage to check out of one of these meetings, in which one's leaving automatically brings one under critical discussion.

Speculate on Godfrey.

A lot of history passes by a house in a rural district in the time that this house has been standing beside the road. In this same house, no doubt, by the light of a coal oil lamp, in the very settin' room, where an electrical business concealed in a box picks up music right out of the air, union soldiers were born and spanked briskly by country practitioners, to the end that they might march away behind the fifes to loose the downtrodden black man.

Nowadays, in the same room, one hears discussion as to whether George Godfrey, a close descendant of the free man of the south, will or will not agree to hold still for Primo Carnera, the big Italian, when they fight in Philadelphia about ten days hence. Some say that, although Godfrey has held still for many white heavyweight prize fighters in his time, permitting them to hit him on his chin for the greater glory of the Caucasian race, he will not hold still for no foreigner, but will haul back and paste Carnera one on the chin and lay him for dead with all possible expedition.

Title Really an Illusion.

There is much interest in this prize fight, in view of the fact that Jack Sharkey, one of the Caucasians for whom Godfrey may or may not have held still, is now training on these premises for a bout with Max Schmeling for the heavyweight championship of the world. That is, the New York prize fight commission says this bout will decide the heavyweight championship of the world, but, of course, one understands that the heavyweight championship is really an illusion or a figure of speech.

The point of the present case is that there is an old man on the New York prize fight commission by the name of William Muldoon who thinks the heavyweight championship is an honor beyond price or purchase. The last champion, Gene Tunney, whose winning of the championship was slightly beclouded by intrigue, bought a statue to stand as the trophy of the place and called it the Muldoon-Tunney trophy, and the best minds of the profession wish to give Mr. Muldoon the honor of officiating at an early unveiling of a new name upon the shaft.

Trade Terms in Fight Families.

So, our scene is a high pitched amphitheater, surrounded by a high, plank fence, with the resin boiling out of the pores of the boards under the fierce heat of the sun. There are tiers of seats, heavily settled with people, mostly professionals, in the few front rows, and less thickly occupied further back by country people from the territory round about, and by some thick, grandmotherly ladies, whose conversation indicates that they come from New York City and have relatives in the business. I hear a couple of them talking away, like fight managers, about bums going into the tank and guys fouling out or breaking their hands, and surmise that in prize fighting families these trade terms become familiar household chit-chat.

Jack Sharkey takes the ring. He wears an elaborated football head harness to protect his eyebrows and

Carnera K. O.'s Christner in Fourth Round

Fight Decisions

At Washington, Pa.—Harry Brown won on a technical knockout over Sammy Harris [8].
At Waterbury, Conn.—Al Brown knocked out Milton Cohen [1].

Detroit, Mich., June 5.—[Special.]—Primo Carnera has given the fans something to talk about again. The huge Italian knocked out K. O. Christner of Akron, O., in the fourth round of their scheduled ten round bout tonight before a crowd of 18,000 at the Michigan State Fair grounds.

It was the second knockout defeat charged against Christner in his career. Otto Von Porat knocked him out in nine rounds at New York last June.

The gate receipts tonight were estimated at $75,000.

For three rounds Carnera and Christner sparred around with Carnera having the edge all the way. In the fourth Primo stepped out as if he meant business, and a succession of lefts to the head slowed up the Akron baker boy, who was tiring fast.

Christner Butts Primo.

Christner, apparently, was butting Primo, who administered a rough facial massage while pushing Christner away. As a parting gesture his gloved thumb was drawn across Christner's eye.

"He's gouging him," came shouts from Christner's corner. Christner backed away rubbing a closed eye, trying awkwardly to pry it open. A moment later there was an exchange at close quarters in midring. Christner stumbled out of the clinch and into the ropes, where Carnera caught him and pounded him while his head hung over the crowd.

They were squared off again and went into a clinch. Carnera's right fist popped to the jaw and a left hook followed. The right had started Christner forward and the left turned him back. He went to the mat and was counted out.

Carnera Acts Nervous.

Before the bell sounded to start the fight Carnera looked a bit nervous. He seemed to realize that he had a fight on his hands. It was all seriousness with the Italian giant.

In behalf of Christner it must be said that he did not take the easy way out. He didn't dive. He was out. While he lasted he kept carrying the fight to Carnera.

Carnera weighed 265 pounds. Christner sealed 201. It was Carnera's 18th straight knock out since he landed in the United States. He is scheduled to meet George Godfrey, Negro giant, in his next start in Philadelphia.

Haw! Haw! Haw! Dick O'Hara, Last, Has Last Laugh

Dick O'Hara, which was under suspicion of being a race horse until his leisurely journey around the Churchill Downs track won him fifteenth place in the Kentucky Derby and made him the butt of innumerable jokes, was laughing up his fetlocks last night at some 20,000 Chicagoans who had hoped to make capital out of his feeble Derby effort.

The cause of Dick's merriment was revealed when an anonymous informant turned over to Pat Roche, chief investigator of the state's attorney's office, a ticket in the "Midwest $25,000 Kentucky Derby Sweepstakes" and suggested that he investigate the pool. The ticket bore the number of Dick O'Hara and the holder was entitled, according to the prospectus for the sweepstakes, to collect $50 for a horse which started in the Derby.

But there was the joker. The sweepstakes was operated by a group of Chicago gamblers, who disposed of their tickets at $1 each through newsboys, tipsters and bookmakers during the months preceding the running of the Derby. They advertised prizes of $100 for horses finishing fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth, and extra prizes of $50 each for any starter in the race. Just to encourage the purchasers, all of the tickets bore the name of Dick O'Hara, there being no reason to believe that any one would entertain sufficient respect for Dick's chances to start him in the race.

But the pool operators reckoned without his owner, Pat Joyce. Mr. Joyce, imbued with the idea of seeing his own colors sweeping around the track in the Derby, started the horse, although 134 of the other 149 nominees on whom tickets might have been printed were scratched before the field of fifteen went to the post.

Now, some 20,000 Chicagoans who hold tickets on Dick O'Hara are clamoring for $50, and trying to collect.

Rain Halts Sox, Yanks at 1-1 Tie in Third Inning

Rain yesterday afternoon halted the third game of the New York Yankee-Chicago White Sox series in the first half of the third inning at Comiskey park. The score was tied at 1 to 1 and Babe Ruth was at bat with two on when the storm broke loose.

The clubs are scheduled to play the last of their series this afternoon. Women will be admitted free, and Tommy Thomas and Eddie Wells will seek to aid in their entertainment.

Tomorrow the world champion Athletics will appear at Comiskey park for the first of a four game series.

JACKSON PARK GOLFERS LEAD TRIBUNE TRIALS

Qualifying Round Cut from 72 to 36 Holes.

BY HOWARD BARRY,

Another brigade of golfers took up their clubs yesterday and entered the battle for places in THE TRIBUNE's public links tournament. At every park and at all the more important fee courses they swung their sticks so skillfully that leaders were shaken in both men's and women's standings.

The crowded conditions which are expected to slow up play over the week-end have prompted officials of the tournament to fix 36 holes as the limit for the qualifying rounds instead of 72. This will permit an even greater number to get their cards to THE TRIBUNE golf editor before the deadline, June 16.

Jackson Park Leads.

Jackson park has earned more places among the present leaders than any other. Good cards have come in from Evergreen, Cherry Hills, Edgebrook and many other fee courses, but the park links of the west side have shown few formidable scores in spite of the fact that many excellent golfers are known to use them. So that's a tip for you Garfield and Columbus park golfers to start hitting the ball.

Do not feel that you have to shoot in the low 80s to earn a place, for you are in no danger of being matched against Bobby Jones or Glenna Collett. If you play once or twice a week and shoot a fairly consistent game don't be backward about sending in your card, even though it may seem a bit high. Remember that the mental hazards of match play may turn in your favor and on overconfident or overanxious opponent may help you toward one of the cups which THE TRIBUNE will present to the man and the woman who comes out on top.

Remember the Rules.

Don't forget the conditions for qualifying competition. You must shoot two 18 hole rounds over a public course of your choosing and at the end of each round mail your card to THE TRIBUNE golf editor. It must be signed by at least one member of your foursome and carry your own address and telephone number. The 32 best men and the 32 best women will qualify for match play. Remember the deadline—June 16.

171 IN CHICAGO TRIALS

One hundred and seventy-one golfers will compete in 36 holes of medal play June 16 at Briergate in the Chicago sectional qualifying round of the national open tournament. The seventeen who turn in the best scores will represent this district in the 72 holes of championship play at the Interlachen Country club, Minneapolis, July 10, 11, and 12.

Qualifying play will be held simultaneously in twenty districts throughout the United States to boil down an entry list of 1,140 to 112. In addition there are 38 players who are exempt from this preliminary play and these will bring the championship field to 150.

Among the more prominent amateurs of the Chicago district who will tee off at Briergate are: Jack Westland, Sunset Ridge; George Dawson, Glen Oak; Billy Sixty, Ozaukee; Gus Novotny, Edgewood Valley; Chick Evans, Edgewater; Rudolf Knepper, Onwentsia; Gus Fetz, and Keefe Carter.

The pros who are expected to give a good account of themselves include: Bob MacDonald, Chicago; Frank Walsh, Morton Grove; Willie Hunter, Lake Forest; Jock Hutchison, Glen View; Harry Cooper, Glen Ellyn; L. B. Ayton, Evanston, and Frank Williams, Skokie.

Bantam Champ Knocks Out Foe in First Round

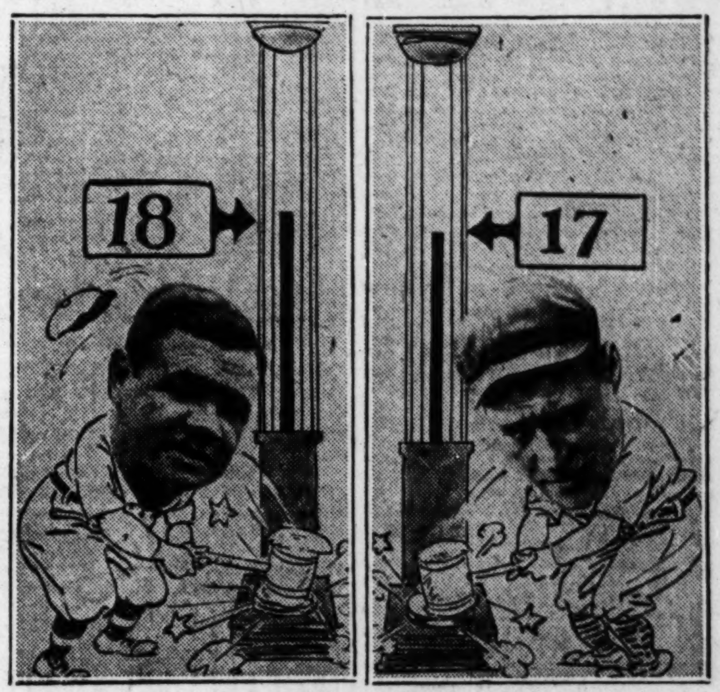
WHAM! UP IT GOES



Hack Wilson swung the mallet in Boston yesterday and sent the indicator one notch below Babe Ruth. The game of ring the bell goes merrily on with both home run sluggers ahead of Ruth's 1927 pace which brought 60 homers and the major league record.

Ten U.S. College Track Champs Defend Titles at Stagg Field

Preliminaries in the ninth annual track and field championships of the National Collegiate Athletic association start this afternoon at 3 o'clock on Stagg field. Final competition in the 15 events will be held tomorrow at 2:30 p. m.

Ten athletes, first place winners in 1929, are defending their titles. Three of the four men who established five new records last year are included again in the army of the nation's finest, who seek the highest track and field honors.

George Simpson of Ohio State, who established new marks in the 100 yard and 220 yard dashes, returns for his final college meet. Harlow Rothert, of Stanford, defends his shot put title, and Tom Warne, co-champion last year in the pole vault, also seeks to retain his honors.

Six Others Return.

The other defending champions are:

440 yard run—Walter [Northwestern].

High hurdles — Rockaway [Ohio State].

Low hurdles—Anderson [Washington].

High jump—Shelby [Oklahoma].

Broad jump—Gordon [Iowa].

Javelin—Mortenson [Southern California].

Comparison of records of this year's contestants indicates at least four of the national collegiate records will be broken while two others are in danger. Eric Krenz of Stanford is expected to have no trouble bettering the mark of 159 feet 1⅞ inches in the discus. Rothert should break his own mark in the shot put established last year at 50 feet 3 inches. Tom Warne and Verne McDermont, Illinois captain, are slated to vault better than 13 feet 8¾ inches, the mark made last June by Warne and R. W. Edmonds of Stanford.

Ralph Hill of Oregon is the best of the milers, for he has run 4:12.4 this year, defeating R. W. Kizer of Washington, former national collegiate champion, by a foot. Ray Swartz of Western State Teachers' college, Kalamazoo, has done 4:16.7.

Sentman, Martin Seek Marks.

The low hurdle and two mile records may be broken. Lee Sentman of Illinois is shooting at Cuhel's time of 23.2 seconds. Charles Musinger of Pennsylvania State, second in the intercollegiates last week, leads the two milers who hope to better Dave Abbott's mark of 9 minutes 28.8 seconds. Orval Martin, Purdue's versatile distance runner, will go after the half mile record.

Qualifying races today will be equally as good as the finals. There are 17 sprinters in the 100 yard dash who have run under 10 seconds. Seventeen entries in the 220 yard dash have broken 22 seconds, and 15 of the quarter milers have been timed under 50 seconds.

George Simpson, Herbert Meier of Iowa State and Frank Wykoff of Southern California have marks of 9.4 seconds. One step back come Eddie Tolan, Cy Leland and Claude Bracey, each of whom has scored marks of 9.6 seconds.

More than 70 colleges and universities are represented. Southern California is the favorite for the title, while Illinois is the hope of the Western conference.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Boston, Mass., June 5.—The supposedly crippled Cubs turned loose another base hit hurricane today, and their current winning streak now numbers eight in a row. The eighth of the string was accomplished by 10 to 7 with such ingredients as homer No. 17 by Hack Wilson and a circuit blow by Gabby Harnnett with two on contributing to the sweep of the series from McKechnie's Braves.

For a time this afternoon it looked as if the string of victories was about to be snipped by the Braves' shears. They turned loose some well directed shots against Young Bob Osborn in the first inning and assumed a three run advantage. The champions whittled that down a bit and finally went ahead with their home run attack in the fifth.

Aid by Pitcher's Wildness.

Bob Smith, the toughest man of the Braves' staff so far as the Cubs are concerned, was picked to put a stop to the winning spurt, but it didn't take long to wear him down. When the Cubs got serious about their work in the fifth and drove a couple of balls out of the park, not to mention a couple of singles, all good for four runs, Smith resigned to let Lefty Brandt throw the remainder of the game.

The Cubs slipped out of town immediately after the game to rest in stationary beds in New York prior to looking at the pitching of Dazzy Vance in Brooklyn tomorrow. Root will hurl against the league leaders, provided he shows he is fully recovered from a cold.

Welsh doubled to right and made the preliminary arrangement in the splurge that let the Braves hop away to a three-run lead in the first inning. He went to third on Maranville's fly to Cuyler. After Sisler had been retired, Berger slapped the first pitch through short for a single, Welsh scoring. Then Chatham walked and followed Berger across the plate on a two bagger by Spohrer.

The Cubs took advantage of two passes to score their first run in the second. Wilson fanned. Then Stephenson and Grimm walked, and Hartnett fouled to the catcher. Beck produced a single to center, sending Stevie over the counter. Osborn bounced to Smith to close the inning.

Stevie Drives in Two Runs.

It was an additional display of big heartedness by Smith in the third that let the Cubs get on the trail of two runs. English and Cuyler walked after one was out. Wilson fanned again, but he voiced considerable complaint about the third strike. Hack probably felt better when he saw Stephenson clout Smith's first pitch for a double to left, English and Cuyler scoring and tying the count at 3.

Numerous happenings in the home third pushed the Braves ahead again by one run. A double by Maranville started the attack. Sisler fouled out. The fourth ball to Berger was a wild pitch, letting the Rabbit go to third. Chatham sailed a long fly to Cuyler, and Maranville scored after the catch.

It was Wilson's homer that set the guns booming in the four run advance that put the Cubs in the lead in the fifth. Hack's turn came with one out. He pulled the trigger on the first pitch and the ball went on a long journey into the seats in center for No. 17. Then Stephenson and Grimm singled and loped around the circuit when Hartnett clouted his homer. The Braves recaptured one of these runs in the home fifth on Welsh's triple.

Blair and Cuyler collaborated in the seventh to score a run off Brandt. After Osborn had lofted to center, Blair lined past third for two bases. He strolled over to third while Maranville was throwing out English. Then Cuyler scratched a hit past Maguire and Blair tallied.

Singles by Sisler and Spohrer produced a run for the Braves in the eighth, so as a matter of precaution the Cubs returned with two in the ninth. English walked with two gone and scored when Cuyler tripled to center. Maranville made a bum throw trying to catch Cuyler going into third, so the runner continued home.

TIPPY TOE TAKES WILDWOOD PURSE FROM CAMP BOSS

Runs Around Fast Field; Dedicate Third.

BY FRENCH LANE.

When the American Derby and the Illinois Oaks are run at Washington Park wise people will pay some attention to a 3 year old filly which answers to the name of Tippy Toe.

The daughter of Polymelian-Kitty Williams demonstrated her running ability yesterday when she beat a fast field in the Wildwood purse, the 6 furlong event which featured the program. Camp Boss, an even money favorite, finished a nose behind her. The fleet Dedicate wound up third.

Tippy Toe, at nearly 5 to 1 in the betting, won the Wildwood because she could outrun all the others which faced the barrier. She didn't have any good luck in the race. Camp Boss was the fortunate one, going away flying when the barrier lifted, while Tippy Toe and Dedicate were slow to begin and had to race around the field to get into contention.

Dedicate Takes Lead.

Dedicate showed his old time lightning speed going down the back stretch, and by the time they hit the turn his nose was showing in front. He had Camp Boss licked, and it looked as if he would gallop on to victory.

But after losing much ground on the turn for home, Tippy Toe came up with a rush and, racing out toward the center of the track, gradually overcame Camp Boss and Dedicate and was going away toward the end. After Tippy Toe whipped Dedicate the latter seemed to lose all interest in the race and let Camp Boss come again in the final stages to beat him out of the place money. Dedicate was thrown off his stride in a bumping match with Camp Boss.

Tippy Toe ran the six furlongs in 1:13 2-5 over a track which had been dulled by a shower.

Sidney Grant Wins.

Another 3 year old, but not eligible for the Derby, scored at long odds in the Avalon Park. The winner was Sidney Grant, owned by Abe Bartelstein of Chicago and ridden by Jockey Charley Corbett.

Sidney Grant, a son of Maintenant-Flittersan, was cut out for a great race horse. The Chicagoan bought him at a fancy figure but Sidney didn't do so well in his 3 year old campaign at the winter tracks and never showed a great effort until he conquered a lot of older horses in the Avalon.

The Chicago colt took the lead as the field headed into the stretch, snatching it away from Listo, and had to be very game to withstand the late rush of Listo and Chariot. But Jockey Corbett gave him a rousing ride and he stuck it out.

He ran the mile out of the chute in 1:41 1-5 which was good time over the dull track. He was a long shot in the betting and paid $23.60 to win Listo was the heavily backed favorite.

Army Nine Elects Hoy, Chicagoan, 1931 Captain

Charles Hoy, first classman at the United States Military academy and a son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hoy, 4152 Washington boulevard, has been elected captain of the 1931 Army baseball team. Hoy was graduated from St. Mel's High school.

IT'S PAY DAY FOR THREE AS DAD, SONS SPLIT POOL

Papa Dougherty Gets $79,000; Boys the Rest

New York, June 5.—[Special.]—An open peace conference held on the roof settled the little family argument of the Doughertys today about that $149,000 won yesterday in the Army and Navy Veterans' sweepstake on the English Derby.

Thirty-five thousand dollars goes to Edward P. Dougherty, 18 year old broker's clerk, who bought the winning ticket for $1, either for his own account or for his father's.

Thirty-five thousand dollars goes to his brother, Daniel Jr., who paid 50 cents for half of it.

Daniel Dougherty Sr., doorman of the Copley Plaza apartments in Brooklyn, gets the remainder, $79,000, but he has to pay all the taxes.

"Whom would you rather have get the money, the government or your dear old father?" asked Harry F. Marks, agent for the sweep and pacificator-in-chief, and that seemed to settle it with the boys.

"The old guy," they decided after a little hasty reckoning. And that was that. Even the spectators who had crowded the platform of the elevated station across the street to get a look at the conference—the roof was too crowded for every one—set up a cheer.

There will be peace for a while in the Dougherty family, and Mr. Dougherty Sr., Mr. Dougherty Jr., Edward Dougherty, and Mr. Marks went to Quebec tonight for the payoff at the main office of the sweepstake there.

A week or so ago Daniel Jr. bought a ticket to the Derby sweepstake and offered Eddie half. Eddie bought another and sold half to his brother for 50 cents. He gave the cardboard to his father to keep and maybe his father gave him $1 for it—or maybe he didn't. It depends on whose story you believe.

Eddie's was the winning ticket, calling for $149,000, and everybody claimed it. Papa mailed it to Quebec under the rules of the sweep. Eddie and Daniel Jr. threatened to go up there under their own power and collect—giving him nothing, since the ticket was in Eddie's name. Mr. Marks said nobody would be paid until the Doughertys settled it, and it took a lot of talk and compromise and outside help to settle it.

AX FRAMED ON INKS; TELLS PRO HOW TO HIT 'EM

t Schmeling Quickly Discovers Joke.

BY HARVEY WOODRUFF.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ndicott, N. Y., June 5.—Herr Max meling was a golfer, not a fighter, ay. Possibly some might regard an exaggeration to call Max a fer, but gauged by the standards of r correspondent, Schmeling was a fer.

laying in fast company of a best l match, Schmeling and a young w York professional, Walter Kozak, n 5 and 4 from Drs. Fralick and ith of New York. The German ager's contribution was 101 kes.

he idea started as a "frameup" the good natured German. He s told all his opponents were novices d that Kozak never had played be- e. Whereupon Max volunteered to ch Kozak what little he had learned his brief pastiming. He said he s new, but would be glad to show partner how to address the ball.

Max Learns He's Kidded.

his he did. From the first tee x had about 160 yards, slightly off ection but still on the fairway. zak caused the boxer's eyes to open de when he cracked out a scream- g 280 yard effort nearly to the edge the first green.

Kozak exclaimed, "What you wed me must have been all right." hmeling soon recognized the joke, tering heartily into the spirit of occasion. Kozak tied the course ord of 72. Schmeling's 101 was his t score so far.

Aside from his golf the German mpsey enjoyed a day of almost mplete relaxation. In his training does not punch the air-filled or vy sandbag. That is in direct con- st to the Dempsey he resembles in many other ways, for Jack always s clever against the light bag, and imed the heavy bag developed his ists.

Prefers Sparring Mates.

Schmeling's argument is that in the g he will oppose animate, not in- mate, objects. So he has had sev- een different sparring partners. By s means he hopes to acquire expe- nce against different styles of fight- . Frequent substitutions among his rring partners would be necessary, yway, for Max gives them real bbings and takes it from them if y can give it.

ecker Times Wood Thrushes' Night Concert

BY BOB BECKER.

esque Isle River, Michigan, June 5. e have seen this part of the north ntry at nearly every season of the r. Last fall we roamed the virgin ber when winter was closing in. A years ago we got up here early he spring to play tag with the ice s on Gogebic and catch wall eyed e. Later, when summer had ar- ed, we returned to sample the fish- and camp in the pine country. ut of all the seasons or kinds of ther that the year's cycle brings, one can surpass late May and first week in June.

ast night we stood outside of a log cabin where we spent the ht, to clock the songs of the white oated sparrows and the thrushes. idea was to see how late these gsters would sing as the twilight w was fading in the west.

t 8:27 standard time we heard the call of the white throats. It was k in the big forest, but in the west as still quite light. With the last the bats ruled the air around cabin, while inside the mice began take up their nocturnal prowlings.

Echo of Farm Days Fades in Fight Jabber

ears. His, ears, by the way, are neat and shapely.

Mr. Sharkey boxes one round with Johnny Grosso, a thick legged Italian with a massed and meandering nose and punched-up lips. Johnny used to be a golf caddy in Westchester county, the same territory that Gene Sarazen and Johnny Farrell trudged over when they were boys, toting bags of kindling and scrap iron for duffers who couldn't shoot within 25 strokes of them.

Grosso went just so far and then began to go back but, at that, he has made just as much money fighting as Sarazen or Farrell made at golf. He was a stablemate of Tunney's and fought semi-finals on all the great championship programs of Tex Rickard's last years. But now he is going backward and finds himself sparring with a contender for the heavyweight championship for $25 a day.

In the first round Grosso is well behaved. He is a rough, buffeting prize fighter, but a bit ponderous, whereas Sharkey is quick. Sharkey whips up a left into the arch of Johnny's wishbone, a left to his crushed nose; brings over a right to the head and rips up a right, rasping his features, in a clinch.

Grosso stumbles through the round and Paul Cavalier comes in. Cavalier is more frisky, but not so rugged as Grosso. He carries Sharkey through a spirited but harmless round of boxing and climbs through the ropes, out from under the wooden umbrella which shades the ring, as Grosso climbs back in.

Grosso Jars Sharkey.

Grosso, just before the closing bell, rips in a left hook and a right cross, both to the jaw, and Sharkey wobbles an instant. Sharkey is starting after him, on murder intent, when the bell rings and Cavalier climbs in again.

Grosso takes a suck at the water bottle, gargles, spews the water into his hands and splashes it on his face. Then he starts to leave.

"Hey, wait!" Sharkey yells. "You tried to murder me. Stick for another round."

"Two rounds a day," says Grosso. "I'm a union man."

"You tried to flatten me," Sharkey insists.

"No, Jack," Grosso says in a placating voice, "I'm your pal."

"Yeah," Mr. Sharkey replies. "Says you! I'll get you tomorrow."

After Cavalier's second round, old King Solomon adjusts his headgear and wobbles into the ring. He is gray. His face is pock marked and punched up. He bounces around on his heels in the grotesque gallops of fighters who have been hit too much. Sharkey fumbles and fools with him. Old Solomon grunts and swings his legs and makes motions with his arms.

So the workout ends. Sharkey shadow boxes a few minutes. The state troopers of New York and New Jersey rise, stretch and amble out to mount their motorcycles and go banging away down their respective patrols. The local constables set up an important bleating with their penny whistles, making a heroic job of directing some fifty motor cars.

In the WAKE of the NEWS

A FIGHTER'S GUEST.

ENDICOTT, N. Y., June 5.—[Special.]—What Max Schmeling does in his training bouts before a crowd paying 50 cents per head for the privilege of watching his antics, and what Schmeling will do next Thursday night before a crowd paying from $2.10 to $27.30 per head is everybody's business. It is told and will be told in every newspaper by the legion of trained writers assigned to that duty.

But what of Schmeling himself, this German boy of 24 years, who is the first formidable foreign aspirant in years with more than an outside chance for the world's heavyweight title? What is his character, his education, his personality?

To answer these questions for yourself and for Wake readers who may be interested, we accepted Manager Jacobs' invitation, a rare honor as such honors go, to spend a whole day in the farm house training camp across the Susquehanna river.

There we visited, lunched, and observed in his work and leisure the young chap who has been likened to the Dempsey of a few years ago.

Schmeling's living quarters are set back from the pike nearly 100 yards. They are on an eminence, with the rear rooms looking far out toward the river. There live only six persons besides the German chef, who was brought across to prepare the food for the chap expected by all his intimates to take the measure of Sharkey. His sparring partners, those human punching bags of his public workouts, live elsewhere. The place is quiet. It is unlike most such camps we have visited. There is not the rough talk, the horseplay, or even the obsequiousness customarily paid a champion.

This Wake Is Conducted By Harvey T. Woodruff. Help! Help!

At the gateway to the farm house drive is stationed a state trooper. All curiosity seekers are stopped. Unless known to the trooper or with an official pass, entrance is denied. Another trooper is on duty at the house. No police dogs or wild animals cause a favored visitor to shudder, lest the dogs or animals forget you are favored.

Let us then look over the daytime hours of this boy who might be expected to arouse a certain hostility based on prejudice against a foreigner striving for a championship, but who wins all those with whom he comes in contact.

First, Schmeling has no fixed hour for arising. If it is a day on which he is not exhibiting in public, the time is around 7 o'clock, following which there are a few miles of road work, with either a trooper on motorcycle or some camp follower in a car accompanying. If it is a day of boxing, the rising hour may be as late at 8:30 o'clock.

Breakfast follows in either event from 9 to 9:30. The day we visited the camp Schmeling was working; hence no road work. He had breakfasted when we arrived. His morning meal had consisted of orange juice, an uncooked cereal, fruit if he wished, eggs, dry toast and milk. Breakfast was followed by nine holes of golf over a course 6,700 yards in length, with several tricky holes. For golf, Max expressed a great liking. He shoots around the 107 mark, twenty strokes lower than when he started.

Returning from the golf course to his cottage, Schmeling was besieged by a battery of cameramen. This is a test of most fighters' geniality. With several cameras clicking at once, there are frequent requests to "Hold that pose" because one camera has missed fire. There were requests for all kinds of feature poses, photographers seeking to get just the view ordered by telegraph from scores of newspapers. It was a long process. It took nearly an hour. Max plainly was anxious to end the ordeal, but never did he lose his good nature.

Once this German Dempsey, as they now are calling him, declined to allow his open hands to be taken close up. His "No, I can't do that" was decisive and final as he appealed to Manager Jacobs to support his refusal. It seems a joint on one finger is a trifle stiff and that would show in a closeup. He did not wish it portrayed.

It now was nearing 12 o'clock luncheon time, and Schmeling "begged off" further posing, rather than summarily stating the affair was over. Three more views and he was excused, romping off to replace with street clothes his ring tights and shoes.

Tomorrow we shall tell of luncheon and the mail which Schmeling reads at lunch.

BOND OFFERINGS BEHIND RISE IN BROKERS' LOANS

Total Shows Gain of 79 Millions.

BY O. A. MATHER.

Primarily as the result of an upturn in bond fluctuations in the last week or two the weekly reports on brokers' loans issued by the federal reserve board yesterday showed an increase of $79,000,000. The statement embraces loans to brokers and dealers in securities, and because of the dull and narrow stock markets and last week's double holiday, it was stated that bond dealers required the additional loans pending distribution of their new issues.

New bond offerings last month were the largest thus far this year, totaling $630,921,000. This also was about double the total for May, 1929. For the five months this year bond offerings totaled $2,764,721,000, compared with $1,562,398,000 for the corresponding period last year. This is striking evidence that bonds now are finding favor with investors, whereas a year ago an orgy of stock flotations was in progress.

Bear Brunt of Increase.

The increase in brokers' loans was the first important change in a fortnight. It brought the total up to $4,101,000,000, which, however, is still $1,183,000,000 below a year ago. The New York banks again bore the brunt of the increase, expanding their own loans by $134,000,000 and bringing their total $1,074,000,000 above a year ago.

Neither the New York federal reserve bank nor the Bank of England made any change in their 3 per cent discount rates. However, still easier money rates were betokened by the fact that New York banks made another reduction in bankers' acceptance rates, making a range of 2⅛ to 2½ per cent. This level is the lowest since 1929, and indicates the current small demand for commercial credit.

What little expansion in the demand for credit was occasioned by the month-end was met by the open market operations of the federal reserve banks. The weekly statement, issued last night, showed that the banks released credit by buying $13,680,000 of bankers' acceptances and $14,064,000 of government securities. On the other hand, borrowings of the member banks declined $7,318,000 to a total of $339,728,000.

Note Circulation Off.

Deposits expanded $43,670,000, but note circulation fell $8,550,000. Gold and total reserves increased $3,269,000 and $4,460,000 respectively, but the ratio of reserves to liabilities sagged to 82.2 per cent, compared with 82.9 per cent last week.

The New York reserve banks showed the principal changes. It took on an additional $27,328,000 of bankers' acceptances, while its loans to member banks receded $4,257,000 to a total of $48,570,000, although the New York City banks increased their borrowings by $7,000,000. Deposits declined $2,774,000. Reserves dropped $37,909,000, and the reserve ratio fell to 81.8 per cent, compared with 84.8 per cent a week ago.

The report of the Chicago reserve bank showed an increase of $1,026,000 in member bank borrowings, bringing the total to $18,391,000. But the reserve bank also disposed to $1,627,000 of bankers' acceptances. Deposits increased $5,283,000. Reserves declined $1,685,000, and the reserve ratio eased to 87.5 per cent, compared with 87.7 per cent a week ago.

Canadian Corp. May Become Leading Newsprint Producer

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MONTREAL, Que., June 5.—Negotiations are reported pending here for the absorption of the Anglo-Canadian Pulp and Paper company by the Canada Power and Paper corporation which if consummated would make Canada Power and Paper the largest producer of newsprint in the world, giving it a slight advantage over the big International Power and Paper company.

SIR HERBERT HOLT.

The International Paper and Power company has been the leading company in the industry for many years, practically since the industry achieved substantial proportions. It is headed by A. R. Graustein, whose head office is in New York. The international product in the United States is around 1,160 tons a day, while the company's Canadian mills have a capacity of 1,237 tons a day.

Marches to Front.

Canada Power and Paper corporation has been steadily marching to the front in late years. Behind it is strong financial backing, known as the Holt-Gundy group, of which Sir Herbert Holt, shrewd Canadian financier, and the dominion's richest man, is the main cog. J. H. Gundy is head of the Wood-Gundy company, Toronto concern, and another powerful financial figure.

Canadian Pulp and Paper company was formed originally as a holding company for the Belgo-Canadian Pulp and Paper company and St. Maurice Valley corporation. The Lateurintide was later taken over. Then control was obtained over the Howard-Smith Paper mills, one of the largest producers of fine paper in the world. In the last year control was acquired of the Port Alfred Pulp and Paper corporation and the Wayagamack Pulp and Paper company. The corporation now has a daily output capacity of 1,944 tons. Should the corporation absorb Anglo-Canadian Pulp and Paper company it would give Canada Power daily production capacity of 2,500 tons. Local authorities concede that it would then be slightly ahead of International in the race, and would become the largest producer of newsprint in the world.

The Anglo-Canadian Pulp and Paper company is an English owned company, of which Lord Rothermeyer is the principal figure. Negotiations for the absorption hence have to be conducted across the waters, which has its difficulties, although it is believed that an early agreement will be reached.

Cites Independents.

Should the absorption of Anglo-Canadian by Canada Power be consummated, it will leave three dominant outfits in the newsprint world: Canadian Power and Paper corporation, International Power and Paper company, and Abitibi Power and Paper company, with a number of independents. The latter, while it is felt they may remain independent, are believed likely to work in with the leaders.

The chief remaining large independent would be Price Brothers of Quebec, which will likely continue independent because of its unusually strong position both as to forest resources and balance sheet, which includes an investment position equaled by few industrials in the country. The president of Price Brothers is looked upon as one of the most constructive figures in the industry and can be expected to coöperate with the other leading figures.

In the present tendency toward amalgamations is seen the final solution of the difficulties under which the pulp and paper industry has been laboring for the last few years, meaning as it does centralized control and less widespread competition that will make for more stable price conditions.

WM. WRIGLEY CO. REPORTS GAIN IN NET PROFIT

A gain in profits for the first six months of 1930 over the same period of 1929 was predicted yesterday for the William Wrigley Jr. company by William Wrigley Jr., chairman of the board. At the same time Mr. Wrigley denied there was any truth to reports that the company intended to split up its common shares during the forthcoming year.

WILLIAM WRIGLEY. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

For the first six months of 1929 the net profit for the firm was $5,211,990, or $2.89 a share on 1,999,974 shares of common stock outstanding. The first quarter of this year, the company gained over the same period of last year with a net profit, excluding foreign subsidiaries, of $2,643,426, after charges and taxes, or $1.32 a share on 1,999,974 shares of common. For the first quarter of 1929 the net was $2,521,899, or $1.40 a share on 1,800,000 shares.

Cadillac Motor Car May Shipments Total 2,219

May shipments of the Cadillac Motor Car company totaled 2,219. Packard Motor Car's recent price reduction is resulting in a sharp increase in sales, Vice President H. W. Peters states.

CHICAGO RISK COMPANIES CUT CAR THEFT RATES

Chicago insurance companies yesterday announced a reduction in automobile theft insurance rates of 30 per cent for the higher priced cars and 50 per cent for the cheaper ones. The reduction covers only theft of cars or accessories, and under the new rate accessories—principally tires—will be covered only to the extent of $50. Suppression of auto thieves last year is largely responsible for the rate cut, according to Lieut. John J. Farrell of the auto theft bureau.

Northern Illinois Building Gains for May Over April

Northern Illinois construction contracts for May totaled $31,555,000—a gain of more than 20 per cent over the April total of $25,383,000—according to figures compiled by the F. W. Dodge corporation. The total dropped off about 45 per cent from the May, 1929, figure, however. Since Jan. 1 the total has been $105,811,000, against $240,655,000 for the corresponding five months of 1929.

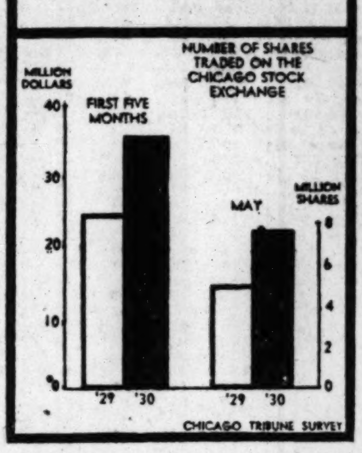
THE CHICAGO STOCK EXCHANGE IS HAVING ITS BIGGEST YEAR



HEAR TRUSTS SELL BANK STOCKS AS PRICES SKID LOWER

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, June 5.—Sharp declines to the lowest level of the year in prices of leading bank stocks, accompanied by reports of liquidation on the part of investment trusts and holding companies, disturbed the financial district today and was believed responsible for continued selling on the local exchanges.

Suggestions of downward revisions in dividend rates were heard in some instances, but traders felt these reports were unfounded for the most part and had little influence on selling pressure.

Guaranty Trust shares fell sharply, losing about 37 points when the bid was lowered to 720. First National declined 100 points at 5825 bid, 5925 asked. New York Trust and Public National declined 11 points each, while Manufacturers Trust was marked down 9 points. Bank of United States broke 6 points to 51—53, while National City dropped 7 points to around the low levels reached in the November decline.

Many of the better known stocks declined 2 to 5 points, Chase slipping back 3½ points, Bank of Manhattan Trust 5, Corn Exchange 5, Bankers Trust 5½, Central Hanover and Chelsea 2, and Irving 3½.

C., B. & Q. President Says Crop Prospects Best

Omaha, Neb., June 5.—(AP)—F. E. Williamson, president of the Burlington railroad, said today that "about the only favorable factor in the business situation is the prospect for crops," which he termed uniformly good. Williamson said that grain is about the only commodity that is moving by rail in any volume.

"Shipment of miscellaneous products is decidedly off," he said. "Our May business was not as good as April, and freight business is about 11 per cent below last year."

Phillips Petroleum Co. Orders 800 Miles of Pipe

Cleveland, O., June 5.—(AP)—The Republic Steel corporation announced today it has received an order for 800 miles, or 50,000 tons of 8 inch electric welded steel pipe, from the Phillips Petroleum company. The amount of the order is nearly $3,000,000.

This is the first large order accepted for the Republic's new electric welded pipe mill, which will be placed in operation this month. Shipments are to start in July and will cover a period of ten weeks.

Sees Hope Lost for Bottom Level Farm Product Rates

BY SCRUTATOR.

The decision of the Supreme court on Monday, in which the limitations of the Hoch-Smith resolutions were outlined, seems definitely to destroy any hopes that might have been held toward forwarding parity for agriculture by shifting its transportation burdens to other industries.

In the Hoch-Smith resolution, which was passed early in 1925, the interstate commerce commission was told, in effect, to make at once such changes in the rate structure of the country as would promote the free movement of agricultural products, including live stock, at the lowest lawful rates compatible with the maintenance of an adequate transportation service.

The Supreme court held that in the case before it, involving rates on fruit from California to the east, the interstate commerce commission had erred in construing this instruction as placing agriculture in a particularly favored class.

Commission Decisions.

Further on the court remarked that if the resolutions meant that agricultural rates should be carried below a reasonable standard, considering the cost and the nature of the transportation, "they give rise to a serious question respecting the constitutional validity" of the words used.

Some lawyers believe that the wording at least of a number of decisions, in which the Hoch-Smith resolutions were mentioned by the interstate commerce commission, will have to be changed. As an instance, in discussing rates on iron and steel articles, the commission said:

"If agricultural products and live stock are to receive the benefit of the lowest possible lawful rates compatible with the maintenance of adequate transportation service, commodities, such as the iron and steel articles here under consideration, which are able to bear relatively high rates, must be accorded rates which approach but which do not exceed reasonable maxima."

Shatters Popular Belief.

To a layman that would seem to indicate a recognition of obligation to make minimum rates for agricultural products and the highest possible rates for steel and iron, to keep up gross rail revenues. Quite possibly this factor was not weighty enough to necessitate a complete change in the rate decision here made, but it would not be surprising if lawyers seized on it as a means to get revisions.

The popular belief that the Hoch-Smith resolutions commanded that the farmer be given low rates on what he sold, to be balanced by high rates on other commodities, has been shattered by the court. The idea, in fact, never had much to recommend it as sound economics. What would it profit a farmer to save a few dollars on a carload of grain he shipped out and then give the savings back to the railroad by paying more freight on the cement and the machinery and the gasoline and other things he must buy?

NO PROGRAM IS SET FOR LOANS ON NEW WHEAT

Washington, D. C., June 5.—(AP)—Chairman Legge of the farm board said today the board had not yet determined its program for making commodity loans on the new wheat crop. The loans, he added, probably would be made by coöperatives on a "normal basis," which in cotton and wheat he defined as approximately 75 per cent of the cash marketing value.

He said that members of the committee of apple growers, appointed to study plans for handling of the commodity on a national basis, have recommended that the present apple marketing system be disturbed as little as possible.

The apple growers believe, he said, that local groups are not sufficiently well organized for the establishment of central distribution or sales agencies.

Freyn Engineering Co. to Erect Russian Steel Mill

The Freyn Engineering company, Chicago consulting engineers, announced yesterday an agreement with the Russian soviet to erect a steel plant having an annual output of 1,000,000 tons at Kuznetsk, Russia. Included in the plant will be four blast furnaces, twelve open hearths, rail and structural mills. Much of the material to be used in its erection will be fabricated in Russia, but special equipment will be purchased in America or foreign countries.

BY FRED HARVEY.

New York, June 5.—Things went from bad to worse on the stock exchange today. The market broke at last out of its slough of despond, but the bears caught it and gave it a rather rough little trimming before the final gong came to its rescue. Prices of a majority of the active stocks were cut 1 to 3 points, with losses running as high as 10 or more in some of the more volatile issues.

High priced issues, particularly those which have been on the advance here of late, were the hardest hit. Case Threshing Machine was cut down some 11 points. Auburn dropped 7⅛ and Vanadium, Columbia Carbon, Diamond Match, Worthington Pump, and Ingersoll Rand were set back anywhere from 4 to 7 points.

Attack U. S. Steel.

Among the pivotals, U. S. Steel was attacked rather vigorously at times, and was unable to maintain its ground except under 170. It showed a loss of 2 points at the close. General Electric couldn't stand the gaff and likewise slid off some 2 points. Radio fared no better. American Can, Standard of New Jersey, Consolidated Gas, and the rest of the blue bloods gave way without much of a struggle.

The decline started in the coppers division. The red metal shares were under pressure from the outset and yielded in group formation.

Evidently the ease with which they succumbed encouraged a widening circle of traders to try for a turn on the side of the decline. By noon the selling had reached rather formidable proportions, with the whole list in retreat. Acute weakness in bank stocks encouraged further liquidation and, except for spasmodic little rallies here

The Modern Method of Common Stock Investment

How you can buy a cross-section of American business —25 standard common stocks—in a single investment

STANDARD American Trust Shares—a fixed common stock trust—is the answer to the modern investor's demand for a convenient, practical, and safeguarded method of making a diversified investment in the highest grade of common stocks.

Recognizing such a demand, the sponsors of the distribution of Standard American Trust Shares, after months of study and consultation with research and statistical experts, have selected twenty-five leading common stocks, listed on the New York Stock Exchange, and made this diversified group of shares the basis of a single investment.

The selection of stocks includes American Telephone, New York Central, Consolidated Gas, Allied Chemical, General Electric, Standard Oil of New Jersey, du Pont, United States Steel, and seventeen others. It is believed that no other twenty-five common stocks as well represent a complete cross-section of successful American industry.

These stocks are made available in one single investment through the plan of placing the stocks in trust with a conservative trust company—and selling to investors certificates of interest in this trust deposit. These certificates are available in denominations of 10, 25, 50, and 100 shares, or more, representing an investment of about $100 and upward.

Authorities agree that intelligent diversification is of primary importance to successful investment. However, adequate diversification among the high priced common stocks has been difficult or impossible for the average investor. Today, through Standard American Trust Shares, every investor may gain the advantages of comprehensive diversification among stocks selected with the utmost care by competent experts.

The distribution of these shares is sponsored by Lawrence Stern and Company and The National Republic Company, investment affiliate of The National Bank of the Republic of Chicago.

We recommend the purchase of these shares for long-term investment, and suggest that you write to us for complete information.

MIDDLE WEST'S PLANS INDICATE TREND TO BONDS

Utility Soon to Offer 50 Million Issue.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

The trend toward bonds in industrial financing is exemplified in the plans announced yesterday for one of the largest pieces of public utility financing of the year. Public offering will be made shortly of a $50,000,000 issue of short term convertible notes of the Middle West Utilities company, one of the key holding companies of the Insull system.

This is the second largest Insull company in the last week to announce plans for large bond issues. Commonwealth Edison company recently applied to the Illinois commerce commission for authority to issue $12,000,000 first mortgage collateral 4½ per cent bonds.

The notes, which will be marketed by a group headed by Halsey, Stuart & Co., will mature annually from June 1, 1931, to June 1, 1935. The conversion privilege allows holders to exchange each $1,000 note, prior to maturity or redemption, on or before Dec. 31, 1932, into 20 shares of Middle West common stock and thereafter, on or before June 1, 1935, into 17.5 shares. First maturity notes will yield 4½ per cent, while the others will yield 5 per cent and are a direct obligation of the company.

For Subsidiaries.

According to the announcement the proceeds of the issue will be used for general corporation purposes and development of subsidiaries.

Moderately heavy trading in the utility stocks on the Chicago exchange yesterday resulted in no significant price changes, while the market as a whole was weak and at the mercy of the bear operators during most of the session.

The outstanding features of the day was a precipitate crash in Super Maid. The issue tumbled 34¾ to 20, turning up 2 points from its low before the close. While President Roy E. Wilson, president of the Super Maid corporation, could offer no explanation for the weakness in the company's stock, it was generally attributed to inadequate market sponsorship.

In a statement issued after the close of the market Mr. Wilson pointed out that while earnings for the first four months of 1930 were substantially below the corresponding 1929 period, the second half of the year is the company's best earning period. The financial position of the company is sound, he stated.

Balance Showing.

The balance as of April 30 showed current assets of $2,936,748 and current liabilities of $888,117. The company failed to earn its dividend in the first quarter, earnings being equivalent to 65 cents a share. Directors are not scheduled to act on the dividend until next month.

Nearly all the active stocks were selling well below previous closing prices up until 15 minutes before the close, when a smart rally developed and losses were reduced. The spread from the previous close ranged to 3 in the case of Majestic and 9 points in Auburn, but other losses were confined largely to a 2 point margin. Grigsby lost 1¼ net.

News and Gossip of Stock Marts

Merger Rumors.

General Foods has been acting very well in the market of late and this has given rise to merger rumors concerning the company. It was reported in the financial district yesterday that it might combine with California Packing. This report was based on the purchases of General Foods stock that the Bancamerica-Blair interests are reputed to have made recently.

Augment Holdings.

The same interests which have been active in American and Foreign Power are reported to have been large buyers of American Superpower in the last week. Opinion of this group is based on the knowledge that American Superpower has augmented its holdings in some of the most important of utility companies.

Montgomery Ward & Co.

The opinion exists quite generally in Wall street that Montgomery Ward has turned the corner for the better in a market as well as in a business way. The stock has acted much better during the last week or so, and reports have it that it is being accumulated by important interests.

BEG YOUR PARDON

In an article in the June 1 issue of THE TRIBUNE reference was made to the power dam built near Lebanon, Mo., by the Central States Power and Light company. The company was identified as an Insull concern. This was an error. The company is controlled by Utilities Power and Light corporation.

McLellan Stores.

I am interested in McLellan Stores common stock. Would like your opinion and whether it would be a good buy at this time. It is listed on the New York stock exchange.—B. C.

McLellan Stores company, incorporated in 1924 to succeed a company formed in 1913, operates a chain of stores doing a cash business in merchandise ranging in price from five cents to one dollar.

The company was rapidly expanding in 1929. In addition to the absorption of Green Stores, Inc., and Reed Stores company, there were 29 new stores opened during the year, bringing the total at Dec. 31, 1929, to 259, as compared with 150 operating under the name of the company at the end of 1928.

Earnings showed only a slight increase last year and did not keep pace with sales. The management stated that unfavorable conditions of general business and unsatisfactory weather conditions had an adverse effect on sales and earnings during the last few months of the year, when earnings normally should be highest.

The company's stores are located in central, southern, and New England states.

Net sales in 1929 were $23,781,546, against $13,939,373 in 1928.

Net profit was $1,001,457, equal to $1.35 per share earned on 562,993 no par common shares, against $939,008, or $2.05 per share on 355,524 common shares in 1928. There were also outstanding 42,333 shares of preferred [par $100].

At the close of 1929 current assets were $5,775,259, and current liabilities were $2,796,607, leaving a net working capital of $2,978,652, which compares with $3,442,927 on Dec. 31, 1928.

Sales in the March quarter of the current year were slightly less than in the like quarter of 1929, but in April an increase over the year before was reported.

Dividends have been regularly paid on the preferred. Common dividends have been irregular, no cash disbursements having been made since a payment of 10 cents per share in April, 1929. A 1 per cent stock dividend was paid Nov. 20, 1929.

The preferred deserves a fair rating. The common is somewhat speculative.

B. F. Goodrich Company.

Are the B. F. Goodrich 6 per cent debentures a safe investment? What is the difference between a debenture and a bond?—H. R.

B. F. Goodrich company convertible 6 per cent debentures, due in 1945, are suitable for one familiar with security dealings, but are not considered a conservative investment for a small savings account.

A debenture is a form of a bond.

It is not secured by a direct mortgage, but is the general obligation of the company.

It differs in general in this respect from a mortgage bond, which is secured by some tangible asset.

The Most Profitable Utility

ALBUQUERQUE and Santa Fé, respectively the largest city and the capital of New Mexico, have joined the Southern Union group of cities and towns served or soon to be served by Natural Gas.

Not only because of its substantial population but also by reason of the imminent development of the Middle Rio Grande Conservancy District does Southern Union particularly value the opportunity of serving Albuquerque. This development will increase the fertility of one of the oldest agricultural areas in America and in so doing should add a large and prosperous agricultural population to the growing urban patronage of which the Company is already assured.

WHEAT MARKET SWINGS ABOUT; PRICES ADVANCE

Oklahoma Thrashing News Seen Disappointing.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Sentiment in the wheat market swings with startling rapidity from the bear to the bull side, resulting in extremely erratic price changes.

Scattered liquidation was in evidence early yesterday with a break of ½@⅝c to a new low on the present movement, but the surplus in the pit was absorbed by commission houses and shorts around $1.05 for July, and a rally of 1⅝@1⅝c from the inside followed with the finish at net gains of ⅝@1c, July being $1.06⅝@1.06½, and September 1.09½@1.09⅝ at the last.

Disappointing threshing returns from Oklahoma, yields in the southern part of the state close to the Texas line running 3 to 9 bu per acre combined with sensationally bullish estimates on reduction in European crops, and strength in Winnipeg were factors that induced buying, but taken as a whole the market made a poor response to the news.

A press association estimated that Europe would secure about one third less wheat than last year and 25 per cent less than normal, suggesting a yield of around 935,000,000 bu for all countries exclusive of Russia, against 1,415,000,000 bu harvested last year, and a crop of 1,420,000,000 bu this season if Russia is included, against 2,153,000,000 bu in 1929.

Dry Weather in Canada.

Official reports on rainfall in the prairie provinces from April 1 to June 4 showed that in Saskatchewan 14 points had received less rain than the 1915-'24 average, and 9 points had received more, while as compared with last year 16 points had received more rain and 7 points less with 3 points showing the same as in 1929. In Alberta 8 points have less than the average and 6 points more.

An official Italian crop report estimated the yield around 220,000,000 bu or 41,000,000 bu less than harvested last year, while the import duty was increased to 87c against 73c per bu. Durum wheat at Duluth closed ¼@½c lower as the result of the higher duty as Italy is the best buyer of this kind of grain.

Europe fails to enthuse on the buying side of cash wheat, regardless of the unfavorable reports received from there, and sales at the seaboard were estimated at only 250,000 bu. Liverpool closed ⅝@1d lower, failing to fully reflect the North American decline of Wednesday. Strength in the corn market had some effect on local sentiment during the day.

Cash Corn in Demand.

Cash corn was in the best demand in some time past, with shipping sales of 315,000 bu reported during the day. This was reflected in an upturn of 1¼c in the July delivery which at one time sold about even with the September, and closed at 82¼c, or ¼c under the deferred future against ⅞c on Wednesday. The distant months gained ¼@⅝c for the day. The country took advantage of the bulge to sell cash corn heavily, with purchases to arrive estimated as high as 200,000 bu. Buenos Aires gained ½c for the day.

COTTON IRREGULAR

Cotton prices averaged higher yesterday and closed around the best figures, with gains of 9 to 13 points on new crop futures in Chicago and 6 to 16 points in other markets, New York leading the advance. July cotton in the three markets, Chicago, New York and New Orleans, was up 6 points. Spots were 10 points higher in New York at 16c, 5 points higher in New Orleans at 15.20c, with Galveston 15.25c and Houston 15.20c. Liverpool closed 4 to 8 points net lower with spot sales 2,000 bales. Prices follow:

WORLD'S GRAIN MARKET NEWS

Weather and thrashing returns are the main factor in the wheat market for the present and will be for the next thirty days. Traders are looking for disappointing thrashing returns from western Kansas and adjoining territory in Oklahoma and for lower prices, unless there is a better demand for wheat. With poor export buying traders are inclined to believe that this factor will offset poor thrashing returns.

A number of big local shorts in July corn, who also had corn sold and rye bought, were unspreading yesterday, which advanced July corn from practically 1c discount to even with September and it closed only ¼c under. Corn specialists say that unless there are good general rains over the corn belt within the next few days it will not be safe to work on the short side, except for quick turns.

Latest estimates on the Canadian visible supply, including stocks in country elevator, is 140,000,000 bu, compared with 128,000,000 bu last year. These figures, however, do not include the stocks in farmers hands.

Woods Brothers Corporation

WOODS BROTHERS, largest corporation doing inland river work in United States in the first five months of this year completed almost as much work as in the entire year of 1929—and the last six months of the year are usually the best for this type of work. Indications now point to a 100% increase in business for 1930. Such a record, in the face of severe depression in many lines of business, emphasizes the high investment merit of the Company's

The Pipe Lines of the New Industrial Progress

The newest sinews of industry are the pipe lines which are being laid over both long and short distances to the larger and more important consumer markets for natural gas. The basic character of the demand is no more aptly illustrated than in this construction activity which proceeds apace, linking town after town, city after city, and providing hundreds of thousands of people with a superior and more economical fuel.

In the areas of the Appalachian Gas Corporation System are the principal gas producing fields of America. The companies in the Appalachian Group directly control over 400,000 acres of natural gas leases in these fields, assuring an adequate future supply of this fuel to the territories served. In addition, the system draws upon other large reserves including the vast Monroe and Richland fields of Louisiana. The Appalachian Group now consists of eight producing and/or distributing companies operating or being constructed in the states of Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Louisiana, Mississippi, Kentucky, Tennessee, Ohio and West Virginia. The expansion of Appalachian Gas Corporation continues as new pipe-lines make this fuel available to communities not heretofore supplied.

Our publication "Appalachiana" contains timely information on the natural gas industry and the securities of this system. Your name will be placed on the regular mailing list upon request.

DRY GOODS.

NEW YORK, June 5.—(AP)—Cotton goods were in a little better demand, but bids and prices continue low and unsatisfactory. More business is coming forward on finished goods. New fall gingham prices are unchanged from last season. Silk quickened here and abroad and prices were higher due to strong statistics for hay. Silk goods continue moving steadily to cutters. Burlaps were virtually unchanged. Wool goods are being bought in small lots for quick cutting.

SITE ASSEMBLED BY PRUDENTIAL STATE SAVINGS

Building to Rise at North and Halsted.

BY AL CHASE.

Purchase of the fee at the northeast corner of Halsted street and North avenue by the Prudential State Savings bank yesterday disclosed plans for a new building by that institution. The corner property fronts 125 feet on Halsted street and has a frontage on North avenue of fifty-seven feet. This parcel was purchased from the August Yondorf estate for a reported $76,500, subject to a ninety-nine year lease held by the bank on the property.

The parcel just purchased adjoins property to the east already owned by the bank. This gives that institution a total frontage of 160 feet on North avenue, with 125 feet on Halsted. Part of the site is improved with a four story brick building.

Plans Now Being Drawn.

Scheitler & Wenisch are drawing plans for the new bank building, according to Carl Richter, vice president. The bank is now at 758 West North avenue, adjoining the site for the new building.

The ninety-nine year lease which has just been merged with the fee is dated 1914 and calls for an annual rental, without revaluation, of $4,500.

John Kern & Co. report selling the new three apartment building at 6247 North Francisco avenue for Erick E. Peterson to Frank O. Olson for $38,000, subject to a first mortgage of $19,000. The apartments contain six rooms and two baths.

Feder Corporation Expands.

Increased activity in the use of its products, roof cement and paints, has caused the David H. Feder corporation, now at 329 West Grand avenue, to purchase much larger quarters at Madison and Rockwell streets, containing 30,000 square feet. The former Nelson Morris plant was bought from the North American Packing company for an undisclosed consideration, subject to $25,000.

The building, which extends through to Warren avenue, is served by the North Western and the Pennsylvania railroads. The new owners intend to remodel the property extensively. The McCarty Realty company was broker.

Louis E. Alswede of the Greeley, Howard, Norlan company, surveyors, has purchased from Mary Henry the six apartments at 5015 North Damen avenue for an undisclosed consideration, subject to $27,000. Ludwig Kahn & Co. were brokers.

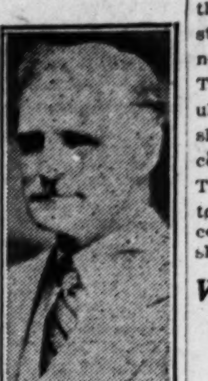
CANDY MAKERS ELECT HUTCHINS HEAD OF ASSN.

E. B. Hutchins of Fond du Lac, Wis., was elected president of the National Confectioners' association yesterday at the 47th annual convention of the organization, which has been in session for the last three days at the Stevens hotel. Mr. Hutchins, who is president of the Bonita company, is the first scientist to head the association. He received a degree of doctor of philosophy from the University of Wisconsin and has been an instructor in chemistry.



E. B. HUTCHINS.

Last year was the greatest candy year in the history of the nation, with 117,000,000 more pounds consumed than in 1928, R. L. Purdon of Washington, United States foodstuffs division, yesterday told members of the association. The increase, he said, was 9.2 per cent, and it meant that on an average every one in the country ate a pound more than in 1928. The per capita consumption was 13 pounds in 1929, and candy manufacturers received $301,000,000 for their product.

Directors of Coty, Inc., Omit Quarterly Dividend

New York, June 5.—(AP)—Directors of Coty, Inc., today passed the quarterly dividend of 50 cents a share due June 30 on the common stock. B. E. Levy, chairman, said the action was taken in order that funds to meet payments due on the purchase of foreign Coty companies might be taken out of earnings. "While the general business depression has increased distribution costs," he said, "nevertheless the sales volume of the American and foreign companies to date for 1930 is equal to the corresponding period of 1929."

SHEEP — Fed western lambs yesterday	11.00@12.75
One month ago	9.50@11.25
One year ago	16.00@16.50
Top yesterday, $12.75; average, $12.00.

Estimated receipts at Chicago today, 2,000 cattle, 20,000 hogs, and 9,000 sheep.

Hogs held firm again yesterday, in spite of the drastic price cuts recorded in all other branches of the live stock trade this week. Cattle declined further on lighter supplies. Lambs were sorted closely at additional cuts of 25@50c, while aged sheep were pounded to the lowest level of the year.

Soon after a slow and topheavy opening in the hog market, a stronger undertone was noted and bulk of the day's business was transacted on a steady to strong basis. Medium and weighty butchers showed slight price gains in midsession and later when there was an acute scarcity of choice 250@300 lb. averages. The latter kinds brought the highest prices since early in April and were only 10c under the extreme top on light weights. The top and general average prices were unchanged at $10.50 and $10.20, respectively. All interests were buying readily at the strength near the close and most of the 6,000 left were being held off the market.

June Heavy, $10.25.

Competition for medium and weighty hogs was lively on the futures market yesterday. A sale of five carloads of June heavy grades at $10.25 was the feature of the trade, it being the highest paid for heavy hogs on the futures market in six weeks.

September light weights reached $10.50 again. On the "to arrive" market, light weights were bid $10.45 and heavy $10.75 for today's delivery.

Cattle were slow to sell at the recent sharp decline in prices. Bulk of sales were 50c under closing quotations of last week. All classes, with the exception of stock at $10.00 and below, showed the decline.

Prime 1,491 lb. steers had to go at $13.75. Bulk of sales held at $10.50 @12.50, due to the better quality of offerings of beef steers. Butcher stock ruled weak to lower, selling 50c under a week ago. Choice 714 lb. heifers brought $11.10. Calves were steady to strong. Stockers and feeders were scarce, but slow and weak.

Break Is Seasonal.

The usual summer decline hit the market for aged sheep this week and prices on yesterday's session were lowest of the year. California ewes of outstanding quality sold at $5.25. Lambs were pounded down 25@50c and sold under severe "sorts." Culls and extremely heavy lambs were rejected from load lots at the full reduction in prices.

"Tops" from the new crop of natives brought $12.00@12.75 and culls sold at $7.00@8.50. Yearlings showed the least decline, selling at $9.00@ $10.25. Feeding lambs were slow and weak.

Week's Building Contracts Amount to $103,901,700

New York, June 5.—(AP)—New contracts let for building and engineering projects in the 37 states east of the Rocky mountains between May 24 and May 31 totaled $103,901,700, bringing the year's total to $2,037,440,000, as compared with $2,485,656,000 in like period in 1929.

BEARS RISE UP AND SLAP STOCK VALUES LOWER

and there, prices continued to crumble right through to the close, the finals in most cases being around the lows of the day.

Bankers' Acceptances.

Traders were not disposed to tear their shirts over the further cut announced in rates on bankers' acceptances, making a reduction of one-quarter of 1 per cent in 24 hours—even with its implied promise of another early reduction in the rediscount rate. It was recalled that the last rate cut, early in May, had failed to arouse any enthusiasm among the speculative element.

Some of the so-called hot weather stocks, including Coca-Cola and Canada Dry, an independent steel issue or two, and a handful of other specialties with special reasons for moving ahead, brightened up their particular corners by forging against the popular trend. The amusement shares did fairly well in the early trading, but most of them were bowled over before quitting time. Warner Bros. was the pacemaker of the group.

New Lows Recorded.

A sizable batch of new lows for the year were recorded. Industrial Alcohol, Glidden, and American Commercial Alcohol were among the number. The extreme weakness in Commercial Alcohol raised expectations of a cut in or elimination of the dividend at the meeting tomorrow. The stock now pays $1.60 annually.

No favoritism was shown to any group, the bears training their guns on any and all issues that showed the slightest signs of weakening. Westinghouse was driven down more than 3 points. Eastman Kodak lost more than 5.

In the coppers group Anaconda was under persistent pressure and lost some 2 points, later recovering a fraction. There was some demand for a number of oil issues, Houston among them, in the early trading, but the whole group wound up very much on the "off" side of the column.

Railroad shares were dull and lower, as usual of late.

The volume of sales improved somewhat, the day's turnover reaching 2,392,850 shares—nearly twice Wednesday's total.

The chief item is 40,758 shares of stock in the steel company with a market value of $3,505,000. The estate includes $60,000 in cash and $75,000 in insurance policies. Approximately 60 leases on oil lands in Jefferson county are listed as desperate. The balance of the estate is in club memberships and scattered stocks.

NIEMOTH VOWS VENGEANCE ON ALL SALTIS GANG

Willie Niemoth, gunman, violated a tradition of gangdom yesterday when about to board a train for Baltimore, where, despite his three years' effort, he must face a robbery charge.

He vowed vengeance upon one of his erstwhile pals of the underworld, Joe Saltis.

"And that goes for the whole Saltis gang, too," Willie said in an interview with Deputy Commissioner Stege. "Just wait until I get loose. They'll find some bodies in a ditch."

Neither Polak Joe nor any Saltis henchman aided Niemoth during his fight against extradition. Willie lost his battle Tuesday in the Illinois Supreme court.

"They'd let me lie over there in jail and rot, I guess," was Willie's plaint. "Not do a hand's turn for me. And after all I've done for them."

Lieut. Richard Barry accompanied the four Baltimore detectives who came for Niemoth. It was determined that Niemoth, under whose pillow a loaded gun was found on Tuesday, would not elude his guards. The party left on the Baltimore and Ohio at 1 p. m.

A slim young woman appeared to wave Niemoth a farewell. It was his wife, and she, too, threw him down, Niemoth complained bitterly.

CHINESE REBELS DEFEAT NANKING ON FOUR FRONTS

Nationalists Retreat to Shorten Lines.

SHANGHAI, June 5.—(AP)—The Nationalist government armies retreated today in Hunan at Changsha and in Shantung near Tsinan before victorious rebel onslaughts on widely separated battlefields. On two other fronts—central Honan north of Hankow, and along the Haichow-Tungkwan railway in northern Honan, the Nationalists were in a precarious condition after a month of fighting with 400,000 men engaged on the opposing sides.

Because of civil war and banditry, conditions have become so unsettled that foreign consuls in Hankow were reported today to have decided to urge foreigners to leave the provinces of Hupen, Hunan and Kiangsi.

Japanese Flee Tsinan.

In the northeast, the northern alliance rebels forced their way across the Yellow river and drove the Nationalists back toward Tsinan, Shantung province. The city's fall was believed to be but a matter of time. Japanese residents fled in trains to Tsingtao, 250 miles eastward on the coast. The railroad may be cut at any time by the rebels, who are advancing along it toward Tsinan from a point 60 miles eastward.

Nationalist evacuation of Shantung province is considered a possibility, in order to shorten their defensive lines along the Haichow-Tungkwan railway. Should the Nationalists give way in this area, the rebels may have a clear field to Nanking, capital of the Nationalist government.

Gunboats Guard Foreigners.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SHANGHAI, June 5.—Due to the fact that all foreigners were concentrated on an island in the Siang river, and due also to the presence of American, British, and Japanese gunboats, none were molested last night when 80,000 rebel Kwangsi troops captured Changsha, in Hunan province. When the rebels arrived at the gates of the city there was a small skirmish, but no other fighting occurred, as the Nationalist troops, under the command of the Hunanese general, Ho Chien, had evacuated the city several hours before.

American Admiral Thomas T. Craven is at Changsha on the patrol flagship Luzon and is personally directing the protection of all foreigners.

HIGHWAY GRADE DIVIDE TO START; SUITS SETTLED

Milwaukee-Dempster Project Assured.

BY HAL FOUST.

Construction will start next week on a grade separation for Milwaukee avenue and Dempster street. The announcement was made yesterday by Commissioner Francis Boutell, chairman of the county board committee on grade separations.

It followed the settlement of condemnation proceedings for the right of way that have been pending in the county court for more than eighteen months. The settlements were reached without any of the cases being brought to trial, and the verdicts were entered by stipulation.

First to Be Built.

The structure at Dempster and Milwaukee will be the first rural grade separation to be built in the metropolitan area. The intersection is one of many in the area where blockades of automobiles form every Sunday and holiday.

"The project should be completed by fall," said Commissioner Boutell. "It will educate the public to the benefit of such structures at the intersections of important routes, and public opinion will demand the prompt construction of many more grade separations by both the state and the county."

The county is now building a grade separation at the Southwest highway and 123d street, but this is part of the construction of a new road rather than the elimination of an existing bottleneck such as at Dempster and Milwaukee.

County Agrees to Pay.

In settling the cases the county has agreed to pay $63,000 to widen the existing 66 foot right of way to 120 feet for a distance of 550 feet in all four directions from the intersections of the center lines of the pavements. The contract for the construction, which was awarded almost two years ago subject to acquisition of the right of way, is at a price of $239,000.

The design calls for the depression of a 44 foot pavement on Dempster street under Milwaukee avenue, which remains at grade. In addition, there will be a 20 foot drive at grade on Dempster to accommodate turning traffic and to serve the corner property.

"The judgments for the property," said Commissioner Boutell, "are for the land acquired by the county, and they do not settle any claim for damage to abutting or adjacent property as a result of the construction. The property owners retain the right to sue for such damage, but the experience of Detroit and New York has been that a grade separation enhances the value of near by property."

B. W. BRADLEY, BROKER, DEAD; FALL BLAMED

Benjamin W. Bradley, member of the Chicago Board of Trade and the brokerage firm of Hulburd, Warren & Chandler at 208 South La Salle street, died yesterday at his home in Kenilworth of cerebral embolism—a clot in the blood stream which prevents its flow to the brain. The condition is believed to have developed as a result of a fall on May 21, while trying to fix a screen door in his home, and in which he suffered a fractured arm and leg.

Mr. Bradley was 67 years old. He had been engaged in the grain business since 1879. For 35 years he had been associated with Hulburd, Warren & Chandler and for 25 years had been a member of the Board of Trade. Two other members of his firm, Reuben G. Chandler and Roy L. Winters, have died with the last year.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Margaret McKelvey Bradley.

SYNOPSIS.

Catherine West of Boston, on her way to Paris, meets Geoffrey Macadam in the Havre to Paris train. Macadam is an Englishman who lives in Paris. Catherine tells him that she is going to visit her cousin's widow, Mme. Belmont Bender. She is a little apprehensive about the coming visit because she had received, just before sailing, a letter from Hermione Cushing, who tells her that Mme. Bender is far from well. Macadam is a lawyer, and he tells Catherine that his firm handles Mme. Bender's affairs, but he doesn't know the widow very well. He had heard that she was ill. Arrived in Paris, Catherine is a little disappointed when her cousin's chauffeur is not at the station to meet her. Geoffrey sees her into a taxi, giving her his address and telephone number. He tells her that he will be anxious to know how things are at the Bender apartment and she promises to call him. Arrived at Mme. Bender's apartment, she is treated coldly by the servants, and Jeanne, Mme. Bender's maid, suggests that she go to a hotel. Catherine insists on staying in the apartment, as she is suspicious of the servants. Jeanne tells her that Mme. Bender attempted to commit suicide the night before. The next morning Catherine goes in to see Germaine Bender, who is pathetically glad to see her. She tells Catherine how she had taken poison by mistake.

Geoffrey invites Catherine to dine with him, and it is a relief for her to get out of the apartment and to tell him of her vague fears. He is disturbed, too. Geoffrey escorts her back to the apartment. The door is locked, but Geoffrey arouses Eduardo, who says he thought Miss West had come in long before.

The next morning Catherine calls on Miss Cushing, who takes her to her milliner, where she sees a man she has noticed hanging around the Bender apartment. Back in the apartment, she finds the gallery open for the first time and she goes in, only to discover a number of pictures and tapestries missing. She asks Jeanne about them and the maid says they were sold shortly before Mr. Bender's death. Catherine feels she is lying and believes she and Eduardo are thieves. She finds Jeanne is exerting a baneful influence on Mme. Bender. Jeanne denounces Catherine to the invalid.

Geoffrey again takes Catherine out to dinner, and she unburdens herself to him. He has already put an investigator on the case. When he takes her back to the Bender apartment he takes her in his arms as he says good night. Catherine responds to his kiss. He asks her to marry him, but she wants time to be certain of her feelings. On the way to her room she hears Germaine sobbing and goes to her. She retires hurriedly on Jeanne's return. Next morning Catherine is violently ill and the doctor is called in. On recovering Catherine goes to visit Geoffrey's sister at Fontainebleau.

Geoffrey investigates two letters purported to have been written by Germaine to ascertain if they are forgeries. He suspects Blom, the mysterious person seen around the Bender apartment, of stealing the missing pictures, but discovers Blom is seeking a possible heir to the Bender fortune. He goes to report his findings to Catherine and finds she has suddenly departed for Paris.

INSTALLMENT LIX.

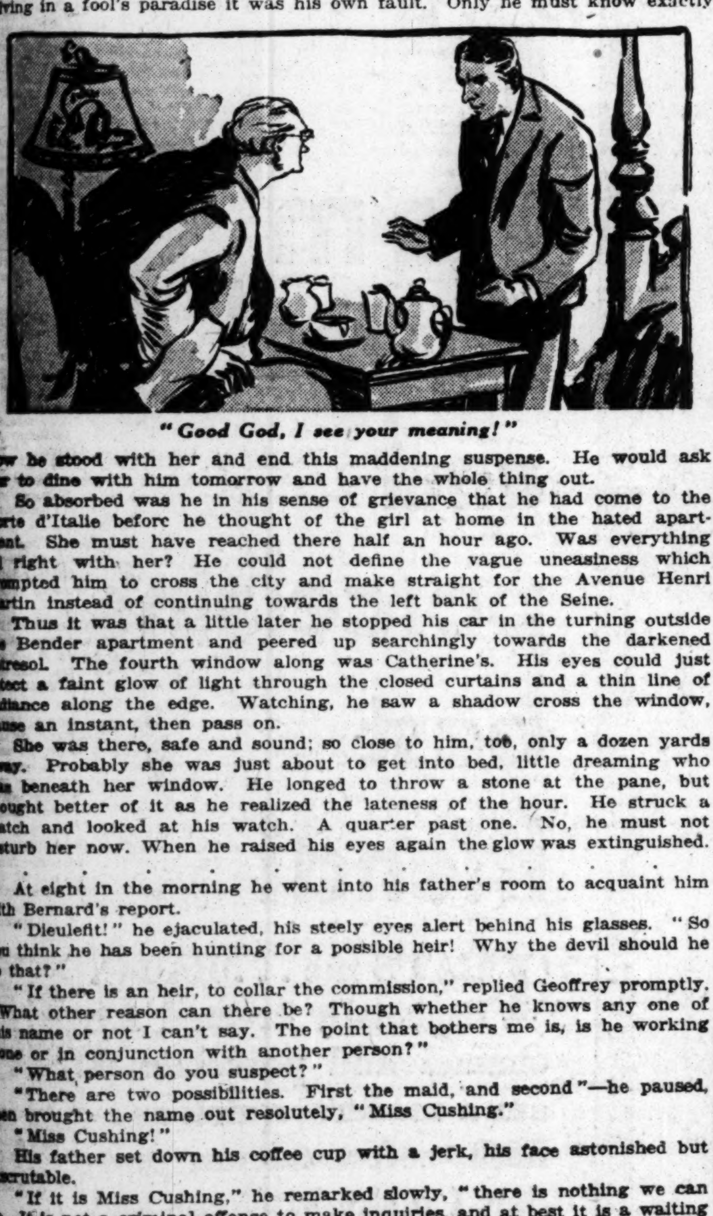
SIGNS OF DANGER.

With jaw set and a feeling of indignation seething in his breast, Geoffrey was making full speed along the Paris road. Somehow Catherine's abrupt departure hurt him like a personal affront. Was she really so anxious to meet these precious friends of hers or had she taken the sudden decision in order to avoid the drive back with him tomorrow? Unreasonably, he inclined towards the latter opinion, recalling how reserved and stand-offish she had been when he last saw her.

"Yet she liked me well enough two weeks ago," he argued resentfully. "No one could fool me on that subject."

Once again he smelled the fragrance of her skin mingling with the crushed lilies of the valley as she had pressed against him, felt the warmth of her lips upon his. Yes, for a moment at least the same sensation had surged up in them both, binding them together. Yet how little that physical rapprochement must have meant to her if she did not desire to repeat it!

O, well, she had warned him not to expect too much. If he had been living in a fool's paradise it was his own fault. Only he must know exactly how he stood with her and end this maddening suspense. He would ask her to dine with him tomorrow and have the whole thing out.



"Good God, I see your meaning!"

So absorbed was he in his sense of grievance that he had come to the Porte d'Italie before he thought of the girl at home in the hated apartment. She must have reached there half an hour ago. Was everything all right with her? He could not define the vague uneasiness which prompted him to cross the city and make straight for the Avenue Henri Martin instead of continuing towards the left bank of the Seine.

Thus it was that a little later he stopped his car in the turning outside the Bender apartment and peered up searchingly towards the darkened entresol. The fourth window along was Catherine's. His eyes could just detect a faint glow of light through the closed curtains and a thin line of radiance along the edge. Watching, he saw a shadow cross the window, pause an instant, then pass on.

She was there, safe and sound; so close to him, too, only a dozen yards away. Probably she was just about to get into bed, little dreaming who was beneath her window. He longed to throw a stone at the pane, but thought better of it as he realized the lateness of the hour. He struck a match and looked at his watch. A quarter past one. No, he must not disturb her now. When he raised his eyes again the glow was extinguished.

. . . .

At eight in the morning he went into his father's room to acquaint him with Bernard's report.

"Dieulefit!" he ejaculated, his steely eyes alert behind his glasses. "So you think he has been hunting for a possible heir! Why the devil should he do that?"

"If there is an heir, to collar the commission," replied Geoffrey promptly. "What other reason can there be? Though whether he knows any one of this name or not I can't say. The point that bothers me is, is he working alone or in conjunction with another person?"

"What person do you suspect?"

"There are two possibilities. First the maid, and second"—he paused, then brought the name out resolutely, "Miss Cushing."

"Miss Cushing!"

His father set down his coffee cup with a jerk, his face astonished but inscrutable.

"If it is Miss Cushing," he remarked slowly, "there is nothing we can do. It is not a criminal offense to make inquiries, and at best it is a waiting game."

"But is it?" demanded Geoffrey gravely. "Has it ever occurred to you that we have overlooked one feature of the affair? I refer to Mme. Bender's attempted suicide. Doesn't the fact that she has several times tried to take her life suggest that she may not have long to live?"

The old man stared at him fixedly. "You don't mean to suggest——"

"Suppose the person likely to benefit by her death is banking on an early decease? What if those attempts were not really suicide at all but something much worse? Remember, we have only the maid's word for what occurred."

"Good God, I see your meaning!"

The solicitor started up, all but capsizing his breakfast tray. For the first time the Bender affair had assumed a serious aspect.

"But there's no motive," he muttered argumentatively. "That is, unless——"

"Unless there turns out to be an heir to her estate," interrupted Geoffrey. "In which case this notary can reap his commission by bringing him or her to light."

"The commission on the Bender inheritance would amount to a pretty penny, Geoffrey. In my opinion, this looks bad!"

"I thought you'd say that. What is our best move?"

The old man was making for the bathroom, but paused and thought for a moment.

"Get hold of that maid at once and put the fear of God into her. Telephone to her now and say that I want to see her at eleven o'clock. Don't rouse her suspicions—simply tell her to come. She daren't refuse. I'll soon put a stop to any nonsense. Once she knows we are on to her schemes she'll have to clear out."

The vagaries of the Paris telephone service are perhaps the worst in the world. After repeated attempts to establish a connection Geoffrey was forced to admit failure.

"Can't be helped," grunted his father. "We'll have another go at the office, and if there's still no reply I'll send Henri up there. I don't mean to delay this a single day."

The ring in his voice told that he was roused at last to a sense of possible danger. Yet Geoffrey could not repress the cynical reflection that the two of them were exercised over something which had happened not yesterday but in February. Two months had passed and nothing had taken place. Moreover, Jeanne, whom they were crediting with villainous intentions, was quietly planning to withdraw from the scene of action. What did it mean?

The thought of this dogged him when at the Rue Auber he again besieged the telephone, still with fruitless results. Finally an angry appeal to the chief operator elicited the information that the line he wanted was out of order.

"It would be!" he exclaimed irritably, jamming down the receiver and ringing his bell for Henri. After a lengthy wait the door opened and Ballou stuck his sleek black head inside.

"Henri's out, sir—he won't be long. By the way, sir, there is something I wanted to speak to you about if you are not too busy. You remember that notaire you asked me to look up the other day? He's going to be married within the next few days. I was at the mairie in the Rue de Lisbonne yesterday, and I happened to see the announcement on the affiche board. He's marrying a widow."

"I knew that. She's a Mme. Baron."

"Quite. But it was her other name—what you call in English her maiden name—which caught my eye. I can't remember it now, but it was rather odd, something beginning with a D."

"Shadow City," with 50,000, Now Described

Church Federation Hears of Chicago's Unlucky.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

A report to the Chicago church federation yesterday revealed that 50,000 persons ranging from babes in arms to homeless old men and women past 90 years old pass annually through charitable and penal institutions of Chicago and Cook county. The federation at its meeting yesterday at the Hotel La Salle laid plans for expansion of its work at once.

Walter R. Mee, executive secretary of the federation pointed that these 50,000 persons constitute a "city of shadows" within the city of Chicago. As he appealed for an extension of the facilities—which now numbers 11 chaplains—he declared that "the people who make up city of shadows are victims of tragedy, poverty, vice and misfortune.

"The average population of the county farm, Oak Forest, is 4,300; county hospital, 2,300; county jail, 1,000; Bridewell, or house of correction, 1,700," Mr. Mee said. "These are constantly shifting, of course, so that the total during the course of the year is anywhere from two to five times as great as listed. Twenty thousand boys and girls pass through juvenile courts annually."

Mr. Mee stated that while public funds provide for physical needs of these persons, yet they are dependent on voluntary organizations for entertainment, spiritual guidance and moral encouragement. Reports from the various workers of the federation included that of Christopher Baldwin, former New York jail inmate, but now reformed for 25 years. Baldwin reported on his work at the Bridewell.

"Gang spirit can be as helpful to a community as it is detrimental, if guided in the right paths," said J. Harold Haggerty, juvenile court worker of the federation. "If a boy can be guided into the right places to give legitimate vent to his feeling of gang loyalty and enthusiasm, he will not grow into a law breaker."

Joseph D. Bryan, boys' court worker, declared that the hardest part of his work is to find jobs for the boys.

"Homeless boys who have drifted into the city and have no jobs must go some place. And then, wherever it is that they go, the police pick them up," said Mr. Bryan.

The Inquiring Reporter

Every Day He Asks Five Persons, Picked at Random, a Question.

The Question.

What is the largest amount of cash you ever carried at one time? What became of it?

The Answers.

Howard A. Florus, 6572 Lakewood avenue, secretary to president, C., M., St. P. & P. R. R.—The largest amount of cash I ever made was $500 for some special work which took about five weeks. I bought bonds at 72, they are in the 50's now. I didn't hold the check long, but I still am holding the bonds for a rise in the market.

E. O. Benson, 3233 Maypole avenue, switchman—I got a check for $1,500 compensation for injuries while working for a railroad. I cashed the check, felt nervous while I carried the money around in my pocket. I later invested it in bonds. I still have them.

Joseph M. Roach, 604 Fairbanks court, filling station manager—I have carried as much as $2,000 at one time. I invested it in Standard Oil company stock. I still have the stock

John J. McGonigal, 2901 North 78th avenue, loop superintendent Chicago Motor Coach company — I have carried as much as $2,500, and invested it in real estate which I still own. I managed to save that amount from earnings. I think real estate is a safe investment for anybody. Wish I had more to invest. Yes, I still have my little original nest egg.

Miss Mary Strazzabosco, 208 North La Porte avenue, bookkeeper — The largest amount of money I ever carried at one time totaled only $125. My mother gave me that to spend for clothes for high school graduation exercises, etc. I looked for bargains, but spent every last cent of it—and then some.

Eddie Coaches Recruits About Camp Routine

Including the Baseball at Algonquin.

BY KATHERINE KELLEY.

Passing on the wisdom gleaned from three summers at Camp Algonquin to two boys who never had been there or any other summer camp became the self-appointed office yesterday of Eddie, 11 years old. He had come with Ernest and James, of his age, to the northern district office of the United Charities at 732 Fullerton parkway for a final medical examination admitting them to the camp.

"Sure, you don't mind it, either. Why, we even had to sweep sometimes. But that, of course, was just to keep our cabin clean, so we would rate high in the contests," Eddie added, squaring his thin shoulders. "But, O, boy, we had some great baseball. And horseshoes. And lots of times the counsellors took us fishing. Yes, sir. We sat right on the bank of the river and fished. Gee, that was great!"

This is how it was with James:

No, ma'am, he never had been to a camp; yes, ma'am, he thought it would be lots of fun if it was anything like what Eddie said, especially baseball.

James, wearing spectacles, hadn't formed his own picture of a camp, but he was sure he wouldn't get homesick during two whole months.

Those boys were among twelve children—six boys and six girls—who will be sent to the all-summer camp for undernourished children at Algonquin next month.

Yesterday Dr. A. L. Newcomb, who examines the children for the Elizabeth McCormick Memorial fund, gave the youngsters the final once-over and pronounced them physically in need of spending the summer in camp.

"All winter we have made monthly examinations of the 200 undernourished children who are to spend the summer at Algonquin," explained Miss Anne Logan, chief of the nutrition department of the fund. "We have used corrective measures on their defects, but those who have not gained as much as we had hoped will be sent to camp, where they will get the rest, fresh air, and good food under the direction of special workers, nurses, and dietitians will do them good.

"After two months in the sunshine they will come back better prepared to carry on their school work. Our examinations, however, continue through the next year."

The all-summer children will not leave for camp until after school is out. But a week from Tuesday the first trainload of mothers and sisters for the upper camp will leave over the Chicago and North Western railroad for a two weeks' vacation. Mrs. Astrid Save, superintendent of the camp, expects about 1,800 guests during the summer.

Feeding that many mouths depends in a large measure upon TRIBUNE readers. Can you send your gift, please, to the Algonquin fund very soon?

Two St. Luke's Nurses Get Graduation Honors

At the training school commencement exercises for nurses of St. Luke's hospital, held at St. James' Episcopal cathedral last night, Miss Helen Smith was awarded the Chas. H. Schweppe scholarship. She had the highest rating in nursing practice, class work, and personality during her training. Miss Lois Bliss had the highest scholastic average. She received the Harriet Fullmer award.

THE STAGE

"NANCY'S PRIVATE AFFAIR," the comedy which recently moved from the Erlanger theater to the Playhouse, will not have a star at the head of its cast after Saturday night. Minna Gombell then will leave the company to go to California—not to exploit the goldfields of Hollywood but to take a rest. She is under contract, however, for appearances in this play with one of Henry Duff's Pacific coast companies.

But this does not mean the end of "Nancy" at the Playhouse. Joan Winters, a leading woman of much experience in the stock companies, is now in rehearsal as Miss Gombell's successor.

"Hello, Paris," the musical comedy staged as a vehicle for the whimsicality and prairie humor of Charles (Chic) Sale, will close its engagement at the Grand Opera house tomorrow night. The list of playbills for Chicago will thereby be reduced to seven. "Hello, Paris" has been announced for an August premiere in New York.

The management of "The Little Show," at the Selwyn, has decided not to dig in for a long battle with the hot weather. So this clever frolic, the best of the season's revues, will close its engagement here June 14—a week from tomorrow night.

Charles Hopkins announces that he would present his next year's production in New York on a subscription basis. At present he is planning four plays, the first of which, opening the subscription season at the Hopkins theater on Sept. 22, will be Benn W. Levy's "Mrs. Moonlight." In the cast will be Edith Barrett and Guy Standing. Mr. Hopkins' other productions will probably include plays by John Galsworthy, A. A. Milne, and Denys Amiel.

This producer has operated his small theater in 49th street, first known as the Punch and Judy, since 1914. Among his successes there in recent seasons have been "The Devil in the Cheese," "The Ivory Door," "The Perfect Alibi," and the current attraction, Milne's "Michael and Mary," listed by some critics as one of their "ten best plays" of the season.

George S. Kaufman, the dramatist who still keeps on working for the New York Times, made his debut as an actor this week in a play called "Once in a Lifetime," which he helped to write. The Brighton theater was the scene of the premiere, and Arthur Pollock of the Brooklyn Eagle has this to say about him:

"Mr. Kaufman is easily the best of the newspaper men who have gone on the stage. You can even hear him most of the time, and he knows how an actor should go about acting. But he is a little like his heroine, who, when she starts reciting 'Boots, boots, boots,' cannot be stopped. When Mr. Kaufman gets going on a speech he won't stop either, not even to save his lines from being drowned in laughter."

Two more summer revues were announced yesterday for early production on Broadway. One is "Broadcasts of 1930," which Julius Tannan wrote and in which he will appear. The other is "Here We Are," which Louis Isquith says he will open in New York the week of June 16.

Old Capitol of U. S. Is Under Wreckers' Picks

Soldiers' Graves, Treasure Legends Revived.

Washington, D. C., June 5.—(AP)—Government workers today started tearing out historic decorations from the old brick capitol, a stone's throw from the present structure, preparatory to wrecking the old building to make way for a new home for the Supreme court.

The great carved doors, mirrors and marble mantelpieces of the second seat of American government were removed and sent to the present capitol for safekeeping. Ancient footscrapers, used in their time by John C. Calhoun and other noted men, also were saved.

The actual work of tearing down the building will start soon after June 10. Then the government will give the contract to some wrecking firm.

When workmen indifferently tear out the fine old fireplaces, souvenir hunters snatch eagerly in the débris for bits of brick or marble. They dig shrubs and vines from the old garden and have even carted off a small yew tree.

As the overalled wrecking crew looms nearer with cranes and steam shovels, sentimental women who have been living in the old structure, in its last days a rooming house, are striving to have a bill introduced providing for removal to Arlington of two bodies of Confederate soldiers supposed to be buried in the yard.

Miss Fannie Wolfson, a suffrage worker who has lived in the old capitol for years, discovered the moss-covered headstones in the back yard. She and Mrs. Charles Taylor are heading the movement to have the bodies removed.

Miss Wolfson has decorated the spot every Memorial day with flags and flowers. There are no inscriptions on the stones, but she says those might have been obliterated by time. Some believe the men were Confederate spies shot when the capitol was used as a prison.

Miss Wolfson, whose home was formerly in New Orleans, contends that the cellar contains buried treasure, loot of silver and gold snatched from the south in the civil war days.

Others, hard-headed historians, smile at what they call the "grave myth." Mrs. Burnita Shelton Matthews, attorney for the National Woman's party, says she found no record of bodies buried in the yard in her investigations of the building's history. Dr. George E. Wire, librarian of Worcester, Mass., who is doing some research work at the library of congress, substantiates Mrs. Matthews' belief.

FORMER CROWN PRINCE TO RECALL 25 YEARS SINCE HIS WEDDING

Hamburg, Germany, June 5.—(AP)—Friedrich Wilhelm Victor August Ernst von Hohenzollern, who as the German crown prince a quarter century ago married the youthful Cecile, duchess of Mecklenburg, amid pomp and Pageantry in pre-war Berlin, today was making plans to observe his silver wedding anniversary in the quiet of his suite at a Hamburg hotel.

The celebration will be a day late, for the steamship Cap Norte, in which Cecile is returning from Argentina with her son, Friedrich, will not arrive until Saturday.

The former crown prince is scheduled to arrive in Hamburg with his sons, Wilhelm and Hubertus in time to meet the ship. The family then will go to "the Hotel Four Seasons," a hostelry familiar to many American tourists, for a quiet reunion and observance of the day among themselves.

The family will go to Doorn on Sunday. There the former kaiser and Hermine are planning another anniversary on Sunday night.

Describing his wedding to the 18 year old duchess, the crown prince later wrote: "On that glorious June day she entered as upon roses into her new life in Berlin, rapturously acclaimed by many thousands, borne aloft by the love and sympathy of a whole people, I was deeply moved."

Today the marble palace at Potsdam, in which the crown prince was born, is a museum visited yearly by thousands of tourists.

The Bellevue palace in the Tiergarten, where the young bride was fêted on entering Berlin, now houses a modern art exhibit.

It is easily won by the man who eats the foods that furnish real nutriment and do not tax the digestion. Shredded Wheat with milk not only tastes good, but is good. The crisp, flavory shreds of baked whole wheat are so appetizing and strengthening. Combines the "roughage" you need with the proteins and mineral salts. Canned Goods Still Friend of Housewife

$772,906,852 Spent Last Year.

BY PAUL POTTER.

Can openers are not going out of style, even with the growth of the fresh fruit and fresh vegetable industry which now supplies metropolitan centers twelve months of the year. Principal canned foods in 1929 showed a total value of $772,906,852 for various commodities such as canned vegetables and soups, fruits, fish and oysters, milk, meat, pickles and sauces, and preserves, jellies, and jams.

Nearly every state in the union has some of this farm and factory production by which canned foods are turned out in quantity and which is said by the canners and their various associations to be of increasing fine quality. This latter statement has the backing of many principal agricultural colleges interested in the work.

Milk in cans is the most important single item used in households. It was worth $168,506,415 in 1927, the latest date for which the United States government has issued a census report on canned foods. Pickles and sauces, oddly enough, are second with a value of $116,004,770, which is more than the total value of all the canned fruits for the same twelve months.

Vegetables and soups supply a popular demand through the canning industry. Asparagus, beans, beets, corn, hominy, kraut, peas, pimentos, pumpkin and squash, spaghetti, spinach, tomatoes, tomato paste, tomato pulp, tomato sauce are principal items.

Two Hundred Varieties.

Proof that canned foods offer a wide variety is found in the comparison of the percentage occupied by corn, peas, and tomatoes thirty years ago and today. The National Canners' association reports that in 1899 the three staple vegetables comprised 35 per cent of all the canned foods produced in the United States, while now, with more than 200 varieties available in canned form, the three vegetables named are found to be but 18 per cent of the industry.

Eight crops grown expressly for canning last year required 1,051,950 acres of land and had a value to the growers of $57,387,000. These were asparagus, snap beans, cabbage for kraut, sweet corn, cucumbers for pickles, peas, spinach, and tomatoes. The 48 states provide almost every type of soil and climate and permit widespread variety in the vegetable and fruit production which can be stored in sealed form until consumed.

Consumption Greatest in Winter.

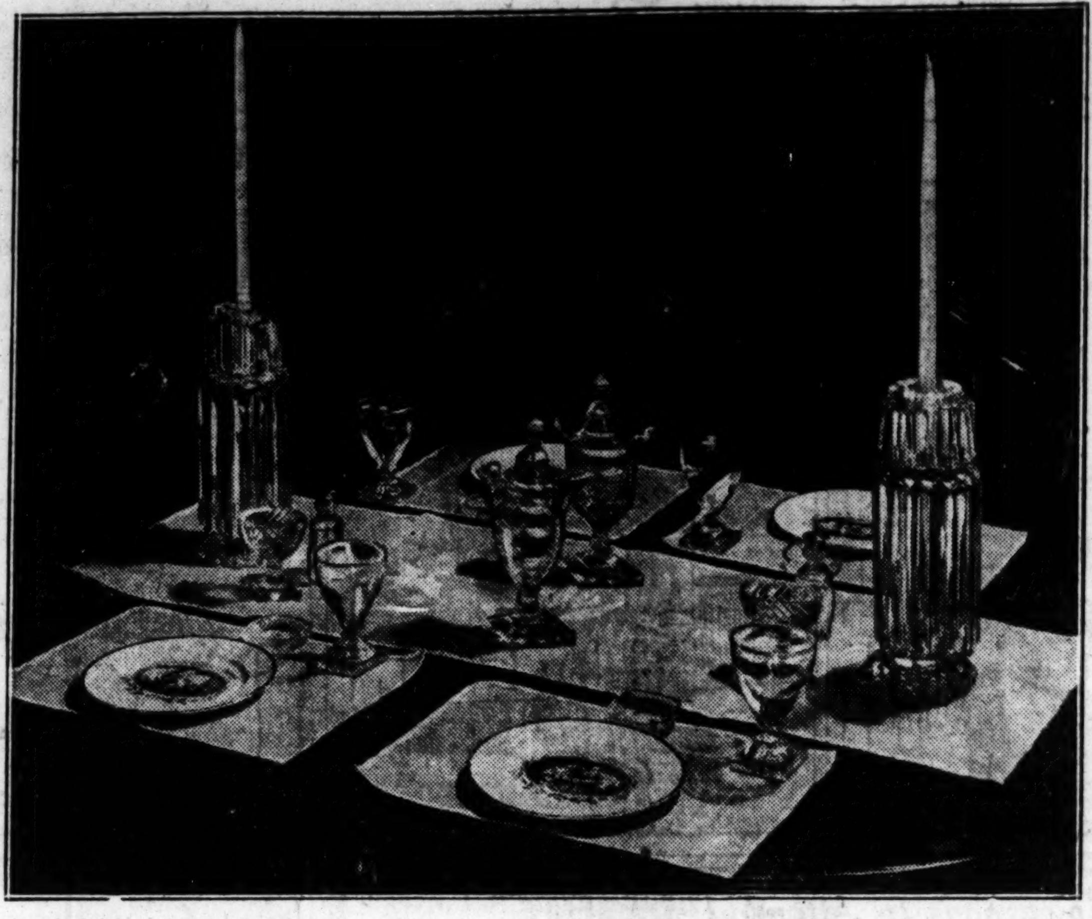
The United States department of commerce recently conducted a survey to find out the relation between summer and winter consumption of canned goods. Two to four times as much is used during winter months, it was found. The lower income groups are much higher consumers of canned foods than families living in high class apartments or exclusive residential districts, the foodstuffs division of the federal department reported after taking data in Queensborough, N. Y.; Bridgeport, Conn., and Sussex county, N. J.

With an almost 100 per cent agreement, this federal report shows, those asked for their opinions replied that canned goods were convenient in use. This one reason was given by most of the housewives where preference was shown over fresh fruits and vegetables.

Wins Prix de Rome.

New York, June 5.—(AP)—Walter Louis Reichardt, 22, just graduated at the University of Pennsylvania, yesterday was awarded the Prix de Rome for students of architecture. He receives more than $8,000 to cover expenses for three years of study at the American academy in Rome, under whose auspices the contest was held.

CRYSTAL AND ORGANDY FOR HOT DAYS



A dainty table for luncheon on a hot summer day is set with cream colored organdy, crystal goblets, compotes, prism candlesticks, and antique plates. The runner and place mats are hand made and imported from France and are appliqued in the same material and color. Similar sets can be made with less complicated and fine stitchery by the woman who is handy with her needle.

Linen Supply Enlarged by a Little Work

Inexpensive Materials Make Best Choice.

BY SALLY LUNN.

The woman whose summer program is so arranged that she will have afternoon hours of leisure will do well to take advantage of such extra time to enlarge her supply of informal linens. Nobody has the time or inclination nowadays to make the elaborate embroidered and crocheted creations that were termed fancywork and that were in vogue a long time ago, but to make the effective modern things requires but a small knowledge of the art of needlework and a little imagination.

The new type of handwork is more varied and more colorful than the old and is most inexpensive. As a matter of fact, it can be as inexpensive as one wishes. Such materials as crash, linen, either heavy or sheer, theatrical gauze, dish toweling, gingham, cretonne, or organdy can be purchased in sufficient quantity for luncheon sets for a few dollars, and the price of whatever trimming is necessary is negligible. Informal linens are appropriate for use at all but the most formal meals in summertime.

Here are a few hints that may help to keep your home made sets from having that too home made look that destroys their effectiveness. Design the shape and size of the linens to fit the size or shape of the table on which they are to be used. For a round table use a long runner or a center square, and for an oval or oblong table a center square or oblong, or a runner to be placed crosswise on the table are good.

Shrink Linen Before Cutting.

Linen should always be shrunk before cutting, and broad corners should be mitered. The newest types of refectory sets consist of two long runners extending the length of the table and about eleven or twelve inches wide. A practical size for napkins for use either with a luncheon set or with a small refreshment cloth suitable for use on a card table is 9 to 14 inches. Place mats may be 11 or 12 by 16 or 18 inches, according to the size of the table.

It should be pretty easy to glean ideas for novel sets. The fancywork departments in the stores have many attractive things stamped and semimade, and almost all of the hand made linens except the exceptionally fine imported ones can be copied in any combination of colors that you like. Cross-stitching on heavy linen in one or more colors of embroidery cotton is effective, particularly blue and yellow tones on natural linen. If you have deep blue glassware, yellow glass or china, this makes a stunning setting, with a bowl of calendulas for a centerpiece.

Plan for Handling Apples on National Basis Is Started

More efficient handling of apples on a national basis is sought by a general committee of fifteen men which has met twice so far this year in Washington at the call of the federal farm board. At first the board had in mind the setting up of an advisory commodity committee under the provisions of the agricultural marketing act for this fruit.

Organization of an apple project in the fruit and vegetable section of the federal division of coöperative marketing constitutes the first plan by the farm board. Growers will be assisted in developing local and regional coöperative marketing associations "looking toward the handling of apples on a national basis."

The plan has been worked out for the apple growing districts of the Cumberland - Potomac - Shenandoah area, western New York, New England states, midwestern states and the mountain states.

Buy Supplies for Week-end Every Friday

It's Best Time to Get Fish and Groceries.

BY META GIVEN.

Friday is a good day to buy fish, to do the week-end cleaning, to take stock of the pantry and purchase the necessary food for over the week-end. Sunday is only two days away. To some this day offers a chance to relax, an opportunity to have a change, a time for spiritual refreshment. To others it is just about like the other six days in the week. Whatever may be our views, we can never get around the physiological necessity of some weekly change. If we want to have more or less freedom over the week-end, Friday is a good time to get our food problems out of the way.

The purchase of food is a responsible business. Food is inseparably linked up with health and costs money. Experts on budgets allow about one-fifth of the income to be spent on food, an amount greater than that allowed for saving. This means, then, that the housewife has a pretty tight grip on the purse strings. Because custom and business conditions make it necessary for her to do much of the household purchasing, she has just as much opportunity to show her business ability as does her husband.

Selecting First Hand.

The habit of ordering the food over the telephone is gradually going out of style. The modern manager of the home goes to the market and compares values in just as intelligent a manner as does her husband when he invests in stocks and bonds. She realizes that it is a "see it yourself" job.

It is just as smart to own a good looking market basket, these days, as a good looking handbag. Any well dressed, clever woman looks all the more business-like at the market when she is carrying a pretty, yet substantial and commodious basket. To me, a woman looks most capable traipsing out to the huckster, the grocery or the fruit and vegetable market so equipped. I have a feeling that she knows her business. And any sensible husband should burst with pride when he discovers he has such a capable partner. He can be dead sure that his company is going to prosper.

What Foods to Buy.

The kinds of food you will need to buy depends on the size and age of the members of your family. It is always important to buy foods in season. Seasonable foods are inexpensive and are of the best quality. Our daily menus will guide you in the purchase of foods in season, as well as in the combinations that will give you balanced meals.

Our menus from day to day will adhere to a basic diet generally recommended by authorities in nutrition. Those who have done much experimental work in this field maintain that the diet will be safe if it includes the following foods:

For children from two years to adolescence:

1. Cereals once a day, with emphasis on the whole grain varieties. Other hot or ready to serve cereals may be substituted occasionally for variety. All cereals should be served without sugar.
2. Fruit or fruit juices every day. Dried fruits such as prunes and apricots may be used the year around to vary the fresh fruits.
3. Eggs four or five times a week. These may be simply cooked or included in desserts or beverages.
4. A "green" vegetable every day with spinach, tomatoes, cabbage and carrots often represented. Serve cooked or raw.
5. Potatoes.
6. Whole grain breads.
7. Meat occasionally, but in moderate amounts. Choose tender well cooked chicken, lamb, lean beef, liver, and fish.
8. One quart of milk a day, used as a beverage or in cooked food.

Foods for Adults.

1. Cereals at least three times each week.
2. One serving of fresh fruit and another of cooked, if possible.
3. Two generous servings of vegetables such as cabbage, carrots, beets, lettuce, spinach, string beans, etc. All of these may be cooked, but a number may be eaten raw. Raw vegetables are usually preferred in salads.
4. Potatoes or other starchy foods.
5. Meat, fish or cheese.
6. Bread with emphasis on whole wheat varieties.
7. At least one pint of milk and a quart, if possible. This may be used as a beverage or in any cooked food such as desserts, white sauce, gravies and escalloped foods.

Food Talk.

More and more am I persuaded that our time must be budgeted just as is our income. Certain hours to sleep, to eat, to work, to recreate. In other words our days and hours need to be pigeon-holed. In this busy age it seems necessary to do this. Otherwise we just don't get things done. The modern efficient business man in his office works systematically. Each of his activities must dovetail into another. If he does not have such a schedule for work and live up to his schedule his day is cluttered up and his work is never done on time.

Isn't it just as sensible for Mrs. Jones to do her housework by a system as it is for Mr. Jones who works at the bank or the factory? It is only with such a scheme that the housewife can ever hope to be successful and get fun out of home making. And it is the best method for saving labor, temper and money.

MRS. ARCHIBALD ASKS DIVORCE IN NEW ACTION

Mrs. Mildred R. Archibald yesterday filed a bill for divorce in the Superior court against H. Teller Archibald, real estate dealer and owner of the Fannie May candy stores. The bill, drawn by Attorney Roy D. Keehn of the law firm of Keehn, Woods, Weisl & Keeley, charges desertion.

Archibald was granted a divorce in Miami, Fla., early in 1929 on a charge of desertion. He subsequently married Dorothy Wooden of Washington, D. C. His first wife, who had been served through publication, petitioned to set aside the decree. The petition was overruled. She then brought suit for separate maintenance in the Superior court. The suit was pending until the divorce action was substituted.

Chicago to Have New Potatoes Every Day in the Year

Small new potatoes, ready cooked and canned, are one of the innovations being introduced in Wisconsin and are expected to find their way into store shelves and housewives' kitchens in Chicago and the rest of the midwest.

The new industry already has received a trial in Florida where it is said to have become a success. Two sizes of cans are being featured. What is called a No. 2 can contains 12 to 15 "new" potatoes, cooked in their jackets, and, on the average, sufficient for a family of six or seven persons. Another size called No. 10 contains 60 to 75 of the Irish cobblers and will serve a small banquet table.

Canning is being done at present at a plant near Lawrence, Kan. Cooking in the jackets, the canners claim, retains the full flavor and yet permits new potatoes on the table every day in the year.

Women Favor 2 Million Fund for Federation

Denver, Colo., June 5.—(AP)—Establishment of a $2,000,000 endowment for the General Federation of Women's Clubs appeared the most important business item as that organization opened its biennial convention here tonight. The first business session is tomorrow.

Since its inception the federation has financed its varied program with a per capita assessment of 10 cents annually. This sum, while insignificant in itself, represeented a sizable amount when considered in the light of the large membership of the federation.

Under the new plans, worked out at a meeting of department chairmen today, each member would be assessed $2, to be paid over a period of two years. The aggregate sum would be an endowment, interest on which would be used.

In connection with this, opposition was expressed at a meeting today of state presidents to a movement that virtually takes from the board of trustees the power to invest federation funds. An amendment would place this power in the hands of a financial committee of three members.

It is expected Mrs. John F. Sippel, Baltimore, president of the federation, presiding at tonight's opening session, will be reëlected, as will all other officers with the exception of Mrs. H. G. Reynolds of Paducah, Ky., treasurer. Most prominently mentioned for her place is Mrs. Edward Hammett of Sheboygan, Wis.

Addresses of welcome from Gov. W. H. Adams of Colorado and Mayor Ben F. Stapleton of Denver were given tonight.

Will Recall Nathan Hale's Birthday 175 Years Ago

The 175th aniversary of the birth of Nathan Hale, revolutionary war hero, will be observed today by the Chicago Historical society. Hale, who was a school teacher, was hanged as a spy after he entered the British lines. His last words have become a symbol of patriotism in America. As the rope was being placed around his neck he said, "I only regret that I have but one life to give my country."

Public to See Palmer Home at Carnival

BY THALIA

The public is invited to the Potter Palmer residence today and tomorrow. You pay a dollar to enter the grounds if you are adult, and 50 cents if you are a child. The grounds are enclosed in a high canvas fence, splashed with advertising posters. Within is the carnival the Red, White, and Blue club is sponsoring for the benefit of its settlement house on the northwest side.

This opportunity to go within the long revered portals is created by the new owner of the property, Vincent Bendix.

The show opens at noon, and there will be dancing from 2 o'clock until midnight in the main floor ballroom, luncheon, dinner, tea and supper in the dining room with Mrs. Lockwood Honore, supervising. Guides are to conduct tours through the house, telling the history of the murals and friezes and exhibiting the rooms that were occupied by distinguished guests during the World's Fair of 1893 and since. A large crew of fortune tellers, clowns, Frank Behring's trick horse that shakes hands, and walks up and down stairs, a ferris wheel, a merry go round, chairoplanes, ice cream, peanuts, pop, and popcorn are among the promised attractions.

The women who have been making the preparations for this gigantic stunt include Mrs. Roy D. Keehn, Mrs. Warren Ripple, Mrs. E. R. Fifield, Mrs. C. K. Corsant, Mrs. Clair E. More, Mrs. Oren E. Taft, Mrs. Morris Leidy Johnston, and any number of sub committee chairmen and workers.

The wedding of Mrs. Grace Mary Mather-Smith de Bujac, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Frederick Mather-Smith of Highland Park and Columbia, Tenn., to James Allen Turner of Columbia, took place last Friday at the Mather-Smith residence in Columbia.

The bride wore a frock of white organdy with a ruffled skirt, like the one she wore several weeks ago when she was a bridesmaid in Edwina Litsinger's wedding to Wilbur Smith, a large white horsehair hat, and lace mitts, and carried an armful of shasta daisies. Her sister, Miss Ann Mather-Smith and the groom's sister, Miss Louise Turner, who were her only attendants, wore dresses of blue organdy similar to the bride's, and beige hair braid hats, and carried summer flowers.

The service was read on the lawn before an arbor covered with pink rambler roses. Standards of pink roses stood at either side of the entrance to the arbor, and the bridal procession marched through an aisle made of rose standards and garlands of southern smilax. An arch of roses spanned the arbor entrance.

After their wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Turner are to reside in Louisville. There Mr. Turner is in business. He is a graduate of Vanderbilt university, and a member of Sigma Chi.

Two more dates for next fall's benefit parties have been set. The Cradle society of Evanston announces that it will hold its 8th annual ball on Oct. 25. Mrs. Charles G. Dawes is honorary chairman, and the general chairman and committees will be appointed sometime this summer.

The Sunbeam league has decided to have an international ball at the Stevens hotel on Nov. 15. All the consuls and their wives are to be invited and nationalistic decorations will be used.

Mrs. William B. Schrauff, the former Katherine Putnam, boarded the Century looking smart in a black frock and white mushroom panama hat, on her return to New York City yesterday. She has been visiting here with her aunt and uncle, the James Otis Hinckleys of Lake Forest, and was a bridesmaid in Winifred Smith's wedding to Alfred McCormack.

Miss Helen Bell, who returned to Bryn Mawr after her debutante festivities last winter, will arrive home from school today to spend the summer months with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Laird Bell, at their Hubbard Woods residence.

Mary Trigg Waller, daughter of Mrs. McElwee Walker of Highland Park, who is one of the graduates at Wells college this year, will receive her diploma next Tuesday. She is playing one of the parts in the commencement play, "Romeo and Juliet," on Monday evening. Mrs. Fred L. Starbuck of 5012 Dorchester avenue is representing the Chicago Wells college club at the alumnae activities being held at the college over the week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Christian Kohlsaat of Winnetka announce the engagement of their daughter, Suzanne Christine, to Franklin E. Agnew Jr. of Chicago, son of Mr. and Mrs. Franklin E. Agnew of Creston, Ia., and of their daughter, Cynthia Gates, to Edward M. Harkness, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward B. Harkness.

The announcement was made at a luncheon given yesterday at the Indian Hill club for Miss Alice Jaques.

WEDDING

The marriage of Miss Mary Louise Malzacher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas L. Malzacher of 6244 North Campbell avenue, to John Edward McCann, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. McCann of 4852 North Keeler avenue, took place on Wednesday morning at St. Timothy's church. A wedding breakfast was held after the ceremony at the Edgewater Athletic club.

British Woman Plans Newspaper to Take Stand with Pacifists

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, June 5.—The first newspaper to be owned and financed entirely by women soon will be launched here if Mrs. A. Colles, veteran newspaperwoman, can raise $5,000,000 for the creation of "The Call."

Mrs. Colles' attempt is to found a nonpartisan journal based on a pacifist policy and designed to present national, international and social problems from a woman's point of view. Both men and women would coöperate in the production of the paper.

Among those who already have contributed to the foundation of this new journal are Lady Buckmaster, Lady Walker, Lady Japp, Lady Constance Childe-Pemberton, Princess Sophia Duleep-Singh, the Countess of Tankerville, Lady Ogilvie, Baroness Elsa Djurclow, Lady Taylor, Lady Irwin, Lady Tate, Lady Palmer, and Baronin von Treskow.

HARD-SOFT LARGE-SMALL CORNS

Out To Stay Out—Roots and All Magic Oxygen Salts Bath Never Fails. No More Burning, Aching Feet.

No matter how many corns you have or how painful they are—soak your feet for 15 minutes in a delightfully soothing and revitalizing Radox footbath for 3 or 4 nights—then lift corn and callouses right out—roots and all, and they won't come back, either, unless you wear shoes again which aggravate your feet.

No cutting or digging is required because Radox liberates oxygen which softens hard outer layers of corns, each night penetrating the pores further and further, carrying the salts right to roots of corns which are so loosened they can be lifted out bodily.

Your feet are made strong—healthy—vigorous—hard skin on heels and toes goes also.

All good drug stores are stocked with Radox—if they aren't, insist upon their ordering it if you want to experience great foot-joy and comfort.

Busy Summer for Several of Portrait Painters

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

A number of portraits are on the tapis for execution in June. The O'Brien Art galleries announce that Louis Betts is arriving from New York to fill several commissions. He is by all odds one of the finest of contemporary American portrait painters. His reputation is international. His craftsmanship is second to none. The recent exhibition of portraits by him held in the O'Brien galleries will long be remembered as one of the outstanding events of the year.

From the Chicago Galleries association one discovers that Oskar Gross has undertaken a portrait of Vincent Bendix. Mr. Gross is in the front rank of Chicago portrait painters. His work is extremely fine. Claude Buck has engaged himself to paint Hubert Burnham's daughter. Mr. Buck's work is distinguished and distinctive. He has a smooth manner and an almost classical conception of composition. If one may suggest, there is sometimes just a little too much ivory allowed in his palette. It disturbs by its strangeness one's impression of his work, which, without this forced quality, is very beautiful.

Roy Collins will paint the daughter of Mrs. Moise Dreyfus and Antonin Sterba will paint a portrait of some member of the family of Harry B. Hurd of Evanston.

Word of a new competition has just reached us. An open architectural competition for the design of a group of memorials for Passavant hospital is announced by the board of directors. The purpose of the competition is to obtain a suitable design for a group of tablets to be placed on the wall of the lobby of the hospital. The winning design will be given $200, the second $100, and the third will receive $50. The competition closes June 25, so those who intend trying out for it should sharpen their imagination at once.

The architects who enter the competition or the sculptors who enter it are also asked to consider a console table or cabinet on which a floral offering could be placed and a very beautiful book as part of the design. This reads weirdly, but it is so written in the announcement. Architectural students are also invited to compete. Full specifications for the competition may be had by writing to Passavant Hospital, Development Committee, Tribune Tower, Chicago.

BEAUTY ANSWERS

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

MRS. F. E.: DRINKING MILK with your meals and between meals, taking an extra pat of butter, using cream generously on your cereals and desserts, and selecting creamed soups will help you to increase your weight. Other suggestions may be had for a stamped addressed envelope.

L. R.: FOR DEVELOPING THE lower part of the body this leg raising exercise is excellent. Stand with back up to chair, hands clasping chair. Bend back slightly; raise right knee as high as possible; repeat five times with right knee, then alternate with left.

WOMAN'S OR MISS' DRESS.

Here is a new jaunty sports frock with a yoked bodice that is distinctly new. It has an unusually flat hipline, while the skirt is cut to give the utmost freedom of movement. Yellow beige flat crêpe trimmed in a soft shade of brown with yellow beige dots is an interesting color combination.

The pattern, 3443, comes in sizes 16 and 18 years and 36, 38, 40, and 42 inches bust measure. Size 36 requires 3 yards of 39 inch material with ⅜ yard of 39 inch contrasting.

Puff Sleeves and Capes Cover Many a Homely Arm

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

Instead of the new clothes being hard on the woman of weight, they are turning out to be pretty much of a godsend. Take sleeves. Also, take the middle-aged droop of the upper arm flesh. Other sleeveless seasons left the nonsymmetrical arm fully exposed. Now a woman who is willing to resort to a bit of camouflage has only to adopt a little cape or other subtly contrived covering and the world need not know what is concealed thereunder.

For the painfully thin arm there are charming puff sleeves of elbow length; sleeves full and formally dressy that cover right down to the emaciated wrist bone. So, while one is thinning down or fattening up, according to the prescribed courses, these camouflages should be resorted to for beauty's sake.

That droop of the upper arm, which we have perhaps erroneously attached to middle age, can be firmed and trimmed into a neat arm profile without too much effort for any woman. You see it just as often on women of 30 as on women of 40, although the older one gets the more lifeless looking the flesh on the arm.

Around 30, then, the eye should be trained to watch the arm. It is very likely, indeed, that all futures, as all pasts, will have formal dining hours when arms are expected to come out in the open. Too, one accumulates more of the world's goods as one grows older, and with enough accumulation come more and more occasions for formal costuming.

You see, women have become chin-conscious and leg and ankle conscious, waist, hip and abdomen conscious. Now arm consciousness had better be added to the list. Though one prefers to be long sleeved, the advantages of a slender upper arm are still worth striving for. The very feel of a great fleshy wad of arm pressing against the body is not agreeable. If the feel is not, it is a safe guess that the appearance is less agreeable.

The good old fashioned school arm calisthenics will keep the arm shapely. Shooting arms overhead, out to the sides, out in front and swinging them back behind one will do, if practiced daily.

Bright Sayings of the Children

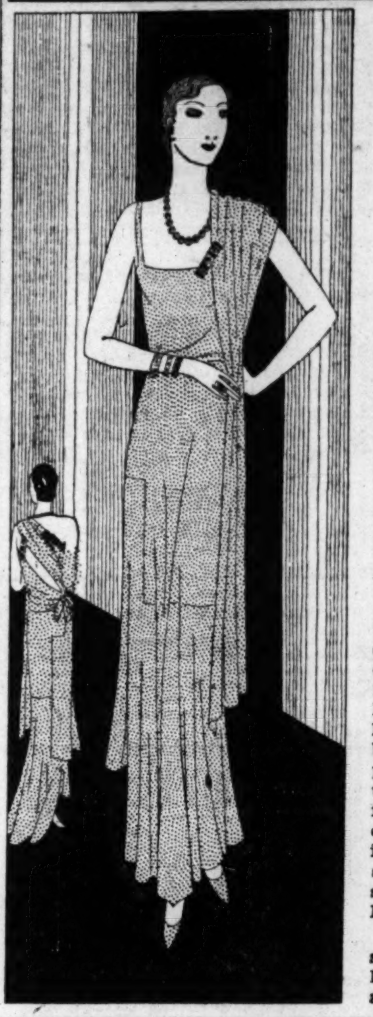
The Tribune will pay $5 for each childish saying printed. The story told must never have been printed in any magazine or paper. It is not possible to acknowledge or return unavailable contributions. Write on one side of the paper. Address bright sayings to Aunty Bee, The Tribune, Chicago.

Little Bobby dreaded nothing more than to take cod liver oil, and last night after being told to take his usual dose, he came to me, making this astonishing statement, "Mummy, the cod liver oil didn't taste so nasty this time."

"Really, dear, why was that?" I replied.

Whereupon Bobby explained, "Well, I couldn't find a spoon, so I took it on a fork." MRS. H. L.

Let the Back Turned to World be Graceful



BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special Correspondence.]—We seldom need to be told to put up a good front, but many a woman fails to consider the importance of turning a graceful back on the world. Back interest is something we should connect quite as much with fashion as with the banking business, because much of the distinction of smart women is due to it.

Last season it was considered sufficient to turn a considerable expanse of bare back to spectators, and this was hard on the ladies who didn't have 'em. This year the grandest Paris dressmakers are doing things to bodice backs so that they lend grace to any sort of anatomy. If you aren't indulging in anything new in the way of an evening gown, get yourself one of the short, transparent capes or triangular shawls that Paris finds so smart, and drape it across your decolletage. If you are going in for something brand new, try to achieve a draped backline.

The Madeleine evening gown illustrated will give you an idea of the smartest way to make the back of the evening frock interesting. This dress is made of plain black crêpe marocain. It is the beautiful way in which the long scarf is made part of the blouse back, and held to it by a diamond pin that gives this model its fine distinction. The long, loose scarf that falls to the knees in front may be draped across the shoulder at will, or it may be allowed to lengthen and slenderize the silhouette lines as sketched. A second diamond bar pin holds this scarf to the bodice front.

The skirt of this model is flared by slight circular movement at the right hip and from just above the knees all around.

Arrange to Be Alone with One Child After the New Baby Comes

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

Did you notice something special in one of yesterday's letters? It was that part in which the mother spoke of leaving her new baby with a friend and taking her little daughter out on a cozy jaunt, one of those twosome jaunts, and of her small daughter's delight in it.

This, I think, is one of the most delicate aspects of the change that the new baby makes in the relation between the older child and the mother or father.

"Two's company—three's none" is a crude way of putting it. But it is true—we all know it. Grown people know it consciously — children unconsciously.

Three or four people may take the greatest pleasure in each other's society. But there is a special kind of magic that springs up between two people that gets no chance when there are three. It isn't so much what happens—it's the feeling. But, I don't have to argue that point—you know it.

And it is this magic that often never springs up after the second baby comes. Babies are fascinating and baby chores are time absorbing. Interest necessarily becomes divided. The baby is always there.

And so, quite unintentionally, the cozy, chatty, twosy times don't happen. The moments when the first little girl or boy has the mother's or father's undivided attention don't come—or came rarely. The child misses them, and something happens as the result.

Don't misunderstand if your child directly or indirectly shows that the new baby has made a difference—shows by behavior difficulties or perhaps tagging you around.

Don't think of it as jealousy. That is an unworthy name for it. Just realize that to the little child his home is his universe—his parents, the sun and moon and stars shining on him. If they shine less he must feel it.

Don't let the new baby deprive your first little son or daughter of those invaluable, intimate times that are only possible between two people.

Georgia Grand Jury Ready to Forgive Gutzon Borglum

Decatur, Ga., June 5.—(AP)—The De Kalb county grand jury today recommended that the three indictments against Gutzon Borglum, original sculptor of the Stone mountain confederate monument, charging malicious mischief, be nolle prossed. The indictments were returned five years ago after the famous sculptor smashed several models of the monument. Two of the indictments were against Borglum and J. G. Tucker, former superintendent of the monument, and the third was against Borglum alone. No explanation was included in the grand jury's recommendation.

During the rush hour on the elevated I was carrying a handbag, packed to the limit with articles of clothing which I was taking to a poor family. As I neared my station I began making my way to the door. Suddenly the train gave a lurch and I was thrown to the floor. My bag burst open and out tumbled its contents. You can picture my plight on the floor trying to gather the scattered things from among the many feet. The laughter did not lessen my embarrassment as I hurried from the train with my ears burning. Puts Finger on Weak Spots in Makeup of Unpopular Girl

BY DORIS BLAKE.

Those girls who blame their dateless evenings on a dearth of young men who appreciate self-respecting girls should listen to Marion. She has some good advice for you, and, personally, I believe she has put her finger on the weak spots in the makeup of the unpopular girl.

Marion opens her sermon with a challenge: "Do those girls who think one must be gay to be popular," she writes, "honestly believe that the countless number of young women who occupy theater seats on beau nights and Sundays are less virtuous than they? If such were the case, the situation would be appalling, morals too terrible to contemplate. But how ridiculous to clutter up a mind with trashy thinking like that!

"Have these girls analyzed themselves to see if there were some deficiency in their own personality? That's where I think the trouble is. PERSONALITY. Have they any?

"Are they faultlessly dainty in every detail of their person and dress?

"Are they sympathetic?

"Do they evince a real interest in young men when the latter talk, or are they listening posts in name only?

"Do they respond as if alive?

"Every young man will ask a young woman for a goodnight kiss the first time out. The way she refuses is the test of her personality, and popularity, if I may add. Do not become furious and air a superior nature, for many times the chap does not know what is expected of him. Refuse sweetly but firmly and change the subject tactfully by telling the chap how much you enjoyed his company. If he's worth while he will go home refreshed that he has found a real girl.

"As a popular girl I know this to be true—and believe me, I would never be mistaken for a beauty contest winner."

We're heartily in accord with Marion in trying to reform the viewpoint of girls gone a bit "edgy" on the subject of their superior virtue. Once they correct the erroneous impression that they have a corner on all the morals, they'll be in a fairer way to popularity. Also, that it is not enough to be good. One must be all of that plus cheerful and merry to have one's companionship sought after.

DORIS BLAKE ANSWERS

Win Over Parents.

"Dear Miss Blake: The fellow I love asked to take me out, but I am kept in. What should I do?

"CHUBBY."

Ask your parents if you may invite him to your home. If he meets with their approval, they will let you accept his invitation.

They're Only Teasing.

"Dear Miss Blake: The boys I pal with kid me about the girl I love. Should I give her up? AL."

Not if you're fond of her. The chances are they merely delight in teasing you.

AUTOMOBILES FOR SALE.

WOULD YOU LIKE TO SAVE $200 IN THE PURCHASE OF A USED CAR?

THEN INVESTIGATE STUDEBAKER'S $200 REDUCTION SALE

Every car in our stock has been reduced $200, regardless of original cost. It is our aim to liquidate our entire used car stock by the end of June.

All the cars from our branches have been consolidated in our big showroom at 26TH AND MICHIGAN, representing the greatest display of used cars ever offered under one roof. You cannot afford to overlook this astounding clearance.

No matter what you buy you are protected by the famous Studebaker Used Car Pledge that guarantees 5 days' free driving trial.

WAS $575—NOW $375.

STUDEBAKER DICTATOR. 1927 five pass. Sedan. It was stored away for the last 9 months while the owner was away in Europe. The most exacting inspection you could make of this car would reveal to you that the handsome finish and the distinctive upholstery both appear new. The tires do not appear worn and the equipment includes 4 whl. brakes, snubbers, bumpers, spare tire, etc.

WAS $395—NOW $195.

PAIGE SEDAN. Recent model that was carefully checked over in our shop and adjusted wherever necessary. The appearance is unusually attractive and the equipment includes 4 whl. brakes, snubbers, trunk, new tires, etc.

WAS $595—NOW $395.

CHANDLER SEDAN. Late 7 pass., practically new tires, snubbers, heater, bumpers, etc. This car is as clean as a whistle and it's as comfortable as your home lounge. The motor is in wonderful condition.

WAS $395—NOW $195.

CADILLAC PHAETON. Absolute knockout in appearance. The finish is a smart olive green, and the equipment includes 4 wheel brakes, snubbers, bumpers, spare tire, driving light, etc.

WAS $445—NOW $245.

WAS $1,075—NOW $875.

CHRYSLER ROADSTER. 1930 model 66, only driven a few hundred miles. Has brand new tires, shock absorbers, bumpers, etc. The finish glistens like a new dollar and the nifty leather upholstery is very comfortable. Has a roomy rumble seat and an attractive khaki top.

WAS $845—NOW 645.

DODGE SEDAN. Senior six that was owned by a prominent manufacturer who used it only to have his children driven up to school and back every day. The result is the finish, upholstery and tires are in the original new condition and the motor runs very smoothly. Equipped with 4 whl. brakes, shock absorbers, bumpers, spare tire, etc.

WAS $545—NOW $345.

HUPMOBILE SEDAN. Was traded in at a favorable price, so we'll pass on the saving to you. The fine riding car is as smart as the new Paris styles. Any mechanic will vouch for the excellence of the motor. Equipped with 4 wheel brakes, shock absorbers, bumpers, spare tire, seat covers, etc.

WAS $785—NOW $585.

HUDSON SEDAN. Late 1928 that's the last word for sparkling performance and attractive appearance. Equipped with shock absorbers, bumpers, trunk, shutter front, etc. The finish actually glistens. Has a sweet running motor.

WAS $395—NOW $195.

STUDEBAKER SEDAN. Big Six with dandy tires and many valuable extras, including bumpers, driving light, snubbers, spare tire, etc. The motor was reconditioned by expert Studebaker mechanics and the mohair upholstery appears brand new. The finish has not a mar on it. Will not remain 24 hours at the low price we have marked it.

WAS $650—NOW $450.

LINCOLN SEDAN. This car was owned by a wealthy family, and given exceptional care. A demonstration and inspection of this car will prove this fact to you. It's a 7 pass. that runs like clockwork. Has new tires and was just renickeled and given a new paint job. Has a wealth of extras.

WAS $1,095—NOW $895.

STUDEBAKER DICTATOR. 1930 five pass. sedan. This Six was only used as a demonstrator and run a few thousand miles. It's positively brand new in every respect, and carries a new car service guarantee. Has hundreds of dollars' worth of extras.
